ELECTRICITY MAKES IT POSSIBLE...
Throughout the wide areas of Minnkotaland, there are several rural residents who find that electricity does more than just give light, run machines, heat homes and make life mor enjoyable and labor-free. Electricity enables many of these people to enjoy a spare-time hobby, like wood-working, or ceramics, or sewing, polishing rare stones and many others. One of the most interesting hobbies is that of a ham radio operator, such as Don Kalbrener, who lives on Big Turtle Lake near Bemidji, Minnesota.

Don has been a ham operator for 13 years with the call sign WTWG, and his equipment is quite extensive. It includes six transmitters, three receivers, a teletype machine, frequency standard, test equipment and two oscilliscopes.

Don received a special citation in routing traffic for the U. S. Coast Guard during a severe storm on Lake Superior in 1959. That same year he directed radio traffic for the Minnesota Forestry Department and was network control in fighting the severe fire in Badoura Bog, when 8,000 acres were aflame.
A ham operator like Don Kalbrener finds his hobby plays an important role in emergencies, to help "keep Minnesota green", and for servicemen in remote areas who have talked to their families via a phone patch. And, it's all made possible by dependable rural electricty as generated by Minnkota Power Cooperative, Inc., and distributed by the 12-owner-member distribution cooperatives of the system.

CITY ELECTION TIME IS HERE AGAIN, with voters going to the polls on Tuesday from noon to 8 p.m. From the standpoint of good government, and no personal reflection on the candidates, it is too bad that there are not more contests on the ballot. Only two races have developed, and only one of these involves the total voting public in the city.

The standpoint of good government mentioned above refers to the lack of interest in an election where there is no contest. When at least two candidates seek the same position, voters are more inclined to inform themselves about the candidates and personally select the one they consider most capable of serving them. "Ho hum" politics is a danger on any level of government.

In four of the five wards there is only one candidate running for election. In the second ward Arthur Christianson is seeking reelection and in the fourth ward Dr. A. E. Jacobson is seeking his second term. Both are incumbents and deserving of the support of the voters.

Two former councilmen have not filed for reelection, with Donald M. Olson of the third ward and Milton Relerson of the fifth ward retiring from the council. Seeking their vacated posts respectively are Ambrose Wysoski and Lowell Swenson. Both are unopposed on the ballot and no word has been received of an organized write-in opponent in either case. In each of these two wards the public is fortunate that well qualified men have sought the offices vacated.

In the only phase of the council election where the entire voting public has a voice in the decision, the alderman-at-large contest has developed into a four-way race. Candidates include incumbent Roy Jorgenson and aspirants John McGinley, L. H. Thorstenson and LeRoy Welch. Roy Lee, present chairman of the council, has not filed for reelection. Two alderman-at-large will be elected.

Much interest will be focused on the first ward race where incumbent Elmer Benson is opposed by Robert Carlson. In this fairly large ward, voting turnout is expected to be heavy in relation to the other wards where there is no contest.

In previous years this columnist has evaluated the election prospects and made predictions as to the outcome of the campaign. Selection does not necessarily constitute endorsement but gives the public an opportunity to compare their own estimates with these.

It is my opinion that the alderman-at-large race will result in the reelection of Roy Jorgenson and the election of John McGinley. Jorgenson will like poll the largest number of votes as an incumbent with McGinley a surprisingly close second. Thorstenson, a former city clerk, will poll less than 150 votes for third place with Welch finishing last in the voting.

In the first ward, the outcome of the election will be much closer. Both candidates are campaign veterans and the smaller number of voters in a single ward will make each vote increasingly important. On the basis of a vigorous and intense campaign conducted by Carlson, I predict an upset of incumbent Benson by less than 25 votes.

Largest number of votes will likely be given to Mayor Orin Green who is unopposed in his bid for reelection. Mrs. Morris Odegaard will receive slightly fewer votes in her unopposed quest of the city treasurer position.

POINT OF VIEW—Two men were working on a construction job. One man was asked what he was doing and he answered, "I am making $25 a day." The second man replied, "I am building a cathedral." Half an hour later the second man was fired. He was supposed to be building a delicatessen.

In these days of inflation, about the only thing you can get for a dime is an argument from your youngsters that it ought to be a quarter.

Ladies, how lucky you are. In 1670 the English Parliament passed the following act: "All women of whatever age, rank, profession or degree, whether virgin, maid or widow, that shall, from the passing of this act, impose upon or betray into matrimony any of His Majesty's male subjects by scents, paint, cosmetics, washes, artificial teeth, false hair, Spanish wool, iron stays, hoops, highheel shoes, bolstered hips, or other such padding, shall incur the penalty of the laws now in force against witchcraft, sorcery, and such like misdeameanors, and the marriage, upon conviction, shall stand null and void." Were those the "good auld dayes?"

Legion Commander Asks Flag Display On Veterans Day

Orville Hanson States Patriotic Citizenry Is Test of U.S. Strength

A plea to have an American flag flying at every home and business or industrial firm in Thief River Falls on Veterans Day, November 11, was voiced today by Commander Orville M. Hanson of Ecklund-Holmstrom Post 117 of the American Legion in Thief River Falls.

The Local Legion Leader explained that the eyes of the world and particularly those of the forces of world communism, are constantly watching for any signs of internal weakness which might forecast the downfall of the United States.

"Here in Thief River Falls, we can do our share toward the discouragement of any such thoughts about a weak, apathetic, dispirited American citizenry by flying the star-spangled banner on this patriotic holiday," Commander Hanson declared.

"With the American flag displayed in front of every home and business address we can make this year's observance of Veterans Day —November 11— and unforgetable demonstration of Americanism, and at the same time show our communities measure of appreciation for all who answered our country's call to arms for the preservation of our priceless heritage."

He also reminded, "No American flag is ever obsolete, even if it may bear fewer than 50 stars in the field of blue. Regardless of its age, as long as it is in good condition, the flag may and should be displayed on all appropriate occasions."

He further urged home owners who do not have a flag to obtain one, not only for display on Veterans day but also on all patriotic holidays and other appropriate occasions.

90 Enrolled in Adult Bible Study At Zion Church

Adult Bible study program with 90 enrolled and others on a waiting list was scheduled to begin Wednesday at Zion Lutheran church. Beginning at 8 p.m. each Wednesday, the one-hour classes will continue through December and a new semester will begin in January, for which adult members may now enroll.

Teachers in the project will be seven adult members of the church who have completed a two-year Bible study and teacher training program led by Rev. Leland Steen, Zion pastor.

The plan has two unique features, Rev. Steen said. First, it has a series of 40 paintings which communicate basic Christian concepts. The paintings divide the Bible into 40 major categories. When the two-year course is completed, the student has a pictoral over-view of the major teachings of the Old and New Testaments.

The second feature is the teacher training program which has just been completed. Seven members of the church (and two members of First Lutheran church, Goodridge) have been given a vigorous course to train them to teach the adult Bible classes. They attended classes for 2½ hours each week for two academic years and were given homework assignments which required an average of one hour per day.

They were required to take written examinations and along with the systematic survey of the Scriptures were drilled in the techniques of teaching. Those who have completed the teacher training course are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ose, Mrs. Gordon Relerson, Mrs. Leland Steen, Mrs. Ernest Thorsgard, Clifford Vigness, Lester Vigness, (Mrs. Ernest Swanson and Mrs. Erling Lundeen of Goodridge).

The course is called the Bethel Series Bible study, deriving its name from Bethel Lutheran church at Madison, Wis., where it was developed by Rev. Harley Swiggum.

Goodridge Jr. Class Changes Date of Play

Directing the production is Mrs. Sonstelie.

Rep. Skaar Has Interim Meetings Held in St. Paul

Andrew Skaar of rural Thief River Falls, state representative from the 67th District, attended interim committee meetings of the highway and appropriations committees in St. Paul last Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The highway interim committee discussed vehicle inspection and more stringent license examination proposed by the highway department as possible means to curb the rising toll of traffic fatalities in the state.

Considerable time was spent by the education sub-committee of the House appropriations committee in meeting with the state junior college board. The board reported on its organizational progress and its attempts to secure an executive secretary.

Since the junior college board is dependent upon the legislature for funds, meetings with the education sub-committee of appropriations during the interim will prevent explanatory delays of situations during the regular session. The board will visit all of the state's junior colleges before January 1 and meet again with the sub-committee after that time.

Membership Meet Slated by C of C

Plans are being made for a membership participation meeting of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce to be held Tuesday, November 19, at 6:30 p. m. in the Elks club rooms. All members are encouraged to attend and to express their viewpoints on local, state and national matters.

"We must set our eyes on the future—1964 and beyond," states Dick Hamilton, executive secretary for the local Chamber. "Our Chamber of Commerce exists to provide an avenue for the business and professional community to do what could not be done alone. Consequently, now is the time to make concrete plans for areas where the chamber must concentrate its efforts for next year."

Further details on the program for the meeting will be announced in later editions of the Times.

Red Lake County Retires SB Acres

Due to an error in the Monday edition of the Times, the acreage of soil bank land coming out of the soil bank program in Red Lake county was omitted. The Red Lake county ASCS office has announced that this acreage will be 7,890 acres in 1963—equal to approximately 16 per cent of the total acreage in the county.

The Pennington county board at its November session Tuesday approved final payments on six highway projects carried out during the past two years at a total cost of $356,970.08. The projects include the new Kratka bridge, bituminous treatment on the Highlanding road and on SAR 3 west of the airport road and county-wide graveling work, in addition to some smaller jobs.

The board was informed that work has been completed on SAR 3 east from the airport road to Highway 59, and that Oscar Sohenkey expects to complete work this week on the east end of SAR 3. Favorable fall weather has made possible completion of the projects far ahead of schedule.

County Engineer Joseph Seidel was authorized to make plans for the improvement in 1964 or 1965 of the Gully road, Ness SAR 27, for a distance of five miles south of Red Lake river.

The board approved a levy of $56,850 or 68.38 mills for non-resident high school tuition for districts not maintaining high schools. The levy last year was 53.10 mills.

The board studied reports of the state public examiner on the county records, Oakland Park nursing home, Sunnyrest sanatorium and the Red Lake drainage and conservancy district.

Carole Ostby Is Bride Of Wallace Tiegland

Miss Carole Bernice Ostby, Gatzke, became the bride of Wallace Leroy Tiegland of Grygla at United Lutheran Church of Gatzke on October 19 at an 8 o'clock evening wedding. Vows were prompted by Rev. Andrew Kubik, who used the double-ring ceremony.

Miss Ostby is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thorfin Ostby of Gatzke, while the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Tiegland of Grygla.

Floor baskets of white gladioli, mums, and pompons in fall hues, and lighted tapers in candelabra, provided the altar setting. Approximately 300 guests were in attendance. Lohengrin's Wedding March was played on the organ as the processional by Miss Gloria Tiegland, sister of the groom, of Minneapolis. Other traditional music also was played, and Jerome [illegible] of Roseau, friend of the couple, as soloist, sang "O Promise Me," "Together Life's Pathway We Tread," and "The Wedding Prayer," also to the organ accompaniment of Miss Gloria Tiegland.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was in a floor-length gown of nylon net, with [illegible] trim, long, tapered sleeves, sweetheart neckline trimmed with sequins, and a lace skirt with [illegible] flounce gathered to points at the sides. Her shoulder-length veil was held in place by a crown of [illegible] pearls and sequins. She carried a bridal bouquet of white and feathered mums, with touches of bronze, arranged in a cascade. Her jewelry was a pearl necklace, gift of the groom. Mrs. Clayton Ostby, Minneapolis, was her personal attendant.

Mrs. Orlin Ostby, Minneapolis, sister-in-law of the bride, served as matron of honor, and Carol Tiegland, sister of the groom, and Patricia Ostby, cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids. They wore dresses of autumn acetate and satin brocade, with sheath skirts and overskirts fastened with front bows, and fashioned in street length. Their shoes and gloves matched their dresses. They carried cascades of bronze feathered mums and lemon leaves and wore pearl necklaces, a gift of the bride. Vicki Anderson of East Grand Forks, a second cousin of the bride, was dressed as a miniature bride. Nancy Smeby of Grygla, a niece of the groom, was the flower girl. Her attire was a sheath of autumn gold brocade, styled like those of the bridesmaids, with shoes and gloves to match. The miniature bride carried a bouquet like that carried by the bride, but in miniature, and the flower girl's bouquet was a miniature of the bouquets of the other attendants. They also wore pearls, gifts of the bride. Paul Smeby, nephew of the groom, carried the rings. His suit was dark, like those of the groom and groomsmen.

Gene Tiegland, Minneapolis, a brother of the groom, served as his best man. Orlin Ostby, brother of the bride, Minneapolis, and Ronald Tiegland, Grand Forks, N. D., cousin of the groom, were groomsmen. They wore black tuxedos, as did the groom. Ushers were Clayton Ostby, Minneapolis, uncle of the bride, and John Smeby, Grygla, the groom's brother-in-law.

The bride's mother wore a dark green two-piece suit dress with accessories to match, and the groom's mother wore blue jersey with matching accessories. Their corsages were tangerine roses and yellow carnations.

The reception given in the church parlors by the parents of the bride, was attended by 300 guests, from Minneapolis, Lakota, Osnabrok, Fairdale, Wahpeton and Grand Forks, and Edinburg, and Fargo, N. D.; Spokane, Wash.; Waukegan and Chicago, Ill.; and many area towns. Hostesses were Mrs. John Loven and Mrs. Lyle Blahauvietz.

The four-tiered bridal cake, designed as a cloverleaf, was baked and decorated by Mrs. Juel Aune, topped with a miniature bride and groom, and trimmed with gold flowers and flanked on the bridal table by tapers, white bells and gold mums. The other tables were centered by autumn flowers.

Mrs. Raymond Tollefson, Waukegan, Ill., cousin of the groom, and Mrs. Ray Eastby, Minneapolis, the bride's godmother, cut the wedding cake. Punch was served by Mrs. Jesse Samdahl of Milton, N. D., aunt of the bride, and Sherryl Ostby, Minneapolis, the bride's cousin. Joleen Samdahl of Milton, N. D., and Arlys Ostby of Minneapolis, also cousins of the bride, served the groom's cake. Mrs. Clarence Lian of Middle River and Mrs. Adolph Erickson of Grygla, the bride's godmother and aunt, respectively, poured. Head waitresses were Mrs. Alton Sparby and Mrs. Wallace Sparby, Gatzke. Assisting were Donna Carlson of Thief River Falls, Jaylene Aune and Muriel Lunsetter of Gatzke. The gift table was attended by Julie Halme of Middle River, Mavis Aune, Gatzke; and Mrs. Larry Dahl, Middle River. Mrs. Edward Jagol, Crookston, presided at the guest book.

The bride graduated from Middle River high school in 1962, and from the Area Vocational School of this city this year. The groom served with the U. S. Army at Fort Lewis, Wash., for three years and is a licensed plumber employed by L. J. Theisen at Waukegan, Ill.

For their wedding trip to Bemidji, the bride chose a three-piece suit of cranberry red, with matching bronze carnation corsage. They will be at home at Waukegan.

Father Keough Patnode performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli and fall flowers.

The bride, escorted to the altar on the arm of her brother, Lawrence Kiesow, was attired in a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over tulle, net and satin. The fitted bodice featured an open-lace-neckline and long sleeves terminating in points over her hands. The full skirt fell from a basque waistline and was caught at the hemline by tiny lace rosettes. Her veil of bridal illusion, in waist length, was caught to a crown of sequins and seed pearls. Her jewelry consisted of a pearl necklace, a gift of the groom. She carried a cascade bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Attendants to the bride were her sister, Mrs. Lawrence Neuschwander of Grygla, as matron of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. Robert Prestebak of Goodridge, friend of the couple, and Miss Paulette Mutnansky of Goodridge, niece of the bride. They wore identical street-length dresses of mint green brocaded taffeta, featuring scalloped necklines and sleeves. A tiny bow accented the sleeves and waistline. Sequined veils covered their matching headbands. Their jeweled earrings were gifts of the bride. To complete their outfits, they wore white gloves and shoes. Their identical colonial bouquets were formed of orange and yellow mums.

Flower girls were Susan Neuschwander, niece of the couple, and Mary Mutnansky, niece of the bride. They wore dresses identical to those of the bridesmaids and carried baskets of orange roses and yellow mums.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Lawrence Neuschwander of Grygla. Groomsmen were Robert Prestebak of Goodridge, and Charles Kiesow, Goodridge, brother of the bride. The attire of the men of the party was dark business suits and white carnation boutonnieres.

Mrs. Kiesow, mother of the bride, chose a dress of fall blue with a matching jacket and black accessories. Mrs. Neuschwander wore a gray dress with blue accents and black accessories. They each wore a corsage of red roses and white mums.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors. It was given by the bride's parents for about 150 guests. SKINNING of mink, fox and raccoon will be made easier at Evans Seed & Produce in Thief River Falls with the addition of the machine pictured above. Shown in use on a raccoon, the machine features clamps which hold part of the hide while electrically-powered equipment raises the carcass to strip off the hide. Trapping season opened Saturday and a number of fur-bearing animals have already been brought into the Evans fur buying station.

FLESHING machines for mink and racoon were recently added to equipment at Evans Seed & Produce in Thief River Falls. "Bud" Evans is shown above at the mink fleshing machine while the similar device for racoon is shown in the foreground. Skins are stretched over the cone-shaped cylinders with the fur inside and an electrically-operated vibrating knife is drawn along the skin to remove excess fat and flesh. While the equipment will be used basically in the Evans fur-buying business, some commercial work may also be done.

Firearms Deer Hunt Will Open Saturday

Minnesota's firearms deer season opens at sunrise Saturday, Nov. 9, when an estimated 250,000 red and orange clad hunters will be taking to the woods for venison on the hoof.

Deer hunters are reminded that no license to take deer with a firearm may be issued after the first day of the regular firearms season.

One area in the west-central part of the state will be closed to all deer hunting during the November firearms season but will be re-opening to bow hunting for the late archery season which runs from November 30 through December 2.

The firearms season will run from one to nine days in the various zones. Some zones are open to all legal firearms while others are limited to shotguns with single slugs.

Shooting hours are sunrise to sunset each day for both firearms hunters and archers.

Any person doing any kind of hunting or trapping in an open firearms deer hunting zone during the season must be clothed in either red or orange. Tests have shown blaze orange to be the most easily seen color under actual hunting conditions and is recommended by firearms safety specialists.

Hunters are also reminded to carry a compass, a map, waterproof matches and to follow the hunting safety rules.

The largest number of hunters will be found in the 9 day zone in the northern and northeastern parts of the state. This area has consistently produced the most deer.

Hunters are reminded to read their regulations carefully so as to become familiar with season length and with the boundaries of the separate hunting zones.

Drotts Attends FCIC Meet; Oats Added To List

Details of the newly-revised U. S. Department of Agriculture Federal Crop Insurance program were the main topics of discussion at the two day state meeting for FCIC personnel held last week in St. Paul, according to David Drotts, local representative who attended the session.

A simplified, more uniform system of loss adjustment will be in effect for 1964 which is expected to result in much faster claim service. In addition to wheat, flax and barley now insured in Pennington county, oats will be insured for the first time in 1964.

It was reported at the meeting that claims for crop losses this year are expected to exceed $2,225,000 in Minnesota.

Potato Growers May Charter Bus For Denver Meet

Red River Valley Potato Growers association will charter a bus for attendance at the National Potato Council annual meeting November 18 and 19 at Denver, Colo., if a sufficient number of valley growers are interested in attending. The announcement was made by James Hoesley, president of the association.

Any potato grower interested in attending the National Potato council meeting and going by chartered bus must contact the association office at East Grand Forks not later than November 12. This is the first time the national meeting has been held west of Chicago, Hoesley said.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Hunting Nonsense

The pheasant hunting season seems to be providing more stories than pheasants. The funniest story of all is that there was supposed to be a twenty-five per cent increase in the number of birds!

In conversation with a successful pheasant hunter, I complained that the pheasants would not "hold" for the dogs. This hunter remarked that he used a whistle that produced a screech-like sound, like a hawk. He added that when the running pheasants heard this screech, and believing that a hawk was in the vicinity, they would be paralyzed with fright and would "freeze". The dogs could then make a satisfactory point. I paid the hunter one dollar for the idea.

I repeated this whistle stunt idea to another hunter, and he agreed that it had merit, but he said that his group had a better system. Said this hunter, "You know we have Don in our party, and you know what a poor shot he is. Well, we place Don in one corner of the field, and we deploy and take positions all over the field. Then we yell 'Where's Don?', and when he answers, 'Here I am', the pheasants, knowing that's the safest place in the field, rush in that direction. We usually make a killing, and it works on all the pheasants except those that are deaf and dumb and blind, and L. L. shoots those."

And who is this holier-than-thou hunter who has been making disparaging remarks about hunters who shoot pheasants on the ground and boasts about the "pheasants that I shoot are all in the air". This hunter conveniently forgot to add that he shoots pheasants while they are roosting in trees. In the air, he says.

Paul's Doing All Right

Paul Klungness, Prowler letterman in football, basketball, baseball, and track the past couple of years, and, incidentally, the last four-letterman the local school will have, is doing all right with the Dartmouth freshman football squad.

Paul, who was given a scholarship at the Hanover, N. H. school, is playing at right halfback on the Dartmouth frosh. In the "Big Green's" 30 to 0 win over the Holy Cross frosh, Paul scored a couple of touchdowns. And in a 27 to 20 loss to the Harvard freshman team, Paul, playing at safety, returned a kick seventy yards for a touchdown.

Harvard had hoped to get Paul to attend the Cambridge, Mass. school. Tony Lynch, the famed trackman from International Falls who is attending Harvard, told Rod Max, the former Prowler track coach who is now at the Falls, that Harvard really wanted Paul. The Crimson wasn't so anxious to have Paul for his football ability as it was for his talents as a trackman. But I imagine that Paul is happier at Dartmouth, and I hope that he ramins injury-free during his college career.

I Didn't Believe It Either

The authorities closed the Beltrami Island Forest to all traffic on October 18, claiming that the hazard of fire was too great to allow the partridge hunters or the bow-and-arrow hunters to traipse through the woods. And this ban was perhaps logical enough.

But on Tuesday, with the comment that the cool nights and the morning dew had reduced the fire hazards, the Forest was open to traffic. It's only coincidental that the 1963 deer hunting season opens on Saturday, and that the Beltrami Island Forest contains some of the state's prime hunting area. But why not say that the Forest was being opened because of the deer hunting season? Why engage in semantics and claim that the "morning dew" justifies the opening of the Forest.

Making a Recovery

The Fort Frances Royals, after taking a pair of lop-sided beatings from the Brand Wheat Kings in their first two games as a member of the Manitoba Junior Hockey league, have made a remarkable recovery.

The Royals, on Saturday and Sunday, defeated the St. Boniface Canadiens, 7-6 and 7-5, winning their sixth and seventh game in a row. The Royals are in second place in the standings of the six-team league, trailing the unbeaten Brandon club by two games.

And leading this surge of the Fort Frances club is a former International Falls high school star, Bob O'Leary. The commentary on the weekend's games, played at the Fort, says that "O'Leary, high-scoring star of last year, arrived from Waterloo, Iowa, after the Royals figured they had traded him to the Detroit Redwings for several Flin Flon players. Cocky, but cool as ever, he completely took charge of the scoring pace in the first game with his opportunistic sniping—but he also spent 2 minutes in the penalty box before the series ended."

Now if the Forts only had Keith (Huffer) Christiansen in their line-up they would be able to give the high-flying Brandon club a test. Christiansen is attending Minnesota in Duluth.

FU Oil Company Receives Refund

$18,900 Returned from Purchases Made in 1955

Farmers Union Oil company in Thief River Falls this week received a cash payment of $18,900 as its patronage refund from Farmers Union Central Exchange, according to Clarence Carlson, local manager. The payment reflects retiring of stock for part of 1954 and all of 1955. It is based on purchases of farm supplies from the Central exchange during that period.

Total distribution made by Central from Lake Michigan to the Pacific coast totals $7,103,373 for 799 local cooperatives. Locally the Farmers Union Oil company has retired $25,249 worth of its own patron's refund stock for cash during the past year. Total local cash retirements have not totaled $368,457, Carlson added.

"This money helps everyone through local purchase of goods and services, payment of taxes and furnishing of employment," he said. "It also bolsters our ability to give efficient service and distribute the most modern products."

Social Security Benefits Cited

Representative To Be In City November 5th

According to the Social Security administration, some persons who are over 62 years of age and still working may be losing out on social security benefit payments.

Under the social security law, a person past retirement age can earn as much as $1,200 in a calendar year and receive payments. Persons who earn over $1,200 in a year may be paid partial payments.

The law provides that a person can have earnings of $1,200 to $1,700. If the annual earnings are more than $1,700 the amount payable would be smaller.

If you are 62 years of age or older and your earnings are less than $3,048 yearly, get in touch with your local social security office about your eligibility for benefits.

A representative of the Grand Forks district office of the Social Security administration will be in Thief River Falls at the city auditorium on ovember 5 at 9 a. m. Individuals who have questions regarding social security or who wish to file claims may contact him on that date.

Warning on Gifts to Highway Staff

The Minnesota Highway Department has sent out its annual reminder to contractors and suppliers regarding acceptance of git by department employees.

The reminder is sent out before present gifts to customers and business associates during the holiday season.

Highway department regulations prohibit employees from accepting gifts from any person, supplier or contractor doing business with the department. This avoids any employee conflict of interest, which in turn avoids the possibility of any suspicion or criticism falling on the department and its employees.

Darkness Doubles Traffic Troubles

State Safety Director Gives Tips to Motorists

Darkness doubles traffic troubles says Minnesota highway department Safety Director Garnet E. Hall.

"Days are noticeably shorter now," he said. "This means more and more driving will be done during hours of dusk and darkness. It is imperative that all vehicles have lighting systems in dependable working order."

Failure to maintain lights in proper condition may be unintentional, but the danger is just as great as if the violation were deliberate.

Failure to dim lights or failure to signal in advance of turning movements is equally hazardous, Hall said. "The law requires every motor vehicle on public roads and headlights in use during hours of darkness."

"Both upper and lower beams streets to have properly-functioning should be properly aimed," the safety spokesman added. "At no time should parking lights be used as driving lights. If a rear light or directional signal is found to be faulty, a replacement should be made at once. And even when all lights are in satisfactory order, they should be kept clean. A cloth can be used to wipe off grime, and a brush can be used to wipe off accumulated snow.

"Arm pressure of windshield wipers should be sufficient to press the blades firmly against the glass area so it is cleared without streaking."

"Dead blades dried out by summer sun should be replaced with live-rubber blades to do an effective job of windshiled-clearing," he commented. "Live rubber and adequate arm pressure eliminate dangerous streaking.

"Every car should also have a snow-and-ice scraper and a long-handled brush to clear windshield and windows of snow, sleet and ice," Hall concluded.

Highway Dept. Gives Winter Travel Data

With winter waiting around the corner, a special unit of the Minnesota highway department is ready to carry out one of the department's important functions—keeping the public informed on road conditions.

The road information section carries out one of the most far reaching operations of the department, in gathering and transmitting information to the public on road conditions during the winter months. It involves hundreds of men and most of the state's news media. Highway officials consider it one of the department's most vital public services.

The average motorist who turns on a radio or telephones the department for road condition information is probably unaware of the vast network which brings him this information, or that during severe weather conditions, many department employees may have been called out of bed in the middle of the night to bring it to him.

The heart of the operation is the department's road information section in the St. Paul central offices, and the four men that work there. During winter four of the busiest phones in the state are on the desks of these men. During a snow storm last year these phones literally rang constantly for eight hours and tied up the Capitol switchboard. All callers wanted information on road conditions in various localities throughout the state.

These men, who have a combinel total of 99 years service with the section, are on 24-hour call during the winter and other times of emergency. It isn't unusual for any of them to be awakened in the middle of the night by a phone call from a department employee in one of the districts or even the weather bureau, concerning a change in weather affecting driving conditions. This information they then communicate to news media.

Data on road conditions comes from highway offices in every corner of the state. Five employees, living in different parts of each of the outstate districts, are assigned to 24 hour on-call duty to report icy or blizzard conditions affecting the roads. Also during severe weather 360 Highway Patrolmen report road conditions by radio to their seven district offices, which in turn report the information to the central office.

The road information section first transmits the information over a closed circuit teletype, to which there are 28 subscribers. The U. S. Weather Bureau is the only other transmitter on the circuit. Other subscribers can only receive. The department, of course, receives valuable information from the weather bureau via the teletype. Only the highway department relates weather to road conditions.

Among those receiving via the closed circuit teletype are the Associated Press and the United Press International, which relay the information to radio and newspapers throughout the state.

This year the operation will become more efficient with the use of a new intra-departmental teletype system. Information will go out over the system instead of phones, to the eight outstate construction district offices and the 16 maintenance area offices, who will then have the most current statewide road condition information to give the public.

The road information section has a close relationship with the weather bureau and, according to department officials, the department's operation depends to a great degree on cooperation from the bureau.

The road information section operates year around, reporting rain and storms and floods as they relate to highways, but winter is by far their busiest season. Its unofficial motto is a simple: "roads and weather go together."

"Today is your day and mine, the only day we have, the day in which we play our part. What our part may signify in the great whole we may not understand; but we are here to play it, and now is our time. This we know: it is a part of action, not of whining. It is a part of love, not cynicism. It is for us to express love in terms of human helpfulness."

Britain Elects

Britain is getting a new head of government today. Sir Alec Douglas-Home (pronounced Hume) is the candidate for the high office. He is seeking election to the House of Commons in a Scotch highland district. If he is elected, and the election is today, he is sure to succeed Harold Macmillan as Prime Minist er. While he has opposition, his election is considered a certainty.

So Britain will get a new government with little fuss or fury. The conservatives have a safe majority in Commons and Home has been selected by them as their leader. Within twelve months there will be a national electoin and that is likely to be a more rugged battle.

But there are some things about the British system of government that we like. The king—now the queen—represents the administrative branch of government, law enforcement, and is not involved in controversial matters. The Prime Minister is the real head of the government, elected by the members of the House of Commons, the governing body. By this arrangement the Prime Minister always has a majority support in the House. If he loses that support then he is no longer the Prime Minister.

As we are organized under our form of government it is not unusual to have a President, who is a combination of King and Prime Minister, trying to do a good job as the head of overnment without majority support in Congress, and, unfortunately, under such circumstances we too often have the majoriy in Congress trying to make the President look foolish.

During his eight years in office President Eisenhower had the majority support in Congress only two years, but fortunately Ike was personally popular and was respected by both Republicans and Democrats.

We think the British system is better than ours mainly because it assures a steadier course of action by the law making body and the nation's leader in the policy-making field. Our governmental structure could stand a little overhauling.

May We Now Have The Facts?

The downfall of the Diem regime in South Vietnam apparently restores power to the Buddhist majority. Just what the revolution means beyond that fact is still uncertain. It may be assumed that we now will get a better idea of what has been happening there in recent years. An Associated Press dispatch from Saigon states that censorship on news reports have been eased and that "Censors permitted transmission of a backlog of news stories, some long delayed."

Maybe we then will find out why our country has assumed the sole responsibility for the defense of this Southeast Asian area. If the war with the Chinese is going to continue then the defense of the areas should be turned over to all of the nations that have an interest in holding the line against Communism. We probably should do our share but we can see no good reason for assuming the sole responsibility.

Keep It Clean

John Weber of the Murray County Herald believes it is proper for candidates for the Republican nomination for President to express their views on controversial issues, but he points out that they are not building up the strength of their party when they lambast each other. He is especially critical of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, stating:

> "Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York is apparently so intent on wresting the Republican presidential nomination from Sen. Barry Goldwater that he would virtually eliminate the Arizonas's election chances if nominated. The best interests of GOP success in 1964 would seem to indicate that Rockefeller should slow down a bit.
> "In a recent address he stated that Goldwater's international views spell "disaster" for the American people. He flatly charged that Goldwater would have this country withdraw from the United Nations, oppose the activities of the World Bank and end economic assistance to all foreign nations."

The Herald editor thinks it would be fine for Rockefeller to give us his views on the United Nations, the World Bank, foreign aid and other matters of great public concern. He concludes:

> "The Herald feels that it is healthy for presidential aspirants to take to the rostrum and let their feelings and ideals be known. By so doing the convention delegates will be far more well qualified to make a choice. As the saying goes, they will be fortified with an insight into the character of their candidates and not be forced to buy "a pig in a poke."
> "But we do not feel that one candidate is qualified to outline the principles and ideals of his opponent. We would strongly suggest that Gov. Rockefeller restrict his comments to descriptions of his own attitude on these matters—and kindly permit Sen. Goldwater to do the same."

Bloody October

October was the bloodiest month of record on Minnesota's highways. The traffic toll was 102 persons killed. These 102 persons lost their lives in 81 accidents. Thirty-three died in 12 accidents, the worst multiple death toll of the year. A three-car collision claimed five lives. A car-truck crash took four.

The report we read, written by Falsum Russell in the St. Paul Pioneer Press did not account for the number injured or the property damage. Such details will come later. In some instances death may have been more merciful than living.

The cost, in terms of dollars, will be distributed over all who drive. They make their contributions in the form of insurance premiums.

Some of these accidents probably were unavoidable. We must assume however that most of them were avoidable, which raises reasonable questions as to why they were not avoided. Do we need stricter regulations on driving and speeds? Do we need more thorough checks on driver qualifications? Do we need stricter law enforcement? Are our courts partly to blame?

We don't know the answer either.

The Space Race

President Kennedy stated at a news conference last week that he still favors the hurry-up program of putting a man on the moon, regardless of what Khruschev says. We are not concerned much about what Mr. Khrushchev says either, but based on the record, how much of what Prescident Kennedy tells us can we believe? It is quite common for him to reverse himself today as to what he said yesterday.

As for this proposed spectacular that he is so enthusiastic about, there is enough doubt among informed people as to the value of the moon shot to justify a slow-down in the space program and a substantial cut in the appropriations for such purposes. We like the following observations on this question by the Wall Street Journal:

> "The U.S. should not, in our opinion, speed up or slow down its space activities merely according to Khrushchev's apparent moods. That is exactly what has generated the present confusion; the Government would have been better off to worry less about the Russians and more about its own objectives. If the program needs revamping now, it should be on grounds of science and economy.
> "At any rate, a reappraisal seems more than ever in order. The nation might gain greater rewards were it to settle for a slower, but steady, pace in space, a program more manageable in terms of cost and effort. Should that emerge from the current uncertainty, Khrushchev may have performed a service by suggesting the elusive nature of this so-called race."

Passing the Pork

By elimination of "pork barrel" spending Congress could cut taxes and also balance the budget. As John Ainley points out in the Bemidji Pioneer, pork barrel expenditures are appropriations for unnecessary projects to add to the political prestige of the members of Congress in their own states or districts.

The pork barrel spenders buy support for their particular project by pledging their support for hundreds of other projects of doubtful value. Ainley points out that:

> "Many attempts have been made to do something about this. For instance, a long list of Presidents have asked Congress for the right of the item veto. This would permit a President to knock out specific parts of an appropriations bill without jettisoning the whole. But this attempt, like others, has been a 100 per cent dud. The pork barrel remains, and grows more expensive."

Here in Minnesota the governor has been given the item veto power, and that power has reduced a great deal the pork barrel spending in our state. Quoting from a recent issue of Life magazine, presenting a carefully documented article on the problem, the wasteful spending authorized by the 87th Congress was estimated at $8.2 billion. And according to this article:

> "Much of this extra spending was pork. The term 'pork barrel' may ring familiarly in American ears, but few—even congressmen who should know—are aware how monstrously the thing has grown in our time. It is fat beyond belief. It is replete with old devices perfected and news ones invented. It encompasses any commitment to tap the U. S. Treasury for political advantage first and the public welfare second, and costs us billions every year."

The Library Corner

BY Virginia Gjernes

"National Book Week" has rolled 'round again and youngsters will be reminded of the fun and fancy, not to mention the plain unadulterated truth, found between bindings. Many will form new friendships this year, especially those little ones who have just begun to read. There are those older ones who will make an effort to renew old acquaintances before reaching out a hand to grasp a colorful volume in order to meet new book-people and visit new book-countries and take long book-trips.

The vivid imaginations of children are heightened and brightened tenfold when they form long-lasting friendships with words. For no matter which turn they make on their own particular highways of life, they'll never be lonely for friends, they will never be "shut-ins" or stay-at-homes, they will never be narrow in their thinking, they will never be uneducated, for their's will be the pleasures, both hidden and obvious, that are available for the taking when they reach for a book on a shelf. "National Book Week" is just another week to some, but to others it is the "Open Seseme" to a new and brighter way of life.

The "Friends of the Library" are all the name implies..but they are more, too..they are "friends of the people", for their efforts, collectively and individually, they bring to the public's eye the wonders and enchantments of the written word by bringinging parts of the library to them, in the form of displays, instead of waiting for them to come to the library.

This year Union State bank, Northern State bank and First Federal Savings and Loan association have turned their window space over to the "Friends" ro entice those who pass by. Those who see the display must not be "penny wise and pound foolish"!

Remember the windows contain only nuggets of the gold stored at your Carnegie Public Library. When you enter the storehouse and begin searching the shelves, you will realize the goldmine is fed by a never ending vein..words and ideas from the great and the near great, from the gifted and the brilliant, words to live by, to grow by and to enliven and to enrich..words to make you wealthy of mind.

Children attending Thief River Falls schools have been invited to attend the story-telling sessions at their library during "Book Week". Miss Bertha Hastad will guide them through the wonderful land of Imagination . . by telling them fairy-tales, the old favorites, forever new, which each generation finds as engrossing as did the generation before.

"National Book Week" is the one week of the year set aside by educators and librarians, and interested individuals, to remind adults of the part books play in the ever-changing world and to encourage adults to encourage children to read for no matter what their interest in life might be, you can bet there's a book about it!

NW Bell Permits Only Emergency Deer Season Work

Restricts Outside Work To Necessary Projects, Pleads Equipment Care

Northwestern Bell Telephone company makes sure that its linemen are as well informed about the deer hunting zones and seasons as veteran hunters. J. M. Wilson, local manager, explained that the company each year restricts its outside work in deer hunting areas in Minnesota only to projects that are absolutely necessary.

Maps of the hunting zones as well as the opening and closing dates of the season are being distributed to telephone work forces throughout the state.

If telephone men do have to go into these areas, the company asks them to wear the same bright red clothing that deer hunters are required to wear by law.

The safety measure is taken each year as well as a warning to all hunters to be careful when hunting that they don't shoot at telephone equipment.

"Damage to telephone wires, glass insulators or cables could put many telephones temporarily out of order," he said. "In emergencies, this could result in severe suffering, inconvenience and even loss of life and property."

According to a recent study by the American Petroleum Institute, the petroleum industry's capital investment per employee is $55,943, Oil Facts reports. This is more than twice the average for all manufacturing companies covered in the study.

Between 1919, when the first gasoline tax was levied, and 1962, Americans paid more than $76 billion in federal and state gasoline taxes, according to Oil Facts. These taxes now average more than 10 cents a gallon.

Shall I force my child to go to Sunday School and Church?

Yes, definitely!

Startled? Why? How do you answer Lucy when she comes to the breakfast table and announces, "I'm not going to school today!" You know, Lucy goes.

How do you answer when Lucy comes in besmudged with dirt and says, "I'm not going to take a bath!" You know, Lucy bathes.

How do you answer when Lucy, threatened with illness, says, "I'm not going to take that medicine!" You know, she takes it.

Why all this timidity, then, in the realm of spiritual guidance and moral training? Going to wait and let her decide what Church she'll go to when she's old enough? Don't fool yourself. By that time she'll probably believe that a decision neglected by her parents during her first twenty years might not be necessary at all. You didn't wait until she was "old enough" to decide she should go to school.

Afraid she'll later succumb to the old story about "... too much religion when I was young ... parents made me go!" This tale is obviously false. Just because she takes a bath tonight doesn't mean she'll discontinue them at the age of twenty-one.

What shall I say to Lucy when she announces she doesn't like Sunday School and Church? That's easy. Be consistent.

By firmness and example you can show her that church-going is a necessity. And in later years, she will thank you for bringing into her life the greatest values a mature person can possess — Christian habits and ideals.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

NEW CHEVELLE!
BY CHEVROLET
The kind of handling ease you'd expect in a smaller car. Come on down and drive it.
The kind of comfort you'd expect in a large interior. Come on down and sit in it.
Only a car that looks as good as this could come between Chevrolet and Chevy II. Come on down and stare at it.
New Chevelle Malibu Sport Coupe
Now—Chevy spirit in a new kind of car!
We built this one to do more than just stand around looking beautiful. Held its weight down in the 3,000-pound range. Then built four lusty engines—two sixes and two V8's—with output all the way up to 220 horses*!
And if that makes you think this is one frisky car, you've got the right idea.
You've also got a roomy car here. Yet its 115-inch wheelbase keeps it highly maneuverable in traffic and very easy to park.
With its Full Coil suspension, it's got a ride that reminds you of the Jet-smooth kind the way it muffles noise and cushions bumps.
And the fine hand of Body by Fisher craftsmen shows up beneath this one's suave good looks, too.
Sound good? There's more. Like the fact that Chevelle comes in three series with eleven models—convertibles, sport coupes, sedans, wagons, even Super Sport models with front bucket seats. Like the fact that (and see if this isn't one of the nicest surprises of all) the new Chevelle comes at an easy-to-take price!
Like to hear more? The listening's wonderful at your Chevrolet dealer's—and so's the driving.

Membership Drive Slated by Jaycees

January was announced as membership month for the Thief River Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce by Terry Donnan, membership chairman, at the regular meeting held Thursday evening at the Elks club rooms. Preliminary plans were also made for the annual nativity scene located near the local post office.

Donnan stated that the committee he directs would be making a concerted effort to obtain new members for the chapter and activating currently inactive members. Both January meetings will be arranged for the benefit of prospective and new members with Keith Spindler offering to arrange the program for the January 16 session.

By majority vote of the chapter members in attendance, the religious activities committee was instructed to have the annual nativity scene prepared for lighting on November 21—the same night the city's Christmas street lighting will be first lighted. A special program is also to take place at the scene on that evening.

Each year the chapter has added a figurine to the scene and conducted the sale of Christmas tree ornaments to finance the purchase.

The religious activities comittee will report on its recommendation for addition or repair of the scene this year and a method of financing at a meeting of the board of directors Tuesday evening.

Considerable discussion was also given to the Explorer Scout program which the chapter previously voted to sponsor if sufficient interest was shown in the community. While a motion to discontinue the attempt to form an Explorer post was tabled to the next meeting, Keith Spindler volunteered to present a list of 20 potential post members at the next meeting.

Thief River Falls Jaycees will host the Region 2 meeting on Thursday November 21, at the Elks club rooms with John Kalin, Crookston, presiding at the session.

Fire Destroys House, Contents

Fire completely destroyed the farm home of Otto Dohrman eight miles northeast of Middle River on Saturday evening, November 2, according to the Times' Middle River correspondent. Lost in the blaze was his gun collection and several guns brought to him for repair.

Dohrman was doing chores about 7:30 p. m. when he saw smoke seeping out around the doors and windows of his house. The interior of the building was a mass of flames when he attempted to enter. Unable to get in touch with anyone to call the fire department, he was able to confine the fire to the house and a nearby wood pile.

The house and its contents were reported to be a total loss.

School Board To Meet on Tuesday

Meeting of the Thief River Falls board of education originally scheduled for tonight at 8 p. m. has been postponed until Tuesday, according to M. R. Hankerson, superintendent of schools. Reason for the change in date is the Veteran's Day observance on Monday.

165 Attend Credit Union Day Dinner

About 165 members of 12 credit unions from Northwestern Minnesota gathered Tuesday evening in the Eagles' auditorium at a banquet to observe Credit Union Day and the 115th anniversary of the credit union idea.

Credit unions represented were from Climax, Sherack, Oslo, Gully, Brooks, Bemidji, Crookston, Eldred, Red Lake Falls, as well as the three from Thief River Falls who served as hosts for the occasion. The banquet was served by the Eagles' auxiliary.

The program was introduced by C. M. Knutson, president of the Soo Line Employees' Credit Union of this city, who served as master of ceremonies. Rev. Keogh Patnode of St. Bernard's church gave the invocation and Mayor Orin Green welcomed the representatives of the North Red River Valley Chapter in behalf of the city of Thief River Falls.

A quartet and chorus from the local chapter of SPEBSQSA and under the direction of Bryant Ulseth presented several numbers. Milton S. Olson, supervisor for the Department of Youth Conservation, gave an address examining the various facets of modern society which sometimes unwittingly contribute in some small way to create the atmosphere in which many juvenile problems may thrive. Many of the present day problems of our young people are engendered by the social and economic conditions which are an integral part of the highly productive economy such as that of the United States.

An act by Randall Noper and Malcolm Magnusson entitled "Whistler's Brother" provided a comic touch in the evening's entertainment.

Highlight of the evening was the presentation of a plaque to Fred Groninger of the Crookston Co-op Credit union by George Keller of the Climax Credit union and president of the North Red

Local Telephone Subscribers May Get New Phone

Imperial Princess in Gold Finish Offered As First in Minnesota

Thief River Falls telephone customers are the first in the nation to be offered the new, gold Imperial Princess telephone, according to J. M. Wilson, local Northwestern Bell Telephone company manager.

"A Minnesota innovation, this newest addition to the regal Princess telephone family is now available only in our state," he said. "If customer acceptance matches our expectations, we expect the Imperial Princess to become a nationwide Bell system service offering."

The color of the Imperial Princess was carefully selected and consists of a white handset and cord and a gold base. The dial cap plate is plain gold and matches the gold of the base.

"The gold is applied by means of a vacuum chamber embossing process in which the gold actually penetrates the plastic for adherence," he said. "The base is then sprayed with lacquer to provide a finish quite impervious to mars and scratches."

The new Imperial Princess is small and contains a night-light that glows brighter when the receiver is lifted. It is designed for night-stands, end tables or wherever space is at a premium.

Carl Kretzschmar, of Lafayette, Indiana, formerly of Thief River Falls, arrived Thursday for his annual deer hunt. It will be his 27th year hunting with the same group.

RETIRED Soo Line engineers were honored recently by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers at a dinner at the Rex Cafe. Present for the occasion were the general chairman of the Soo Line Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Mr. Glen Hansmen of Minneapolis, who presented a 50-year membership pin to Albert Engen and a 40-year pin to James Steen. Forty-five members and their wives attended the dinner.

These men received their first training as roundhouse employees, graduating over a period of time to firemen and then to engineers. All of the members of the above group worked at one time as firemen under Albert Engen and all but Albert Engen "fired" for Mr. Hellquist.

Other engineers still living who retired from the Thief River Falls terminal are Henry Arhart, 1907; Percy Lamb, 1910; Harry Meyers, 1913; Harry Millar, 1913; D. S. Green, 1918; Ole Klopp, 1922; and Norman Strand, 1925. This list is according to the records kept by Hellquist who states that some of the aboce have moved from the area.

Rotary Hears Of Sunflower, Millet Plant

Local Manager Asks Community Support To Secure Acreage

Growing and processing of sunflowers and millet in the Thief River Falls area was the topic for discussion at the noon meeting of the Thief River Falls Rotary club on Monday. Harland Knutson, manager of Farmers Grain & Milling company, was speaker on the program.

Knutson stated that the company needs approximately 2,500 acres of sunflowers and 4,000 to 4,500 acres of millet to sustain its operations here. Acreage last year was considerably under these totals with about 1,000 acres of sunflowers and 1,400 acres of millet planted.

At present the plant has eight full-time employees with a payroll of about $700 to $900 per week, Knutson told the club. The millet and sunflowers produced locally or shipped in from other communities are blended with other grains for packaging as wild bird food. About 40 carloads of processed seed have been shipped from the plant to date.

Sunflowers varied in production from 800 to 1,800 pounds per acre last year with the return averaging about $50 per acre. Millet varied from 800 to 2,700 pounds per acre with the average return being about $35 to $40, the manager added.

One of the primary concerns of growers is the ability to produce dry seed in both crops. Assurance has been given that a commercial drying plant, actually a structure in itself, could be installed in Thief River Falls if the required acreage is supplied by farmers. The drying plant would use heated air to take out moisture in the seed before it is stored for processing.

A number of local farmers, interested in community development, are assisting in talking to their neighbors and acquaintances about producing either or both of the crops. Further information may also be obtained from the Farmers Grain & Milling company in Thief River Falls.

Both crops are grown under contracts which guarantee prices for the crops in the fall. Seed may be purchased from the company with cost of the seed deducted from contract payments when the crop is sold.

LaVonne Nabben Wed To Wendell Wegge Oct. 19th

LaVonne Ardell Nabben, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Nabben of Thief River Falls, was united in marriage to Wendell R. Wegge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Wegge, also of this city, at Our Savior's Lutheran church with Rev. Marius Haakenstad officiating. The wedding, a candlelight service, took place on October 19.

Organist was Mrs. David Schwartz, and Susan and Sandra Joppru offered vocal numbers. The altar decorations were baskets of fall flowers in shades of yellow, bronze and white.

The bride appeared in a floor-length gown of satin and lace with a rounded neckline and fitted basque bodice and long, tapered sleeves. The elbow-length silk illusion veil was arranged from a pearl cluster. Her jewelry, a pearl necklace and earring set, was a gift of the groom. She carried one large mum with small yellow roses in garlands of white with touches of green.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Jack Syrnsky, sister of the bride, and Miss Corrine Nabben and Mrs. Wayne Wegge as her other attendants, were in street-length dresses of emerald green with shoes and headpieces to match. Iverson-Farmes Vows Pledged Here Recently

Miss Adeline Lorraine Iverson and Robert Farmes, both of this city, pledged wedding vows at Zion Lutheran Church here on October 5, with Rev. Leland Steen officiating. Parents of the couple are Mrs. Iver H. Iverson of this city and the late Iver H. Iverson, and Mr. and Mrs. Emil Farmes, also of Thief River Falls.

About 30 guests attended the double-ring ceremony which was performed before an altar decorated with white glads and mums. Mrs. James Johnson, second cousin of the bride, played nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Clarence Weckworth, soloist.

The bridal gown was of white velveteen in street length. With it the bride wore a white pillbox hat with white veil. Her colonial bouquet was of white roses and carnations.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Gary Fitch of Brainerd, sister of the bride. Her dress, designed in princess style, was of royal blue velvet. Her colonial bouquet was of talisman roses and carnations, and her jewelry was the bride's gift, a white gold necklace.

Harley Iverson of Thief River Falls, the bride's brother, was best man.

Mrs. Iverson wore a dress of green print with black accessories, and yellow mum corsage. The dress worn by the groom's mother was lavender, and her accessories were likewise black. Her corsage was of pink and white roses.

The reception was given in the church parlors after the ceremony. Mrs. Charles Krause of this city, cousin of the bride, cut the wedding cake, and Mrs. Gordon Reierson poured. Attending from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Val Wagner and Kathy of St. Paul, and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Fitch of Brainerd.

The bride chose a dress of teal blue for their honeymoon to Canada and northern Minnesota. They are at home at 406 Kneale avenue South, in this city.

Miss Iverson and her husband are both alumni of the 'U' of Minnesota. Miss Iverson graduated from St. Hilaire high school and the Deaconess school of nursing of Grand Forks, N. D., and attended the U of Minnesota. She is coordinator at the area vocational school practical nursing course here. Nelson-Erickson Vows Exchanged November 2

An exchange of marriage vows took place at First Lutheran Church at Middle River on Saturday, November 2, between Margaret Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Nelson of Middle River, and Mylan Erickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Erickson of Strathcona. The double-ring service was performed by Rev. Duane Nelson, before a large gathering of friends and relatives. Gracing the altar were bouquets of chrysanthemums, and white bows decorated the pews. A prelude of nuptial music was furnished by Miss Linda Larson at the church organ.

Miss Carol Gjovik accompanied the "King's Choraleers" of Strathcona in their singing of "O Perfect Love," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's father gave her in marriage. She wore a white bridal gown of lace over taffeta featuring a scalloped neckline and long fitted sleeves. Three tiers of lace ruffles with an insert of ruffled net at the back formed the bouffant skirt. Her short veil fell from a crown of seed pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses outlined with gladioli petals, on a background of green leaves and blue ribbons.

Gayle Qualey and Sharon Sovde served as maid of honor and bridesmaid, respectively. They wore identical street-length dresses of medium blue with matching headband and gloves, and carried white and blue mums in a basket.

Gaylord Erickson attended the groom as his best man, and Dale Nelson as groomsman. The rings were carried on a white satin pillow by Paul Erickson. Dark trousers and white dinner jackets with blue carnation boutonnieres was the attire of the men of the party. Ushers Danny Geer, Byron Stal, Howard Nelson, and David Luoto wore dark suits with white carnations in their lapels.

A brown suit and matching accessories was the choice of attire of the bride's mother and the groom's mother wore a blue dress with gold accessories. Red and white corsages completed their costumes. Mrs. Nels Nelson and Mrs. Albert Howard, grandmothers of the bride, were honored with yellow corsages.

Approximately 250 relatives and friends were present at the reception given by the bride's parents in the church parlors after the ceremony. Ginger Johnson, the bride's aunt, Goodridge, was hostess.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. WALTER PEDERSON

Looking for something seasonal and bright, with just enough zip to liven up the slightly bland taste of turkeys or other fowl (or wild game, for that matter)? Look no further; this one's a natural. And it provides texture contrast, so important to a well-planned meal. This make-ahead cranberry relish is loaded with vitamins, too. Less than a quarter of an hour does it, by way of preparation. Mrs. Pederson sent it in awhile back, and it was saved with this season in mind.

Incidentally, some of you ladies have the idea that this column is restricted to certain homemakers. Anyone is invited to send in a favorite recipe; we'll use it at a time we think it most appropriate. So please don't wait to be called upon for your contribution. We'll welcome recipes by letter, by phone, or in person. Surely you must have something that rates compliments at your house. Come on, now, what are you waiting for? You've seen your neighbor's recipe in this column. Now, what about yours?

CRANBERRY RELISH

Grind in food chopper:
1 pkg. cranberries
1 orange, rind and all
1 apple, peeling included
1 cup raisins

Add: 1 cup sugar, and mix well. Keep stored under refrigeration. The use of this relish is not limited to an accent for a meat dish; Mrs. Pederson says it is also good served as a spread for bread.

The homemaker who furnished this idea is a farmer's wife; they live two miles west of Oklee, where they raise cattle and chickens. Mrs. Pederson's favorite hobby is gardening, and she loves to grow flowers.

Korsmoe-Peterson Vows Are Spoken at McIntosh

Miss Kathleen Karen Korsmoe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orvin Rystad of Trail exchanged marriage vows with Ralph Oliver Peterson, son of Herman Peterson of Thief River Falls, at Our Savior's Lutheran church at McIntosh on October 12, with Rev. Holm of McIntosh officiating.

Approximately 150 guests attended the double-ring ceremony with Miss Colma Hofford of McIntosh at the organ and Jerry Fuguiseth of McIntosh as the vocal soloist. Altar decorations were yellow mums, oak leaves, and bronze foxtails in golden vases.

The bride was given in marriage by her step-father, Orvin Rystad. Her floor-length gown was of imported lace over taffeta, designed with fitted bodice and long, buttoned sleeves. Her fingertip veil was caught to a crown of pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade of red roses.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Gary Solberg of Fertile, and Debbie Korsmoe, sister of the bride, and Susan Peterson, sister of the groom, both of Trail, were bridesmaids. Their gowns were of green brocade in street length. Their bouquets were yellow mums encircled with bronze mums.

Flower girl Marsha Kindseth of McIntosh wore a white dress and carried a basket of yellow and bronze mums. Daryl Sweno of Trail was ringbearer and wore a navy blue suit with a red boutonniere.

Gerald Solheim of Trail was best man, and LeRoy Peterson, Thief River Falls, the groom's brother, and Clary Sweno of Trail served as groomsmen. Donovan May and Robert Solheim, both of Trail, ushered.

At the reception which followed the ceremony, Mrs. Charles Jorgenson and Mrs. Duane Peterson, Clearbrook, poured. Mrs. Lloyd Kindseth of McIntosh served as hostess. Waitresses were Alice Henderson and Carolyn Aamodt. Christine Jensen attended the guest book and gifts were opened by Karen Jallen, Betty Torkelson, Trail, and Eileen Aakhus, McIntosh.

The four-tiered bridal cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Albert Aaknes of Trail. It was topped by a miniature bridal couple.

For travel, the bride wore a green suit with brown accessories and a corsage of yellow mums. They honeymooned in Hoyt Lakes, and are now at home in Seattle, Wash.

The bride attended McIntosh high school and graduated from the Crookston school of practical nursing. She practiced her profession at Memorial Hospital at Long Beach, Calif. The groom is a graduate of the Oklee high school and served in the Navy for the past four years.

High School League Gives Sports Summary

Most adults and teenagers have great interest in the high school athletic teams and the local sports program. They follow the local team throughout the season and in district, regional and state tournament play. Many have attended honor banquets in which the speaker has claimed that sports develop character, good citizenship, scholarship, leadership, sportsmanship, determination, confidence and other valuable character traits. It seems safe to say that high school sports have an excellent reputation and are respected by the vast majority of citizens.

School boards, school administrators and coaches have appreciated the public interest and apparent confidence that citizens have in the high school sports programs. This is especially notable in a period of exceptional unrest and confusion in the total field of athletics.

Indications of questionable values and practice in sports range all the way from gambling, allegations of shaving points, disclosure of playing secrets, advertising of liquor and tobacco products, excessive recruitment and display of poor sportsmanship, to over-emphasis and pressure on immature children and teenagers.

School officials feel they have made a concerted and constructive effort to regulate high school athletic programs so they are worthy of this confidence and respect. They have attempted to control programs so they would be an asset to schools and contribute toward the achieving of acceptable objectives and purposes for secondary education.

One metropolitan sports writer disagrees and has said of the Minnesota State High School League, the agency school officials have organized and control to aid in the regulation of high school sports, "That it is an autocratic, self-constituted, self-sufficient, self-perpetuating growth on the educational system." School officials believe they are most able to determine what regulation is necessary and proper and in the best interests of schools and students. They believe that all too frequently the programs and students would be exploited by special interest groups without control from school officials.

To familiarize you with the organization and functioning of high school sports in Minnesota, the local school officials have furnished us with five articles that will be published in five issues of this paper.

HISTORY OF HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS

by State Board of Control

Sports were first associated with high schools as a result of the initiative and interest of students. This was a period in which there was no encouragement or regulation by schools, their administrators, or faculty. They were introduced very much as clubs were started and developed by student bodies.

Soon teams became associated with a particular school because a majority of the players came from that school. Natural rivalry developed between these unofficial student groups that led to serious problems between schools and student bodies. Under this situation, schools and facilities were forced to recognize and exert some control to preserve the reputation of their schools.

The second stage was that of a faculty sponsor for what might be termed the athletic club. This sponsor was rarely one qualified to be a coach but was able to give supervision and act as a chaperon. The intense desire to win led to the search for a proficient performer to coach, such as an ex-professional or successful amateur athlete. Little or no consideration was given for training or education as a teacher in such things as child growth and development, psychology, anatomy, physiology, education, etc.

In this second stage, quality of play improved, but competition became even more intense and increased rather than decreased the schools' problems. The most common difficulties were the recruitment of players outside of the school, playing under assumed names, and attempts to falsify school records. Most anyone 50 years of age or over has experienced similar undesirable practices as these.

For example, one school superintendent recounts that he secured his first position to coach and play on the same high school team. In another case, the team winning the high school baseball championship was known to be composed entirely of graduated students except one, and he was only a substitute.

Finally, in desperation, school boards assumed full control of high school sports and attempted to establish and maintain rules and standards for participation. In the third stage these included such simple rules as enrollment, age, subject load, scholarship, and those related to morals. Schools again, however, found themselves in a helpless position to maintain standards because not all schools adhered to acceptable standards. This led to unfair advantage to the school with the lowest standards, and often schools were forced by local sports enthusiasts to succumb to what they knew was not in the best interest of schools and students.

This led to the fourth stage in which schools in the various states organized voluntary associations through which they could jointly establish minimum standards (rules) and provide for their enforcement. This occurred in most all states between 1900 and 1920, and at present every state has such an organization. The schools of the state organized the Minnesota State High School league in 1916 and have jointly operated it since that date.

The fifth stage brought about the development of the National Federation of State High School Athletic associations in 1920. Colleges, universities, clubs and promoters were carrying on interstate competition that violated acceptable high school standards, which gave the initial impetus to the formation of this organization. The national federation was organized by the state associations and presently all but one state are members. The national federation regulates interstate competition in accord with the wishes of member states.

The control of high school sports in the opinion of most high school officials has developed out of sheer necessity. Most would say they must be controlled to contribute to the overall objectives of secondary education. Failure to regulate would most certainly render the schools less effective as educational units and lead ultimately to the elimination of high school sports.

Former Minnesota Governor Elmer Andersen will give the testimonial address at a public appreciation dinner for Representative Odin Langen of Kennedy, scheduled for 6:30 p. m. Saturday, November 16th, at Concordia College in Moorhead.

The 7th district congressman's volunteer committee, headed by Robert Allison of Fergus Falls, is sponsoring the event to honor the farmer-legislator who is serving his third two-year term in Congress and was named this year to the key House appropriations committee.

Tickets, at $2.50 each, may be obtained from either members of the Langen volunteer committee or GOP county committeemen in any of the district's 23 counties.

Langen, expected to arrive in Moorhead about noon Saturday, is scheduled to hold brief meetings, also, with state legislators from throughout the district and members of his volunteer committee before the dinner.

Vigilance Urged on Veterans Day

Rep. Odin Langen Cites Lessons of History

"We used to call November 11th Armistice Day," said Congressman Odin Langen, "but the term Veteran's Day is really more appropriate because we have learned the hard lesson that there never is a true armistice with the forces of evil that would strip us of our liberties and drive our free nation into slavery."

Langen, in noting that we honor the many veterans who have gone before us, said that "These men and women have given their full measure in the defense of liberty. However, we also honor those now scattered over this earth who are continuing the battle. They're fighting what is called a 'cold' war, but it's very hot indeed for those who are dying in such far-away places as Viet Nam.

"May we ever be vigilant . . . and may we always have these patriots who put the Nation's safety above their personal comfort."

The Library Corner

"National Book Week" coincides with "National Education Week", and righly so, for where would the latter be without the former? Though so-called "visual education" is coming to the fore, what actually is new about it? Has not education always been "visual"? Where would history be today, if it were not for that "visual" education aid so familiar to us all! A book!

Your Carnegie Public Library has taken "Fairy Tales" for National Book Week theme, Mrs. Roy Oen and Mrs. Lloyd Bennes, members of the "Friends of the Library", artfully arranged a story-book castle display for young readers to enjoy during their "Book Week" library visit. They placed story book dolls amid the colorful covers of familiar and favorite stories at the entrance to the castle. There is the fairy princess and the dashing prince and high at the top is "Rapunzel" with her long golden tresses cascading the rocky wall of the fortress.

There is a knight in armor heralding the visitors and holding a scroll which tells one and all this is "Fairy Tale" land! He will remind you to leave your workaday trials in the vestibule as you enter the story-book land.

Miss Bertha Hastad will make the written words audible and the characters alive when she repeats the tale of "Rapunzel" and "How the Bear's Tail Came To Be Short". Fairy tales during visiting hours know no boundaries. They have been written in every language and translated into every tongue so that everyone, regardless of nationality, can enjoy the imaginings of others. Fairy tales have survived the turmoil of the world's upheavals and have gone on and on revealing the secrets of happiness. . .sow good deeds and thereby reap the golden harvest!

Classes from the city's elementary schools will visit their public library during this week, chaperoned by members of the teaching staff, and will see the displays, listen to Miss Hastad's story-telling and browse a bit before returning to school.

Another display will hold the attention of and bring forth "Oh's and Ah's" from library users this week. Mrs. Hans Chommie's personal collection of music boxes is arranged in a glass case. The figurines decorating the boxes frolic, or gracefully dance, whichever the tune might call for, as the music is played. The collection is one which all, children and adults, will enjoy because of the beauty of the intricate carvings and fanciful designs of the decorative boxes. Each one seems to be a 'fairy tale" set to music.

Remember "National Book Week" should remind those associated with children that ". . .a great nation is a reading nation and in this broad country of ours books should be freely available for every boy and girl. Until they are freely available we have a great task." These are the words of Frederic G. Melcher.

Read, encourage your children to read! There is nothing like a book to "visually educate" the children of today so that tomorrow they will live in a "fairy tale" world. . .a world of peace with boundaries of love and understanding, where ideas are freely exchanged regardless of the nationality of the mind in which they originate.

Visit your library during "National Book Week". . .and every week! Make it a weekly habit!

Social Security for Home Workers

Coverage Explained by Grand Forks Office

"Many people do not know that people who work in private homes have the same protection under the social security system as workers in commerce and industry," Walter D. Kistler, district manager of social security office in Grand Forks said today. "Everyone should know about this aspect of social security, because people who have covered workers in their homes are legally responsible for reporting their wages and paying the social security tax."

Wages paid to domestic workers must be reported if the cash wages paid in a calendar quarter amount to $50 or more. As little as $4 a week, paid regularly would amount to more than $50 in a calendar quarter. Reports are filed quarterly, and the Internal Revenue Service provides a special simplified report form for the use of the housewife or home owner in making these reports.

Any household worker who has a question about whether he or she is covered by social security should get in touch with the area office of the Social Security Administration. Employers who need information about reporting their employees can secure information from the Social Security Administration or the Internal Revenue Service.

Rodeo Scheduled for Crookston Nov. 15-17

When action explodes in the arena of the First Annual Great Midwestern Indoor Rodeo, slated Friday through Sunday, November 15-17, at Crookston, spectators will be watching another professional edition of the roughest, competitive sports in the nation.

As one of the 500-odd rodeos approved each year by the Rodeo Cowboys Association, the Midwestern Rodeo will be in the sport's major league, conducted under nationally recognized rules that assures top bucking stock in a hard-riding contest open to the best cowboys in the game.

Like all RCA sanctioned rodeos, the contest here will be built around the sport's standard events-saddle and bareback bronc riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, and bull riding. Contestants will be competing for slices of $1,650 purse money put up by the rodeo committee, plus their own entry fees which will probably double the prize payoff.

Rodeo livestock will be furnished by Marvin Brookman, of Wolf Point, Montana.

Prize money won here will be credited to the sport's world championship standings. National titles in rodeo are determined by the simple measure of who wins the money during the almost year-round playing season. Competition culminates in December, with the game's title playoffs, the National Finals.

The finals entry roster is limited to the top 15 money winners in each event, their selection based on regular season winnings. To test the competitive mettle of the finalsits, North America's top rodeo stock is screened for the roughest selection available.

Some 225 broncs and bulls are sifted from over 4,000 head in the professional bucking strings across the United States and Canada.

Prize money won at the playoffs are totalled with seasonal earnings to name the year's world champion cowboys.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

With deer season having opened on November 9, you may be interested in knowing how to prepare the best tasting venison in the neighborhood.

Game meats, like domestic meats, are best when properly dressed and cooked. Good eating depends upon the treatment the animal receives when killed. For high quality meat, the animal should be promptly bled, dressed and cooled under sanitary conditions. Much good game is ruined because this procedure is not followed.

The methods for handling all animals are similar, although the technique will vary with each species and with the individual worker. Good equipment to properly care for the kill is important. Hunters should carry a good knife, wrapping paper, bags, clean cloths, string, soap and disinfectant.

Immediately after the kill, bleed, draw and cool the carcass. Spread the rib cage with a clean stick and hang the animal by the hind legs or antlers until cool. Use clean cloths to wipe off any dirt or pools of blood remaining on the meat. Sprinkle the carcass with pepper to repel insects and cover it with cheesecloth.

Game must be transported from the field with care. If possible, hang the wrapped carcass in the rear of a pick-up truck where it can continue cooling and draining. The next best way to carry the carcass is on a cartop carrier. If that is not possible, wrap lightly and place on the back seat of an open car or in the trunk with the lid partly raised. The carcass should not be placed in a closed truck or tied over the hood of the engine.

Large game should be aged in a cooler or in the open air where the temperature ranges between 36 and 40 degrees. Leave the hide on during the aging process to keep the meat from drying out. Allow a few days to age the meat of young animals and two or three weeks to tenderize the meat of older animals. Then remove the hide and cut the carcass into roasts and steaks like beef. Cook immediately, or wrap in freezer paper and store at zero degrees.

For best results in cooking, you should learn to recognize the differences between game and domestic meat. Game has a thin fat covering. It is lean meat, somewhat dry, with a dark color and has a tendency, when either fresh or thawed, to drip. "Off" flavors are often traced to the fat. It should be removed and substituted with beef suet or bacon strips when the meat is cooked.

Game has a characteristic flavor just as other meats do. A distinction should be made between the natural flavor, often described as gamey, and flavor or odor resulting from lack of care. Meat that is well-cared-for has a delightful flavor which can be developed in cooking or masked with a highly seasoned sauce.

Proper cooking methods should also be used. Roasts from young animals can be cooked like comparable beef roasts. Chops and steaks from young animals can be broiled or pan-fried. Cuts, steaks or chops from older animals should be braised, made into stew or ground meat. Many people prefer game meats cooked medium well or well done.

REPORT TO THE PEOPLE

by Governor
KARL ROLVAAG

Last week I had the honor to represent Minnesota before delegates to the National Electronics Conference in Chicago. I was privileged to appear before 600 physicists, engineers and engineering administrators from thruout the country who invited me because they recognized the prominence of Minneapolis-St. Paul in the nation's electronics industry.

New Advisory Council

In my speech to this illustrious group, I was proud to outline the development of the electronics industry in Minnesota over the past decade, and to emphasize the importance of adequate research facilities, educational opportunities, and the alert intellectual communities afforded by our state. I also announced that in an effort to stimulate further growth of the industry here, I am in the process of forming a Minnesota Science-Industry Advisory Council. Fortunately for the future success of this new enterprise, Dr. William G. Shepherd, academic vice president of the University, has agreed to serve as honorary chairman.

Science-Business Means Jobs

Establishment of this new council is one way to assure continuing and closer relationships between scientific and academic leaders and the business community. It is precisely these relationships in the past which have aided the growth of the electronics industry and can contribute most significantly to future growth. The function of this council will be to evaluate existing university-business relationships, advise my office of impending problems within the industry, and work to intensify those programs which have proved so instrumental in the mushrooming of this industry. Naturally, it is hoped that this effort to increase cooperation between educators and businessmen will result in more jobs.

Sturdy, Steady Growth

The electronics industry in Minnesota has enjoyed a sturdy, steady growth not experienced by any other state in the middle west. Today there are over 50,000 people employed in our electronics and related industries. These industries produce annual payrolls exceeding $270 million. Most of this phenomenal growth has occured in little more than a decade. It did not happen by accident. Among several important ingredients contributing to this growth has been our great University.

Human Resources

Unquestionably, emphasis in the past decade has moved away from reliance on rich resources and strong backs to exploit them, so that today our chief hope lies without human resources—on brains and ideas. That is why our University has played such a vital role in electronics growth. Our University is a conservor of knowledge, transmitter of knowledge, and assembler of knowledge. It is highly accessible to the business community, free of misguided political parochialism, independent of government, and geared to the needs of the community. We have brainpower in our University and it is ready and willing to contribute to the stability and growth of the community, as are our 14 liveral arts colleges and five state colleges.

Object Lesson

Delegates to the Chicago conference were, to a man, impressed with our Minnesota success story. And I believe that if we review this story from time to time, to write new chapters, to provide ever newer and happier endings, we will conclude that the story's greatest object lesson is that the price we pay for education is not too great. It is too little.

Prowler Basketball Practice Opens Today

Of the twelve Prowlers who were on last season's district and regional tournament squad, seven players—Bob Olson, Kenny Larson, Rick Jensen, Rich Nelson, Mark Anderson, Mark Steen, and Gary Hagen—will report to coach Jack Junker and his assistant Bob Gaarder this afternoon, Monday, as the 1963-64 basketball season is officially opened. The regulations of the Minnesota State High School league prohibit member schools from holding basketball practice sessions prior to the second Monday in November.

From last season's District 31 Prowler champions, and runners-up in the Region Eight tournament, the following boys have been lost through graduation: John Aune, Tom Lindberg, Paul Klungness, Steve Mittelstadt, and Jerry Erickson. These five players, with Lindberg, Aune, and Klungness scoring the bulk of the points, accounted for 932 of the 1547 points tallied by last season's squad.

Coach Junker's cagers will be the first of the Prowler winter sports squads to see action. The Prowlers will participate in a District 31 Jamboree to be held at East Grand Forks on Saturday night, November 23. The Prowlers will meet coach Norm, Wagner's Fisher Flyers in a short session, with game time slated for 7 P. M.

The 1963-64 Prowler schedule will be opened on Saturday, Nov. 30, with the Fertile Falcons of District 30 meeting the locals on the high school court.

Minnesota Twins President Heads Yule Seal Drive

Calvin Griffith, Wayzata, president of the Minnesota Twins Baseball club, has been named state chairman for the 1963 Christmas Seal campaign for funds to fight tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases. This is the third time that Mr. Griffith has headed the organization's drive for funds which opens Friday, Nov. 15.

In launching the campaign, Griffith said, "Around 880,000 Christmas Seal appeal letters will reach Minnesota residents this week — letters asking your help to fight tuberculosis and other diseases affecting the breathing system.

Last year, some 300,000 people in Minnesota received tuberculin tests to check for tuberculosis. Around 123,000 Minnesotans received free chest x-rays to check for lung disease at the Christmas Seal mobile X-ray unit or at one of the local county units.

Plan New Bank in East Grand Forks

An application for permission to establish a state bank in East Grand Forks has been filed with the Minnesota commissioner of banks in St. Paul.

The bank, which would be the second in East Grand Forks, would be known as the Citizens State Bank.

Incorporators are R. C. Nelson and Lyman Brink, both of Hallock; R. F. Foley of Roseau; and Herbert Paulson of Neche, N. D. Proposed capital is $200,000.

A date for hearing on the application has not been set.

FISHING has been improving on the river in Thief River Falls this year with night angling for walleyes being especially productive. Dr. O. D. Beich, one of the more ardent enthusiasts, was rewarded for his efforts Tuesday night when this walleye was brought to the net. Weighed on Beich's "rough" scale the same evening it was just under eight pounds. On an official scale the next day it weighed six and one-half pounds. Dr. Beich, who has been accused by friends of fishing during his coffee breaks, says that minnows on small hooks are the most successful and that three to four pound northerns are common catches.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

The Campaign Opens

The 1963-64 Prowler basketball campaign opens this afternoon when coaches Jack Junker and Bob Gaarder will whistle the Prowler squads, the A and B groups, into action.

And included in the 18-game schedule that the Prowlers will play are some teams that are perennial "powers" in basketball. Referring to the Bemidji Lumberjacks, the Moorhead Spuds, the Grand Forks Central Redskins, and the Fargo Central Midgets. And, too, the locals will again make that two-game trip to the Twin City area for games against Stillwater and North St. Paul. And in addition the Prowlers will face such traditional rivals as Crookston, East Grand Forks, Warren, Fosston, Fertile, Ada, Climax, and Halstad. There isn't a "soft touch" on the entire schedule, and that's the way it should be.

Coach Junker will have quite a problem in replacing the "three musketeers" of last season's squad—Tom Lindberg, John Aune and Paul Klungness. These three boys rolled up a total of 890 points for the Prowlers, with Tom scoring 334 points, John, having 299 points, and Paul notching 257 points to finish one-two-three in the individual scoring column.

Season's Prospects

It is expected that Bob Olson, Rick Jensen, and Kenny Larson will supply the scoring punch for this season's club. Last year, Olson, a lanky center-forward, scored 192 points; Jensen, an over-hustling guard, had 186 points; and Larson, with his patented fall-away push shot, scored 128 points. The three boys have just competed a rugged football season, so they should be in condition to take over the scoring pace set by Lindberg, Aune, and Klungness.

Incidentially, the Prowlers have lost five players by graduation, with Steve Mittelstadt and Jerry Erickson joining Lindberg, Aune, and Klungness as absentees from this season's play. And it is pleasing to report that these five boys are continuing their education by attending college. Aune is at Carleton (that's the small college that is across the river from St. Olaf!); Lindberg is at North Dakota State; Klungness is at Dartmouth; Mittelstadt at Minnesota Duluth branch; and Erickson is at Gustavus. I'm sure that if John Aune would make a visit or two to his brother Mike at St. Olaf, some of the Oles would teach him, John, to sing "High on Manitou Heights".

Goose Fever?

Don't know if hunters are subject to "goose fever," but from the information at hand it appears that Orvis Olen and Jub Prichard exhibited some of the symptoms of such a "fever".

Orvis and Jub, along with Charlie Smith, were in a stubble field on the East side of Mud Lake the other morning when a flight of Canada geese came in. Charlie had spotted these geese, and their feeding pattern, a couple of days earlier. Orvis and Jub and Charlie had their set-up made, with decoys and all, when these geese, a dozen or so, came in at tree-top height.

From his vantage point in a stone pile, and at point-blank range Orvis opened up, and a big Canada tumbled to the ground. Jub missed on his first shot, but downed a honker on his second shot. But that's all the shooting these two hunters did! Orvis claims that his automatic jammed; and Jub was too busy watching his downed goose to notice that the remainder of the flock flew directly over him.

But it's nice that Orvis and Jub have the "makings" for a couple of goose dinners.

There had been quite a concentration of Canada geese in the east end of the Agassiz refuge—about five hundred was the number that a warden estimated the group to be but they moved out when the deer hunters began their bombardment on Saturday.

There are some Canada geese near the headquarters, and these geese are "free flyers", and it should be possible for a hunter to get a shot or two at the big birds if they should venture out of the refuge. The goose hunting season continues until Dec. 13.

Just Fair

After making an extended trip through the Thorhult, Fourtown, Rapid River, Malcolm, Grygla, and Lake Agassiz refuge areas on Sunday, and talking with a number of hunters, it is the consensus that the opening weekend of deer hunting was fair. And just barely fair.

All of the camps I visited, and I have an annual chore of delivering the Sunday papers, had deer hanging on the "meat rack", but the hunters are unanimous in claiming that the hunting conditions were all in favor of the deer.

A heavy fog blanketed the area on Saturday morning, and did not lift until about ten o'clock in the morning. The opening hours of the season are usually the best, but this year the weather man did not cooperate. And Sunday's overcast sky, and with a brisk wind coming in from the west, hunting conditions left much to be desired.

But the boys are having fun, and that's one of the reasons for having a deer hunting season. And I can understand that one of the advantages of the extensive soil bank program in the deer hunting territory is that a number of empty houses are available for hunting camps. Many of these "abandoned" farmsteads are being used as deer camps and I hear that the rental is nominal.

5 Bemidji Gridders on Conference Team

Five members of the champion Bemidji Lumberjacks were named Wednesday evening to the Northwest conference all-star football team named at the league's fall meeting in Erskine.

With the selections restricted to seniors, the Crookston Pirates and the Roseau Rams, who tied for second place in the conference standings, placed two players each on the team, while the Thief River Falls Prowlers and the East Grand Forks Green Wave gained one player apiece.

The conference football coaches inaugurated a Most Valuable Player award, and Roseau's stellar halfback, Gary Brandt, by a 3 to 2 vote, edged out Bemidji's Pat Winkler.

With Roseau, Thief River Falls, Crookston, and East Grand Forks having varsity hockey teams in action, an effort was made to add hockey to the Northwest conference competition, but this project was postponed for another year.

Harold (Snooks) Sullivan of East Grand Forks was elected president for a two-year term, succeeding Lowell Larson of Crookston. Larry Selk of East Grand Forks was named secretary.

Fullback Pat Winkler of the champion Bemidji club won the conference scoring honors with a total of 48 points. Roseau's Brandt gained runner-up honors with 32 points.

Members of the All-conference football squad:

Pat Winkler, Bemidji, fullback.
Mary Hanson, Bemidji, halfback.
John Broadland, Bemidji, tackle.
Wally Peterson, Bemidji, end.
Bill Bolan, Bemidji, halfback.
Walter Erickson, Crookston, guard.
Ken Lpema, Crookston, fullback.
Gary Brandt, Roseau, halfback.
Rick Anderson, Roseau, halfback.
Bob Olson, Thief River Falls, end.
Ricky Black, East Grand Forks, end.

Vehicle License Sale Begins November 15

Mrs. Marjorie Hanson, deputy registrar of motor vehicles at Thief River Falls, reported today that she had received information that 1964 renewal application cards for automobiles, trucks and trailers are being prepared for mailing for approximately 1,800,000 registered vehicles. The cards will be mailed beginning November 8 and most owners should receive theirs by November 14. The sale begins November 15. Mobile home owners will receive a somewhat different type notice with complete instructions.

If an owner has moved since the vehicle was last registered, it is possible the application has been returned to St. Paul. Applications were sent by third-class mail to save about $18,000 in postage. Under postal regulations, undelivered items cannot be forwarded without added cost unless the owner lives within the same post office delivery areas.

If there are any questions concerning the nonreceipt of the application card or the 1963 registration card, such owners should get in touch with Mrs. Hanson, deputy registrar, or contact the secretary of state's office in St. Paul.

Mrs. Hanson said the procedures for renewal will be substantially the same as in 1963. Most owners will not have to fill out any forms when they pay their 1964 tax. However, if there is any change in class of license, change of registered weight or change of ownership, additional forms, available at the deputy's office, must be completed.

One significant change has been made due to legislative enactment. Since 1956, every owner has paid 25 cents additional tax each year to cover the added cost of the reflectorization on the plates and tabs. The total cost of 50 cents for two years was about the additional cost. With a three-year plate now coming into use, the added cost is still only about 50 cents, but the owner would have paid 75 cents.

"Secretary of State Donovan asked the legislature to change this," Mrs. Hanson said, "and it was done." Beginning November 15, 50 cents will be paid the year plates are issued (25 cents in single plate) and nothering extra in a tab year.

"All owners must bring with them to the registrar's office their 1964 application cards mailed to them and their 1963 registration cards," Mrs. Hanson said. "The state has spent considerable time and money preparing and mailing the applications. Failure to use them not only increases the cost of operation but results in delays for the owner at the time of issuance of the tabs or plates and later when the 1964 registration card is prepared at St. Paul."

New 1964 plates will be issued for trucks, trailers and all other classes except automobiles, motorcycles and motor scooters. Tabs will again be issued for the latter three classes. Year tabs and plates will become available beginning November 15. An owner cannot apply before that date. If an owner has lost one or both of his 1962 passenger car or motorcyle plates, he must secure duplicates.

Owners should apply early and avoid the last-minute lineup which inevitably occurs in January. The tabs may be attached to the 1962 plates as soon as received and new plates may be displayed immediately also.

Area Girls Win State Recognition

Bonita Halfmann and Robin Shalde Selected

Bonita Halfmann of Stephen, of the Happy Corner 4-H club in Marshall county, and Robin Shalde of Perley, junior division winner in the Make-It-Yourself-with-Wool contest in Thief River Falls last year, were recently honored in the Minnesota 4-H program. They were among five girls in the state to receive awards for outstanding achievement records in the clothing project.

Each girl will be awarded a sewing machine or a $100 scholarship from Dayton's in Minneapolis.

Miss Halfmann is a freshman at the University of Minnesota, won state fair trips for the past four years and was chosen for the 1963 court of honor in the dress revue. She was valedictorian of her graduating class and selected as Marshall county's outstanding junior leader last year.

Miss Shalde has carried 10 different projects in nine years of 4-H club work and made or remodeled 100 garments. A local share-the-fun winner and delegate to the state junior leadership contest, she was Norman county clothing exhibit champion for two years and the top student in the 1963 graduating class at Borup high school.

Explains Cause of Heart Ailments

Minnesota Heart Assn. Advises Regular Tests

Lots of people have them, even more people talk about them, but how many really know what a heart attack is?

Put very simply, a heart attack occurs when the heart muscle does not receive an adequate supply of oxygenated blood, according to the Minnesota Heart Association.

Like all pumps, the heart has valves and chambers but the actual pumping force comes from its thick muscular walls. When this muscle contracts, blood is squeezed out of the chambers and forced into the arteries to carry nourishing food and oxygen to every cell of the body. All body tissues must be continually nourished by the blood.

The most common cause of heart attacks is blockage of a coronary artery by atherosclerosis, a form of hardening of the arteries. In atherosclerosis, fatty sludge gums up the arteries and slows down the flow of blood. Deposits build up on artery walls and the stage is set for clot formation inside the vessel. Heart attacks caused by coronary atherosclerosis are the most important medical problem in the country today.

In some cases heart attacks may be "silent," that is, they are only detected when an electrocardiogram (EKG) is made. This is one good reason why Minnesota Heart Association advises everyone to have a complete physical examination at regular intervals. If the EKG shows that a "silent" heart attack has occurred, the physician can take steps to help prevent a more serious episode.

Who's Opal?

From the trenches of 1918 . . . 45 YEARS . . . to the [illegible]
Americans joined in service for GOD and COUNTRY

45 Years Ago . . .
Armistice Day
November 11, 1918

The battle was over, but out of the horror and devastation wrought by war there sprang an association dedicated to the perpetuation of the lofty principles for which that war was fought — Justice, Freedom, and Democracy.

TODAY . . .
Veterans Day
November 11, 1963

The American Legion — whose members are united by a grim bond forged in war and strengthened by memories of heroism, sacrifice, affection, and devotion — has become a dynamic symbol that patriotism continues to be a virtue . . . that service to country does not end when the military uniform is put aside . . . that there is still a sacred duty to exalt the precious heritage of American citizenship.

American Legion Weeks are observed from October 20 to November 11 (formerly Armistice Day, but now designated by the Congress as Veterans Day to honor veterans of all wars). During this period, veterans who served honorably during World War I, World War II, or the Korean War are extended a cordial invitation to become Legionnaires. Solving Unemployment

Why do we have an unemployment problem? One of the reasons certainly is the obvious fact that we have priced ourselves out of too many world markets. One example is our shipbuilding industry.

At one time shipbuilding was an important industry in our country and American shipbuilders competed in markets thruout the world. Then foreign competition pushed us out of the world market.

Our government subsidized the industry and gave it special protection in the domestic market. That helped for a while, but for a short while only. Our costs kept on climbing. Conditions have steadily worsened

Lloyd's Register shows that American shipbuilders now have no foreign market. Only 3½ percent of the world merchant ship construction is built by American shipbuilders, and all of these ships are sold in our own government-subsidized domestic market. Japan now builds 20 percent of the world's merchant ship production.

In this field the Japanese now have the advantage of lower costs resulting from mass production. They build ships like we build automobiles. Government subsidies are the kiss of death, and the sooner we realize this fact and rely once more on our capacity to produce and the importance of mass production, the sooner we will regain our position in the world as a nation of shipbuilders, among other things. That way will bring the real solution for the unemployment problem.

Borrowing for Nonessentials

Reports indicate that the government's program to aid depressed areas is running into an unexpected lack of enthusiasm in Congress. Criticism of the Area Redevelopment Administration, the organization that directs this program, is based largely on the wastefulness of the program and, in too many instances, its obvious purpose of being a vote-buying prrogram with taxpayers' dollars.

One critic charges that of the $191 million already spent by the ARA, "$57 million have been squandered on what only can be called fun and frolic; happiness projects like golf courses, bowling alleys, ski resorts, fishing camps, marine playgrounds, resort hotels and motels."

Such spending of course contributes to the campaign-year boom, but we should keep in mind that these projects are being paid for by borrowed dollars. These borrowed dollars are piling up into increased deficits, and we don't get rich by going into debt for non-essentials. The foolishness must be stopped.

Let's Have The Facts

Getting the foreign point of view, Bruce Phillips, reporting through the Southam News Service, tells his readers that Washington "is buzzing with talk of a scandal which has all the earmarks of a Profumo by the Patomac." Says Bruce Phillips, as featured by the Winnipeg Tribune:

"The case centres on the affairs of 35-year-old Robert G. (Bobby) Baker, a glib and suave operator who started as a Senate page boy and rose to the powerful position of secretary to the Democratic majority in the upper house.

"Baker resigned under fire a few weeks ago when he was named in a damage suit as a shareholder in a vending machine company, and charged with using his infuence to have the firm's equipment installed in defence plants.

"Since then, digging into his affairs has uncovered a story of rapid rise to wealth, and reports linking him with a pretty 27-year-old German housewife sent home in August at the FBI's request.

"The FBI says she was sent home for "immoral conduct," but West Germany sources here said the U.S. government implied there were security aspects as well. Bonn officials said her departure followed a quiet investigation by the FBI. They said she was not deported.

"These reports have persuaded the Senate's rules and administration committee to undertake the distasteful task of investigating activities in its own balliwick.

"Among the things that intrigue the committee is that Baker, on a $19,612-a-year salary, acquired a $125,000 home in the swank Spring Valley section of Washington, a $28,000 town house downtown, an interest in a motel in North Carolina and another at Ocean City, Maryland, which cost $1,250,000.

"Baker, on a recent credit application, is reported to have listed total assets worth $1,528,436, and, after subtracting his debts, pegging his net worth at $826,286."

Well, we can understand the jusification for secrecy at the start of a Senate Committee investigation of this kind, but whatever the facts are should be made available to the public. Maybe the facts are not as bad as they at first appear to be, but whatever he facts are, the public has a right to know.

Not Unreasonable

(Walter Barnes in Sleepy Eye Herald Dispatch)

It isn't often we agree with anything Nikita Khrushchev says or does but when he objects to paying $10 to $12 more per ton for transporting wheat in U. S. owned vessels than the price for which he could get it moved to his country on ships of almost any other country, we think he is on solid ground.

And, if telling the truth when he says Russia has no plans for an attempt to reach the moon but will watch us spend billions on the project, we think he is exhibiting excellent judgement.

The wily Russiam fox has learned many things by observing how they are done in the U. S. A. We might profitably do a little observing, ourselves. One can learn from his enemies as well as from his friends.

The Facts Are Favorable

Don Brown, editor of the Waseca Herald, commented recently on a public opinion letter in which a reader wondered if there was some truth in the rumors heard occasionally to the effect that the business interests of Waseca had deliberately discouraged the establishment in that community of new industries. He stated:

"We do not blame the writer of the Letter to the Edior in an adjoining column. The rumors mentioned in the letter have persisted for years and we are pleased to have the opportunity to clear them up. If anyone has information supporting the rumors we will be glad to have that, too. We will keep the name of any such person confidential but we will investigate thoroughly for we would like to either substantiate or scotch the rumors."

The Herald editor cited instances of organized effort to encourage new industries to locate in the community but he stated that in his 39 years as publisher he could recall no time when a new business or a new enterprise of any kind was discouraged from locaing in that community. He recalled that:

"Not too many years ago Editor Walter E. Barnes of the Sleepy Eye Herald-Dispatch ran an editorial on the subject of Sleepy Eye people keeping out industry. He could find no evidence to substantiate the reports and if we recollect correctly he commented that he found the rumors follow the same pattern in other communities."

Thief River Falls can be added to the list of communities where, according to the rumor mongers, industrial development has sometimes been discouraged. The facts do not justify such criticism. Here, and elsewhere too, we are sure, there have been instances when what appeared to be opportunity knocking at the door, proposals involving local investment or other concessions, were rejected following an investigation of all of the factors involved.

But several very important industries now operating here successfully, were encouraged to locate here and received liberal financial backing by public spirited citizens of the community. Based on our experience and opportunities for observation, extending over a period of nearly forty years, we are satisfied that the record here in Thief River Falls has been excellent. We have had some set-backs, and no doubt will have some more, but over a period of time we have made progress. The fact that 1963 will set a new high mark for construction in the city, indicates that we have survived a couple of bad years and are doing better than holding our own.

It Helps All Of Us

(A. J. Suel in the New Prague Times)

Private college education in Minnesota received a tremendous boost last week when Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Wallace, publishers of the Reader's Digest, who already contributed fifteen million dollars to Macalester College in St. Paul, announced that during the next ten years they will match dollar for dollar all other contributions made to Macalester up to a total of ten million dollars. That was good news to Minnesota taxpeyers because every student educated in private colleges relieves a cost burden in taxation. Mr. Wallace's father, the late Dr. James Wallace, was a long-time president of Macalester College.

Tough Fight Ahead

(Farmers Independent, Bagley)

The first gun in Hoffa's campaign will be fired in November when he sits down with an employer bargaining team that will represent most of the major trucking firms. This is an innovation, and one that is in a sense a first step toward making Hoffa's goal a reality. Negotiation with industry-wide representatives is a necessary prelude

It does not follow that the employers will necessarily bow to Hoffa's union demands. Various strategic moves in opposition to industrywide-conracts are open to them. But this is something the Teamster boss has been planning and talking about for a long time, and he will bring to hear all the pressure he can muster.

The city of Bartow, in Florida, has rejected a federal government proposal to contribute $1.5 million toward a capital improvemetn program involving new sewer lines, a new city hall and a community swimming pool. The people of Bartow propose to pay for these things themselves. Three cheers for Bartow for their courage in coming up with the right answer as to what is right and what is wrong. That which is corrupt offers temptations that are not easy to resist.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

On a day when the sea was rough, seven-year-old Billy asked his mother if he could go down to the beach for a swim.

"No, you can't" was his mother's emphatic reply. "I've told you a dozen times you can't go in the water today."

"But, Mommy," objected Billy, "Daddy's in the water!"

"That's different," replied his mother absently. "Daddy's insured."

WHEN LOOKING BACK ON PREDICTIONS from the city election on Tuesday, it seems that only a small portion of success can be salvaged. While the election of candidates selected was nearly 100 per cent correct, the vote totals were far off the predicted mark. Such is the danger of prognostication.

I predicted that Roy Jorgenson would poll the most votes in the alderman-at-large race with John McGinley a close second. McGinley upset the cart here by gaining 888 votes to 844 for Jorgenson. L. H. Thorstenson received 190 votes more than the less than 150 which I predicted by gaining a total of 340 votes.

While I predicted an upset in the first ward, Robert Carlson's decisive victory was far beyond expectations in spite of his intense campaign. I expected a margin of less than 25 votes while the actual total was a margin of 120 votes—more than 2 to 1 on the total count.

Mayor Orin Green did poll the most votes, as predicted, with Mrs. Morris Odegaard receiving slightly fewer for city treasurer, also as predicted. So much for the results of a rather poor showing.

We could add to the "have you noticed" department that there are now five "—sons" on the council. They are aldermen Robert Carlson, Arthur Christianson, Dr. A. E. Jacobson, Lowell Swenson and Roy Jorgenson. With a group of Scandinavians like that, throwing in a Wysoski and McGinley is a must for international harmony.

The turnout of voters was very light—but could have been worse under the circumstances. Only two contests, one of which involved only one ward, could not result in a spirited election. The increased interest in a contest was evidenced by the heavy turnout of voters in the first ward Tuesday.

This question crossed my desk recently enroute from the mail to the circular file: "If you knew the editor was going to tell the absolute truth in your obituary, what would you quit doing now?"

While we were on the topic of elections and such, the following clipping came to mind. It is worthy of repeating—and remembering.

WHERE IS AMERICA TODAY:

"All great civilizations in recorded history have fallen after about an average of 200 years. Each of these great civilizations has passed through the following steps of development and decay: from bondage to faith; from faith to courage; from courage to liberty; from liberty to abundance; from abundance to selfishness; from selfishness to complacency; from complacency to apathy; from apathy to dependence; from dependence back to bondage.

"Where would you place America in the above cycle? America is 187 years old and it is sincerely believed that America today can be placed in the category of abundance, selfishness, complacency or apathy. Shall we break the cycle of history, OR, shall we accept, without effort, the old adage, "History repeats itself."

Each person asks, "What can I, only one person, do?" The above responsibility rests with each person. Read and study; participate in the government on local, state and national levels; determine the truth; the truth will keep us free. Freedom and liberty are not free, but cost eternal vigilance, work and money."

Here are a couple of quotes from actual letters to a welfare department:

"This is my eighth child. What are you going to do about it?"

"I am forwardi ng my marriage certificate; and my three children; one of which is a mistake as you can see."

Capturing the contagious romantic aura of the sun-drenched Aegean island, luggage-laden Robert Preston and Tony Randall follow a bikini-clad lass in this scene typical of the comedy capers in "Island of Love," the Warner Bros. Technicolor film opening Thursday at the Falls Theatre. Georgia Moll and Walter Matthau co-star with Preston and Randall in the laugh-loaded comic tale of a con man and his accomplice who attempt to elude a New York gang lord by hiding on a Greek island.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing the VA Contact Office at the Fargo VA Center, Elm Street and 21st Avenue North, Fargo, North Dakota.

Q—My disability compensation was reduced when my daughter, who had graduated from high school, became 18 years of age a short time ago. She now plans to enter training as a beautician. Will my compensation be reinstated to the former amount?

A—Yes. Additional amounts for dependents are paid to veterans receiving 50 per cent or more disability compensation. This includes children over 18 and under 21 who are attending school. You should notify your VA regional office when your daughter returns to school and obtain the necessary forms and instructions.

Q—Is a peace-time veteran eligible for vocational training by the Veterans Administration?

A—Yes, provided that a disability which was suffered in the service prevents or interferes with his former vocation. See the nearest VA office for details.

Q—I will be discharged from service soon. As a veteran, will I be entitled to a pension?

A—Pension benefits are available to veterans who are totally and permanently disabled not due to their military service and who can meet certain income and estate limitations. They must also have had at least 90 days of active service, any part of which was served in wartime, and their discharge must be other than dishonorable.

Q—A newspaper story in August said 160,000 Korean Conflict veterans had not taken advantage of a special dividend for converting their GI term insurance to either a lower cost term policy or to a permanent form of insurance. How many did make the change by the deadline date, September 13?

A—About 48 per cent of the 160,000 converted their policies.

Q—As a so-called peacetime veteran, am I entitled to any service-connected disability compensation from the VA?

A—Yes, such disability compensation is generally 80 per cent of the wartime rates. However, if the disability occurred under extra-hazardous conditions or simulating wartime; i.e., service in Viet Nam, wartime rates apply.

Q—I bought a home with a GI loan in 1952. My wife is now confined to a wheel chair, and cannot maneuver steps to the basement or to the second floor. Can I sell this home and buy another one-story home with a GI loan?

A—Your wife's disability is compelling reason for selling your present home, but the VA must be released from all financial liability on the first property. Contact your VA Regional Office for details.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

The board of managers of the Two Rivers Watershed District have ordered the construction of a flood control project in the Middle Branch of the Two Rivers subwatershed according to H. Coungren, President of the Board of Managers.

The district of approximately 1060 square miles is located in Kittson and Roseau counties in northwestern Minnesota and is managed by five local citizens.

The flood control project, ordered at a recent board meeting, is sponsored by the Kittson County Soil and Water Conservation District, the Kittson Board of County Commissioners, the Village of Hallock and the Two Rivers Watershed District. Planning of the improvement program is being handled by the Soil Conservation Service in consultation with the above sponsors and a steering committee of local citizens living in the Middle Branch Watershed.

The project will consist of a conservation land treatment program and of structural measures. These structural works of improvement consist of 10½ miles of flood-way construction and channel improvement. Cost of the total project has been estimated at $139,000, of which the local cost for rights-of-ways, easements, and land is $[illegible],000.

Mr. C. Campbell, secretary, has announced that a published notice of bids for the proposed construction will be released by the Board soon. The Two Rivers Watershed District was established by the Minnesota Water Resources Board in 1957.

COMPARING notes on winning of awards at the Pennington county 4-H achievement banquet Wednesday evening are Mrs. Orlando Chervestad, Deer Park, left, and Mrs. Bert Kron, New Solum. In addition to being an adult leader for five years, Mrs. Chervestad accepted the record completion trophy which the club has won for six of the last seven years. Mrs. Kron was presented with a certificate signifying 10 years of service as an adult leader.

State Health Agency Cites '62 Statistics

Healthwise, the 1962 picture in Minnesota was bright in some spots, not so bright in others. The picture is portrayed in the recently published summary of 1962 vital statistics compiled by the Minnesota department of health.

Estimated population rose from 3,456,784 in 1961 to 3,492,716 in 1962. The 24,635 marriages (a rate of 7.1 per 1,000 population) compare to 24,123 (a rate of 7.0) in 1961. There were 4,495 divorces (a rate of 1.3) in 1962 compared to 4,175 divorces (a rate of 1.2) in 1961. June was the peak month for both marriages and divorces.

Thirty-seven percent of the brides were in the age group 15 to 19 years, but only 11 per cent of the grooms (2,839) were under 20 years of age. Forty per cent (10,039) of the brides and 50 per cent of the grooms (12,330) were between the ages of 20-24 years. Seventy-eight men and 31 women were more than 75 years of age.

The number of live births for Minnesota residents and the birth rate per 1,000 population decreased in 1962 for the third consecutive year. The crude birth rate was the lowest it has been since 1946, the end of World War II. There were 84,783 resident live births in Minnesota in 1962 for a rate of 24.3. The 1961 rate was 25.0, with 86,310 live births to Minnesota residents. A total of 85,017 babies were born in Minnesota in 1962, with 99.7 per cent of these births occurring in hospitals and institutions, compared to only 43.1 per cent in 1933.

The number and rate of illegitimate births continued to rise, and both reached an all-time high in 1962. The 2,965 illegitimate births occurring in Minnesota in 1962 compare to 2,737 in 1961 and 1,600 in 1951. The illegitimate rate of 34.9 per 1,000 live births in 1962 compared to 31.6 in 1961 and 20.0 in 1951.

The death rate for Minnesota residents of 9.1 per 1,000 estimated population was approximately the same as it has been for the past ten years. There was a total of 32,397 deaths in 1962, including 31,731 Minnesota residents, and 71.7 per cent of all deaths occurred in hospitals and institutions.

Of the 31,731 resident deaths, 18,386 were men, 13,345 were women. From birth to age 85 years, more men than women died. Of all persons who died in 1962, 66 per cent (21,175) were 65 years of age and over. Median age at death was 70.6 years for men, 74.6 years for women. Thirty-nine of the persons who died were 100 years of age and over. There were 1,610 persons between 90 and 100 years of age who died.

Potato Growers Accept Bid for New Laboratory

110x108 Building To Be Used for Study of Potatoes for Processing

Directors of the Red River Valley Potato Growers association recently accepted the bid of Consolidated Construction company of East Grand Forks for the construction of a new potato processing research laboratory. The 110 x108 building will be located directly behind the present research center buildings and will be built at a cost of 0113,263.

The processing area will be 60 x110 feet in size and contain six small, controlled temperature storages, two refrigerated storages, office and maintenance shop. Offices, analytical, food evaluation and food preparation laboratories and conference room will be in the office section of the building.

Installation of processing and laboratory equipment should be completed so that research can begin with the 1964 crop. The laboratory will be concerned with problems of growers producing potatoes for processing and emphasis will likely be placed in the beginning on the problems of growing potatoes for chipping.

Operation of the project will be a cooperative effort of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Minnesota and North Dakota experiment stations. The potato industry's contribution is the building itself.

Tallest TV Tower Finished in N. D.

2,063-foot Structure to Serve Pembina Company

The world's tallest television tower, looming more than 2,000 feet into the North Dakota sky, has been completed, and the transmitting antenna is on the site, it was announced today by Robert C. Lukkason, vice president and general manager of the Pembina Broadcasting company.

The 2,063 foot structure, located midway between Fargo and Grand Forks, was begun October 3, and the tower construction was completed November 1. Tower construction was done by the Kline Iron and Steel company of Columbia, South Carolina.

The tower is 312 feet taller than the nation's tallest TV tower, located at Knoxville, Tennessee. The North Dakota tower is almost 600 feet taller than the Empire State Building, acknowledged as the nation's tallest building, at 1,471 feet.

Upon completion, the Channel 11 operation will serve the combined operations of KTHI-TV (currently KEND-TV) in Fargo and Grand Forks.

KTHI-TV is one of six radio and television properties of the Polaris Corporation, a Milwaukee holding company. Other broadcast properties include KCND-TV in Pembina, N. Dakota, WTVW-TV in Evansville, Indiana, KXOA AM-FM in Sacramento, Calif. and WKYW in Louisville, Kentucky.

Knutson Speaks On Wednesday To Goodridge Lions

Harland Knutson, manager of Farmers Grain & Milling company, Thief River Falls, was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Goodridge Lions club on Wednesday, according to Ernest L. Swanson, secretary.

Knutson told the club that farmers who grew sunflowers and millet realized a good return from their crop this year. He added that unless more acres can be contracted for these specialty crops next year, the processing plant at Thief River Falls may be discontinued. More locally gown grain is needed so that seed does not have to be shipped in for processing.

Tells of Leukemia Research

U of M Research Scientist Speaks at Cancer Workshop

Lives of leukemia patients are now being prolonged by months and years as a result of research, according to Dr. William Krivit, research scientist at the University of Minnesota. Dr. Krivit spoke Tuesday at a cancer control workshop for nine northwestern Minnesota counties held in Thief River Falls.

Acute leukemia patients are now surviving up to five years, Dr. Krivit said. Fifteen years ago the average survival time was only three to four months. "There is no question that we will be accomplishing greater things in the future," he said.

Scientists working under grants from the American Cancer Society are carrying on intensive research into the cause of leukemia. "There are some concepts to back up the belief that leukemia is caused by a virus," Dr. Krivit added. "It has shown up in epidemic form, as was the case with five students in an Illinois high school who came down with the disease."

Investigators supported by the American Cancer Society are endeavoring to learn whether leukemia, which is a form of cancer, is a deficiency disease and to what extent the host factor—the differences between people, may be responsible.

While leukemia was once thought to be a disease of childhood, it takes the lives of many more adults than children. Chronic leukemia is slow and its symptoms include a feeling of weakness and fatigue over a number of months. The acute variety may make a person very ill in a few days.

Volunteers attending day-long sessions on education, public information and service to cancer patients, designed to enable them to accelerate their efforts in their own communities.

Conducting the workshop sessions were Leo Berglund, executive director of the Minnesota division; T. W. Ninnaminn, assistant director; Mrs. A. W. Crossley, St. Paul, volunteer activities chairman; Mrs. Olaf Carlford, Wadena, assistant chairman; William Fuller, area field representative; and Ken Unger, public information director.

Allan Torkelson of Thief River Falls, 1963 crusade chairman in Pennington county, opened the meeting. Registration was conducted by Mrs. Fred Sorensen, Mrs. Ed Nelson, Mrs. Charles Krause and Mrs. George Van Rooy.

Mayor Orin Green gave the welcome at the noon luncheon at which Rev. Keough Patnode of St. Bernard's Catholic church gave the invocation.

On School Construction . . .

School Board Has Progress Report

Reports from George Stockman, director of elementary education, and Robert Reeve and Oral Johnson, respective senior and junior high counselors, were presented at a meeting of the Thief River Falls board of education on Tuesday evening. New school construction progress was also reviewed.

Included in the summary were explanation of the tests given at various times, their use and value, compilation and examination of individual records and the role of the counselor in the life of the student.

Progress on the new school construction was reported as very satisfactory by a representative of the Hammel & Green architectural firm. It was noted that work is still being done on footings, service tunnels and other underground work. Samples of brick were shown and the board will view these and other samples prior to making a decision on brick at a special meeting November 26.

Also on November 26 new bids will be received for a fence around the new tennis court on the high school grounds. Low bidder on a previous bid letting advised the board that the firm would not do the work and the second low bidder also refused when contacted at the direction of the board.

It is impossible for the directors and management of the organization to know all the problems which members would like solved. Bergh-Blasus Vows Are Repeated at Gully Oct. 11

Darlene Lynnae Bergh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bergh of Trail, became the bride of Douglas G. Blasus of Bemidji on October 11 at Lund Lutheran church of Gully. The groom is the son of George Blasus of Bemidji and Delores Blasus of the West Coast.

Rev. Roland Sathre read the double-ring ritual in the presence of a large number of guests. Fall flowers provided the setting for the ceremony.

Nuptial music was provided by Cynthia Ray, who also played the accompaniment for Darane Hacket who sang, "O Perfect Love," and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride entered on the arm of her father to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March. Her bouffant floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta featured flowing lace panels in the front, and a scalloped neckline and long, tapered sleeves. Her fingertip veil fell from a tiara of seed pearls and she carried a white heart-shaped satin pillow covered with yellow roses and net. Her jewelry was a silver cross, a gift of the groom.

Her maid of honor was Arlene Gunderson. Judy Strande, cousin of the bride, and Patty Fardet, cousin of the groom, were bridesmaids. Flower girl was Ramona Emerson, the bride's cousin. All wore dresses of moss green velvet, matching veils and white gloves, and carried baskets of mums and other fall flowers in shades of yellow, orange and white.

Best man was Richard Sundval, while Kenneth Whiting and Jerry Ellefson were groomsmen. The groom wore a white dinner jacket and black trousers. Other men of the party wore green velvet jackets, black trousers, and black bow ties, with orange boutonnieres. Ronnie Emerson, the bride's cousin, was ring bearer. His attire was like that of the groom's other attendants. Ushering was handled by Rodney Emerson and Dale Thomton.

The bride's mother wore a beige dress with brown accents, and the groom's mother wore a beige dress with green accessories. Both wore corsages of yellow roses and carnations.

The reception was in the church parlors, the bridal table decorated with white bells, bittersweet, and autumn leaves. The three-tiered cake was topped with a bride and groom, with miniature attendants descending the tiers. It was trimmed also with yellow roses and white sugar bells, and was baked by the bride's mother.

Mrs. Earl Fardet, the groom's aunt, was hostess. Mrs. Sidney Strande cut the cake. Mrs. Ray Emerson and Mrs. Alfred Bergh, both aunts of the bride, poured. Marlyn Kirby served punch, and Karen Nelson and Mrs. Dale Thomton displayed the gifts and Sheryl Strande, cousin of the bride, registered the guests. Waitresses were Deane Gunderson, Sharon Solheim, and Shirley Woods. Kitchen hostesses were Mrs. Clarence Bergeson, Mrs. Bennie Carlson, Mrs. Clarence Bjerklie, Mrs. Carl Sweno, and Joyce Bjerklie.

The bride graduated from Oklee high school and is currently a student at Bemidji state college, from which the groom graduated. The groom is employed at Heathman's IGA Foodliners.

Following a brief honeymoon trip to Ontario, Canada, the Blasuses are now at home in Bemidji.

Public Notice!

Christmas Season is the time of the year when all of a sudden certain Non-Jewelers go into the Watch business. These same stores do not have trained personel that can advise you properly on the type of watch to buy nor do they have a service department equipped to service the watches they sell. Ask the clerk to shorten the band or regulate the watch. The answer "Sorry, we can't do that here." Ask him the difference between a pin lever watch and a jeweled lever watch and you can be sure he won't know the answer. Ask him the price — It's a bargain — he thinks! Yes, and soon as Christmas is over these same stores go out of the watch business.

Because of this competition of poorly made watches, the BULOVA Watch Company, the largest in the world, introduced the Caravelle Watch which is a 7-jewel watch for a reasonable price. $10.95 and up. This is no doubt the finest watch available for the price. PLUS, authorized Bulova dealers that maintain a service department with a licensed watchmaker to service the watches they sell.

If you mail order for a watch — you'll have to expect slow mail order for service too. Give us a chance. We'll show you where you can buy, from us for less. A proven quality watch. What we say it is — "It Is".

Think twice before you waste money on a "bargain watch." When you're in the market for a watch, why don't you see a watch expert — Your local Jeweler.

St. John Church Will Show Film

"A Letter to Nancy" On Two Programs on Sunday

Scheduled for two showings Sunday at St. John Lutheran church in Thief River Falls is the new feature-length color film, "A Letter to Nancy." A matinee has been scheduled for showing at 2:30 p. m., especially for families with smaller children. "A Letter to Nancy" is the first full-length film to be produced in full color by The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. Professionally produced in Hollywood on the stages of Paramount studios and Family films, the new 80-minute film portrays the dramatic conflict in the heart of a self-assured church member who is able to convince a jury at a trial for his defendant, but found it almost impossible to share his Christian conviction with a nine-year-old girl.

According to Rev. Paul R. Biegner and the EMV committee, St. John Lutheran is aiming at saturation coverage. Everyone is invited to attend the showings.

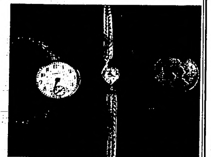
Registered Jewelers and Diamond Specialists

OWNER of Wangenstein's Jewelry in Thief River Falls, a business which has a 60-year history in the city, is Bart Wangenstein, pictured above. He began working in his father's store in 1920 and was made a partner in 1932 when the store was operated as A. A. Wangenstein & Son. A member of the American Gem Society, he has a special interest in the study of diamonds.



CONTRAST between the styles of today and a half century ago is shown in the above photo of ladies' styles in wrist watches. The watch at the left is about the size of a half-dollar and nearly one-half inch thick. The modern time-piece at center indicates the reduction in size made possible by advances in making of precision parts. Compare sizes with the half-dollar pictured at right.

60-Year Business By Wangenstein's Noted This Week

Sixty years in the jewelry business in Thief River Falls is being noted by the Wangenstein family this week with the start of an anniversary sale. Three generations of the family have operated the business here with two generations currently involved in operation of the store.

It was in 1903 that Andrew A. Wangenstein moved to this city from Park River, N. D., and opened a store in the 200 block of La-Bree avenue south. There was only one brick building in the city at that time.

Bart Wangenstein, the present store owner, began working with his father in 1902 after attending watchmaker's school at Bradley university. In 1928 the store was moved to its present location, operating as A. A. Wangenstein & Son after Bart was made a partner in 1932.

In 1935 Bart began a gemology course and received his registered jeweler rating in 1937 from the American Gem Society. In 1937 the store was named the official railroad watch inspector for the Soo Line, a designation it has at the present time.

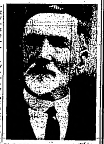
Bart was married to Dorothy Holm of Roseau in 1924 and they have two children actively engaged in operation of the business. They include a daughter, Mrs. Doug (Marge) Tegtmeier, and a son, Robert. Marge completed her registered jeweler course in 1950 and is one of relatively few women in the United States to hold that title. Another daughter, Mrs. Gerald Opperman, lives in Minneapolis.

Following a fire in 1935, the store was remodeled and stock expanded. For the past 30 years the store has employed one or two full-time watchmakers and maintained a full service department.

In the gemology field, Wangenstein has been fascinated primarily by diamonds. The extreme high brilliancy, hardness and color dispersal of light into all colors of the spectrum make the diamond most interesting of all stones. While the main source of diamonds is Africa, Wangenstein said, they have been found in the United States.

Wangenstein was a state director of the Minnesota Retail Jeweler's association for two years, has served on the nominating committee of the Minnesota Watchmakers association and is a member of the American Gem Society.

He is a past president and secretary of the Rotary club in this city, a member of Trinity Lutheran church, Chamber of Commerce, Elks and Masonic lodges. Interested in skating for many years, he was president of a figure skating club organized in the city.



FOUNDER of Wangenstein's Jewelry in Thief River Falls was A. A. Wangenstein. He moved to Thief River Falls in 1903 from Park River, N.D., where he had been in the jewelry business for 15 years. He was one of the original watch inspectors for the Soo Line railroad.

Rural Grygla Enterprise

Dirks' Hunter's Lodge Is Deer Hunters Haven

by Marvin Lundin
City Editor

Catering to the tastes of deer hunters who want hearty meals and a place to sleep, Dirks' Hunter's Lodge eight miles east of Grygla is now in its fourth year of operation. Many are the acquaintances made and hunting exploits told in the remodeled Carmel store which serves as the main lodge.

Mrs. Byron Dirks, the former Viola Woods, who has lived in the Grygla area since she was 15 years old, is the general manager of the November enterprise. The lodge now contains room for 33 hunters in addition to those who use house trailers and base their operations from the Dirks farm.

"You couldn't have found a parking space in the yard Satuday," Dirks comented on the opening weekend. "We had 21 hunters here then but some of them had to get back to work after the weekend. I expect most of them will be back next weekend though, especially if we get some snow."

Hunting success wasn't especially good this year, although two parties of three and four hunters from Litchfield filled their tags on Sunday and Monday respectively. Included in the latter group were Roy Mortenson and Ernest Miller who have hunted from the lodge since it opened in 1960. Also in their party were Shorty Nystrom and Reuben Carlson. Other parties reported only partial success.

The Mortenson—Miller party headquartered in one end of the lodge, doing their own cooking and kitchen work but taking advantage of the lodge fellowship. Remodeling of the lodge attic this summer expanded the space to accommodate 33 persons. Most of them eat their meals in the kitchen and have their daily lunches packed by Mrs. Dirks.

Room and Board

A charge of $5 per day includes room and board at the hunting headquarters. Board includes a breakfast of pancakes, bacon, eggs and coffee; a lunch consisting of three sandwiches (usually homemade buns), cookies and coffee; and a supper of two kinds of meat, potatoes and gravy, vegetables, pickles, bread, butter, coffee and dessert.

Handling the cooking and cleaning chores alone, Mrs. Dirks puts in a 20-hour day during the hunting season. After serving the evening meal and doing the huge pile of dishes, she prepares the lunches for the following day. At 4 a. m. she rises to make breakfast, priding herself on having the hunters fed and out of the lodge by 5:30 a. m.

Hunters so far this year have come from Gary, Cokato, Cambridge, Lake Park, Austin and Cass Lake. In previous years there have been hunters staying at the lodge from Hitterdal, East Grand Forks, Osseo, Maple Lake, Spicer and Bagley in addition to the towns mentioned previously. All of them have learned of the lodge from their friends who have hunted in the Grygla area in previous years.

"We started coming here when we got fouled up in 1960 and couldn't find a place to stay," stated Roy Mortenson of Litchfield. "People in Grygla suggested that we come out here to see if the Dirks could put us up and we have been coming back every year since." In 1960 there were only four hunters at the lodge during the season, but the word of good meals and reasonable rates has spread rapidly.

Part of Farm Operation

Dirks' Hunter's Lodge is located on a quarter section of land where the Dirks family raises a few milk cows, some beef cattle, a number of hogs, sheep and poultry. Mrs. Dirks also tends a large garden each year and does a considerable amount of home canning of the garden produce.

In addition to the garden and canning, Mrs. Dirks kept busy this summer making quilts for the beds in the lodge. She made eight piecework quilts this summer and generally spends January and February weaving rugs on the loom she purchased two years ago. Last winter she made over 200 rugs which were sold in area communities.

Mrs. Dirks has a variety of interests, including taxidermy which she worked on prior to the time her son Martin arrived on the scene seven years ago. "I gave it up then because you have to use so many poisons and I didn't want them around with a youngster in the house." Two deer heads and a hawk still decorate the lodge as tribute to her efforts.

With the hunters at the lodge usually tired after a full day of hunting, social activities in the evening are usually confined to occasional card games and swapping stories of previous hunting trips. A wealth of memories are recalled as each hunter's story brings to the mind of another a similar or contrasting experience. This phase of the stay at the lodge, most of the hunters will agree, is a large part of the enjoyment of the hunt.

Every year may not find the curing rack filled with deer at the Dirks lodge, but as long as there is food in the kitchen, fire in the stove and adventure in the heart, the deer season for hunters there will be a success.

SUCCESS greeted these three hunters from Litchfield at Dirk's Hunter's Lodge eight miles east of Grygla this weekend. Clarence Hoekstra, Leo Snegosky and Ernie Lee are pictured with their three deer (the two at left were bagged by another Litchfield party) prior to leaving the lodge on Monday morning. Success for the hunters this year ranged from good to not-so-bad to not-so-good to poor. One Lake Park hunter on post talked a member of his party out of shooting " . . . a tree stump that's been there for the whole drive" just before the "stump" bounded across the road and disappeared in the brush.

HUNTER'S LODGE operated by Mr. & Mrs. Byron Dirks near Grygla is the former Carmel store building which has been converted to provide a hunting headquarters for a number of visiting hunters. With remodeling done this summer, the lodge has room for 33 hunters in the lodge and one other building used for housing. From a start with only four hunters in 1960, the lodge has grown to its present size and housed 25 hunters during the opening weekend this year.

Still in the Family

A couple of weeks ago Milt Reierson, a member of the KTRF bowling team of the Monday night Service league, rolled games of 192-246-233, for a 671-pin aggregate. This figure set a season's record.

That mark was valid until last Monday night when Gordy Reierson, Milt's older brother, the anchor man on the KTRF squad, chalked up games of 187-254-242 for a 683-pin aggregate. Gordy set a record, but he at least kept the record in the family.

And on Monday night of this week, in a Service league match against the Bob's Place squad of Newfolden, Evonne Olson of the Land O'Lakes team bowled a 268-pin. This mark is a new high single game score for the season.

Evonne, or Ole as he is more commonly called, opened this record-breaking game with a spare, then laid in eight strikes in a row, marked up another spare and finished with a strike. That 268-pin total bested the old mark of 263 pins set by Ralph (Bud) Foster.

Another Member

The local "wetback" club, comprised of hunters who have been "dunked" while out hunting, added a member this past week when Jerry Leedahl was initiated.

Jerry, who at one time was a claimant to the broadjumping championship of northern Walsh county in North Dakota, joined the "wetbackers" on Sunday. Jerry, along with John Moum, was hunting pheasants in the slough country near Barnesville. After moving along a ditch bank, and flushing a pheasant now and then, the two hunters came to a dead end. Rather than back track, and noting that the ditch was only six or seven feet wide, Jerry, acting younger than his years, decided to make the leap. He was a foot short, and to his surprise the ditch bank was nearly perpendicular. He went into the water up to his chest and he was fortunate to grab hold of some brush roots and pull himself out of the water. He claims that he never did touch bottom.

He Wasn't Lost

Jimmy Terrian received considerable publicity about being lost overnight in the Agassiz Game Refuge, but he wasn't lost. The searchers, who were notified late Sunday night that Jim had not returned from a hunting trip into the Refuge, found him on Monday morning seated in his car.

The manner in which the "lost" incident developed was that Jim's watch had stopped. It was on Sunday afternoon that he found fresh deer sign, and looking at his watch he noted that he had several hours before sunset. He trailed the deer into some dense woods, and the Refuge does have some thick cover. With surprising suddenness it became dark, and then looking at his watch he realized that it had stopped.

Due to the heavy overcast skies it was a pitch-black night, and Jimmy, who is an experienced camper, decided that rather than risk the breaking of a leg while scrambling through the woods, or having an eye flicked out by a twig, he would "sit out" the night.

He made a lean-to out of branches, and fashioned a bed of willow twigboughs and so passed a "comfortable" night. With the first gleam of dawn, he trekked back to his car, and was there when the searching party arrived. He appreciated the fact that a searching party had been organized to look for him, but he hadn't been lost. The belief was that when Jim did not arrive at his car on Sunday evening that he, Jim, had met with an accident. It was fortunate it was only a watch-spring that was broken, and that Jim is none the worse for his "night out".

Gay and his Wolf

Gay Warnecke, hunting with Milan and Loren Borsheim, his long-time hunting companions, shot a wolf on Saturday. The trio have, or had, their camp northeast of Fourtown, about fifteen miles northeast.

Gay, who has yet to get his deer, made the shot on the wolf early on Saturday. And a fine animal it was, weighing about 75 pounds dressed. A warden, who checked the animal, said that it was a young wolf, perhaps two years old. The warden added that a grown wolf can "do away with" a deer a week, and that when the wolf pack in the Beltrami Island and Red Lake refuges becomes greater than twenty, it's time to send in the trappers.

BIG BUCK trophies are not common among deer hunting parties, although a certain number of large deer is collected each year. Victor Kvikstad of Thief River Falls (right), hunting with Floyd Ball of this city, dropped this large deer with a single slug from a 20-gauge shotgun at a distance of about 60 yards while hunting about six miles from Grygla. The deer had a nicely proprotioned rack of antlers, and field-dressed at 250 pounds.

Plans Developing for Mississippi Parkway

The Mississippi River Parkway commission of Minnesota is stepping up activities to assure the best use of the state's scenic and recreational resources along the route of the parkway in Minnesota it was announced today.

James W. Clark, North St. Paul, has been named coordinator to work with the state outdoor recreation resources committee. He will attend all meetings of the committee to assure coordination of the two organizations. Clark is director of industrial and business services for the Minnesota department of business development.

Harold Olson, St. Paul, has been appointed to the newly created post of executive secretary of the Minnesota parkway commission. He has been involved in planning of the Great River Road since its inception in 1938, and has been secretary of the national parkway commission since 1956. He just recently retired as a staff assistant in the Minnesota Highway Department.

Olson's main job will be scheduling meetings with the county boards of the 24 counties adjacent to the parkway route, to develop a program of cooperation in acquisition of scenic easements, historic sites, roadside parking areas and recreational areas. He also will work on determining the feasibility of these counties retaining a 250-foot construction strip with a 300 foot scenic easement on all tax delinquent lands for the planned parkway. This would ease the burden of the cost for constructing the Great River Road.

The commission also reported that $100,000 in federal funds granted for the Great River Road has been programmed by the Minnesota Highway Department for the acquisition of scenic easements historic sites, roadside parks and recreational areas along the 50 mile section from the Iowa border on THS 27 and 61 up to Winona.

In other action, the commission announced that:

Olson and U. W. Hella, director of state parks, will meet with Clarence Prout, director of the state forestry division, to consider the forest areas to be acquired under a $300,000 appropriation from the Natural Resources Commission for land within Minnesota's Hardwood Memorial Forest, extending along the Great River Road from Hastings to the Iowa border.

An agreement has been made between Minnesota and the Province of Manitoba for construction of the section of the parkway from the Minnesota border to the Northwest Inlet, a distance of 32 miles.

A resolution was passed to determine the progress to date of the proposed bill in Congress that would provide the $1,500,000 as Minnesota's share of the cost of the above project. The Minnesota state legislature had already approved the action.

Inspection Teams to Visit Road Jobs

New System to Go Into Effect Early Next Year

Starting in the spring of 1964 the Minnesota highway department will institute a new and additional inspection service in its operations—roving teams of inspectors which will visit projects unannounced and make a completed check and report to the department, it is announced by Commissioner James C. Marshall.

The department expects to launch this program with three such review teams at first, each team composed of one or two engineers. Members of the teams will be project engineers from the various highway districts who will serve for about a year on their traveling assignments.

This additional inspection service is supplementary to other routine inspection but more inclusive.

The highway department will select at random various projects of various types and send the review teams unannounced, instructed to probe every aspect of the project under inspection and to report to the deputy chief engineer for operations in the St. Paul central offices. The report will also go to the commissioner of highways and eventually to the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads. The project engineers will rotate in this service.

The task of the inspectors will be to examine every phase of the assigned project operations—construction methods, materials, records, estimates, equipment and methods of testing.

Conferences will be held with the district engineers or their representatives so that adjustments in deficient areas can be made.

A schedule is expected to be worked out which will include a number of county federal aid secondary projects as well as state supervised projects.

Winter Corrosion of Cars by Salt Studied

Practically every motorist worries about what damage will be done to his car by driving in winter when chemicals are applied to highways and streets. The corrosive effects of salt on unprotected metal are familiar.

Advice was sought of research men in the Minnesota highway department who are responsible for the department's recommendations on chemical formulas used on state highway systems.

First of all, they point out, Minnesota has found—through a series of experiments and tests conducted over a period with various mixtures of chemicals at various temperatures—that a mixture of one-third calcium chloride to two-thirds sodium chloride (rock salt) appears to be the best all-around mixture when considering storage, ice removal action and economy. If sand is used on highways it is to provide traction. In itself, sand has no apparent corrosive action on metal.

The use of chemicals and abrasive materials in Minnesota ice and snow control varies widely by both geographical area and traffic conditions.

The prime objective of the highway department is to keep the highways open and safe.

The part of the winter driving problem that belongs to the motorist is to keep his car in a condition to avoid corrosion. There is no known way at present that the department can treat the roads and at the same time assure the motorist that his car is safe from corrosion, unless the driver does it for himself.

The best ways to keep a car from corroding are:

Wash the car frequently.

Wash it frequently enought to seal the paint and plating.

Touch up paint scratches and chips immediately.

Have undercoating checked periodically and breaks recoated.

Flush off packed mud and snow from underside of car, body and fenders.

If possible, store car in a dry garage.

Highway Dept. Is Testing Diagonal Joints on Paving

The first diagonal joints on concrete pavement in Minnesota have been built into a section of TH 63 at Stewartville, the Minnesota Highway Department reports.

An experimental project, the joints were placed diagonally in the pavement with a four-foot offset so that only one wheel of the vehicle at a time passes over the joint.

Besides giving a smoother ride, the diagonal joints should reduce joint faulting or breakdown by lessening vehicle impact. If successful, the wide use of diagonal joints on new concrete road surfaces, by maintaining a good surface condition longer, would eventually reduce maintenance costs.

However, even if the new joints live up to the expectations of highway officials it will be several years before long stretches of highway have diagonal joints.

Cold Cures Don't Work, Say Medics

Medical Assn. Reports Rest Is Best Remedy

Forget about those fad cold cures—you'll only lose your money, not your cold, according to the Minnesota State Medical association.

Each year 83 per cent of all Americans catch colds and spend more than $300 million on cold and cough "remedies" for relief. All this in spite of the fact that there is no known drug which will cure a cold.

Scientists recently announced the development of the first experimental vaccine against one of the common cold viruses, with the warning it would be years before it may be effective. The promoters of cold "remedies" are not so cautious. Although no cold remedy can do anything more than provide temporary relief of certain cold symptoms, extravagant claims are made. Many do not even relieve symptoms effectively; and all cold remedies, when improperly used, can mask serious illness.

Painkillers, fever reducers, antihistamines, decongestants, vitamin supplements, antibiotics, gargles and ointments are all worthwhile in curing other ailments. They do little, if anything, to cure the common cold, which is a nose and throat infection caused by an unknown number of viruses.

The cold remedy racket owes much of its success to the fact that the cold is a self-limiting disease. "Treat a cold and it lasts seven days; leave it alone and it lasts a week," goes the old saying.

The best remedy for a cold is "Grandma's Cure": stay home and go to bed. A cold is an illness and requires rest. Some of your aches and pains may be relieved by aspirin.

Great achievements are never won the easy way, but only through rigorous self-control. The great pianist Paderewski summed up a life of un-remitting effort in this remark: "Before I was master, I was slave."

Why More Poison?

James Reston, writing for the New York Times Service, supports Governor Rockefeller as a national hero for saving the Republican party from conservative control. That is an odd answer for what presumably is an effort by the conservatives to restore good management at the national level of our government.

James Reston would save our country from irresponsible liberalism by irresponsible liberalism under a different name. We can see no justification for replacing John Kennedy by another liberal. It is our thinking that he should be replaced by a conservative because under irresponsible liberal leadership we have drifted far too far to the left and, as a result, our economy is dangerously sick. If we are convinced that the solution to our economic ills is more of the poison that has weakened us then why oppose the Kennedy administration? That is the tragic weakness of the Rockefeller approach. His solution for our difficulties is bigger doses of the drugs that have sapped our strength.

There is a need for two parties in our country. One party should be liberal and one should be conservative. There is a need for both, but too much of either of them would be bad. At this stage we are suffering from too many years of liberalism. Our steadily increasing national debt and our forty-cent dollar should cause all reasonable people to be not only concerned but alarmed. We already have drifted too far to the left and we do not need more of the medicine that made us sick.

Ambitious Leaders

We share in the apprehension of those who have no confidence in the integrity of Nikita Khrushchev. He is not the type of person we would want to be associated with in a partnership. He is not truthful. He is tricky. He is not to be trusted.

But Khrushchev is not Russia. When we think of Russia we must of course think of Khrushchev, and the group he represents. But when we think of Russia, we must also think of the Russian people, and based on what we have read about them and their background, and what little we have seen of them, we must admit that we are inclined to like them.

And in dealing with the Russians in such matters, for instance as trading with them, we should not limit our thinking to Khrushchev alone. We should be thinking in terms of the Russian people. Khrushchev is on his way out. His term of leadership is limited. We should hope that his successor may be a person in whom we will have more confidence.

We are sure the people of Russia do not want war any more than do the people of our country. They want to live and be happy, just as we do. Unfortunately, neither here nor there, are these matters determined by the wishes of the masses.

Our young and very ambitious Mr. K. in Washington may be a much more serious threat to our liberties than is the retiring Mr. K. in Moscow. There is some reason to believe that both of them have been guided by visions of world conquest. They both are Caesars at heart.

Let's try to get on better terms with the people of other countries. Most of our difficulties have been brought upon us, not by bad people but by bad leaders.

Honesty Punished?

Otto F. Otepka was a government employee for 27 years until he was fired recently by Secretary of State Dean Rusk for making an honest report to a Senate Internal Security Committee, according to Richard Wilson, Chief of the Minneapolis Tribune's Washington Bureau. Wilson states:

"Otepka was fired for telling the truth to the Senate Internal Security Committee on sloppy and tricky practices in the enforcement of personnel security regulations in the State Department. He undercut his superiors, the unforgivable sin of federal bureaucracy.

"This he did under the protection of U. S. Code, title 5, paragraph 652 (D) which states that the "right" of a civil service employe to give information to Congress "shall not be denied or interfered with."

"Without guile. Otepka frankly and openly and in defiance of his superiors co-operated with counsel for the Internal Security Committee to furnish further support for the committee's conclusion that the enforcement of personnel security in the State Department is lax and dangerous.

"The conclusion cannot be escaped that the worst offense this rational and careful employee committed was to have been connected with the more stictly applied security regulations of the past. He was connected with former officials whose memory is hated in some State Department quarters. And when he saw laxity and trickiness developing in personnel security he would not be stilled by any fear of losing his job or the condemnation of his superiors."

According to Wilson there is little chance for this employee to get a fair hearing on his alleged misconduct. The procedure will be a "meaningless process of appeal in which Rusk and President Kennedy will pass on their own decisions." Wilson concludes:

"The Otepka case will probably never become a flaming public issue. This is too bad, because it so aptly illustrates the Kennedy administration technique of diversion and counteraction when it comes under supported criticism. This was the case in the Billie Sol Estes scandal, in the TFX investigation, in the resignation of Navy Secretary Korth, and now once again when a strong case has been made against the personnel security policies of the State Department."

The Mess in Washington

Senate leaders of both parties were given a verbal spanking by one of the members, Senator Thomas J. Dodd, Connecticut Democrat. As reported by Richard L. Strout in the Christian Science Monitor, Senator Dodd called attention to the lack of progress in acting on important measures and blamed the lack of progress to poor Senate leadership, naming majority leader, Mike Mansfield, and including the Republican leadership. He stated:

"What I have said has been said in the cloakroom by other senators many times. . .We are unhappy with our present leadership. . .The Senate has been dragging and lagging . . ." This will be construed as a criticism of the majority leader (Mr. Mansfield) It is meant to be. It is a criticism of him. I do not think he is leading the Senate as he should; we should have leadership; until we do we shall go on dribbling our way through the legislative session. . .The people are unhappy and my mail reveals it."

Senator Dodd no doubt offended some of his colleagues but this verbal spanking was appreciated by many of the folks back home who wonder why so little is being accomplished by the present Congress. Most of the bills that have been introduced are relatively unimportant. The bills that are really important are highly controversial and in general unpopular.

Unfortunately the administration has sponsored measures that Congress does not favor, and this fact has contributed to the delay. Too many of the members do not want to vote against the adminisration and are hopeful that by the delay method they may not be required to vote at all. Washingon is in a mess.

Rickover and Education

Vice Admiral Hyman G. Rickover is well known as a leading critic of our system of education. But he cannot be written off as a crackpot who knows not whereof he speaks. Now he has written a book that covers the subject quite thoroughly, and this book should be a must for all who have a sincere interest in the purposes of education. Unfortunately the book will not be generally recognized as authoritative by the educators. Of school administrators he says:

"One way or another, nearly all our educational problems stem from the fact that few of the men who direct the enterprise are scholars or teachers: Indeed, they barely are at home in the world of ideas. Few of them have a clear-cut educational philosophy."

A United Press International report on the book in the Sunday St. Paul Pioneer Press pointed up some of the highlights in the Rickover recommendation according to this report he favored government grants as a means of raising national standards in education by making acceptance of standards and inspection to check on standards a condition for awarding grants. He favors:

"National examinations leading to national diplomas, designed to permit great variety in selection of test subjects yet clear-cut indication on the diplomas of the type of examination taken and passed."

That we like. Here in Minnesota a high school diploma has become merely a certificate of attendance which admits what we laughingly refer to as the student to any of out state colleges. And a diploma from the state college is assured to any student who has a good attendance record. From this group we get our next crop of teachers, and from there on degrees are a dime a dozen.

So we like the Rickover idea of national examinations, and at the state level we are sure our standards of education would be raised to a much higher level if we went back to the old system of state board examinations. We like them not only because they established reasonable standards of qualification among the students but also among the so-called teachers. As we recall it, the state board examinations worried the teachers more than they worried the students.

Interesting Opinions . . .

Disapproval occupies the greater part of our conversation. And if nothing were left of which to disapprove, the salt of life would lose its savor.

High School League Explains Operation On All Three Levels

by State Board of Control

In the previous article we have pointed out that athletics were not absorbed into the schools' programs through choice, but they were accepted to remedy and avoid chaotic conditions that forbode great harm to school systems. Since those early days, high school administrators and coaches have worked tirelessly in every community and on state and national levels to make high school athletics a constructive force in their schools.

Most educators today feel athletics have achieved stature and that they have unlimited potential for benefit to students and schools and if properly directed, those values are achieved.

Most educators would also feel that the potentials for harm to students and schools are ever present but that proper community attitudes, administrative leadership and coaches wih sound educational philosophies can eliminate the risks. Believing as they do, school officials have taken steps for regulation and control, which is the subject of this article.

Every public high school of the state of Minnesota has applied for membership in the Minnesota State High School league. At the time of its joining, the school board indicated a willingness to abide by the rules and participate in the rule-making procedure.

Should the school feel it is to its advantage to withdraw later, it has that privilege. Such a school would not be penalized in any way and could continue to participate against member schools in individual contests. It would not be eligible for tournaments or meets open to member schools or for the services schools have asked the league to provide.

Local Competition

All dual contests and special tournaments are entirely and completely under the control of the local school board, school officials and coaches. Participants must, of course, adhere to the standards (rules) established by the member schools such as student eligibility rules, limitations as to number of games, beginning and ending of the seasons of training, employment of game officials, etc. Ninety to 95 per cent of the games and all the practice time falls in this category, so the local program and how it is conducted is the major factor in the experience and training of youth.

League Organization

The league has three levels of competition and three levels of control. They consist of the district, region and state.

District Organization

The 491 member schools are assigned to 32 districts. The local school is assigned to District 31.

The governing body of the district consists of three school administrators elected by the members from its own member schools. The district committee for this school year consists of Supt. David Brown, Goodridge, president; Orne Miller, East Grand Forks, secretary; and George Glum, Plummer, director.

The league rules require that the district call a meeting each year before October 15. Attendance at the meeting normally consists of the superintendent, principal, athletic director, coach of various sports and speech instructor from each member school. The purpose of the meeting is to:

1. Plan the district activities for the year;
2. Elect the third member of the district committee as one member retires each year; and
3. Appoint a regional representative or authorize the district committee to do so.

The district committee is then empowered to administer the tournaments, meets and activities decided upon by the district membership.

Regional Organization

Four districts make up each region, making a total of eight regions in the entire state. Region 8 consists of districts 29, 30, 31 and 32 of which the local school is a member.

The regional committee of four consists of one elected or appointed school administrator from each district. They are responsible to their respective districts for the proper conduct of the regional tournaments and meets. Supt. David Brown is District 31 representative on the Region 8 committee during the 1963-64 school year.

Board of Control

School officials of each of the eight regions elect one of their members to serve on the board of control. The eight elected representatives together with a director from the Minnesota School Boards association, and the commissioner of education of the state of Minnesota, constitutes the governing board.

The board of control's administrative and executive functions are determined by the membership and specified in the league constitution. It does not have legislative authority. Legislative authority rests solely in the representative assembly.

The board of control is responsible for such things as: (1) administering state tournaments and meets; (2) interpreting rules; (3) enforcing rules; (4) establishing and operating the league office; and (5) issuing of publications, such as handbooks, monthly bulletins, etc.

The board of control representative for Region 8 is Supt. Louis Allen of Greenbush.

Representative Assembly

The legislative body, consisting of 32 members, one appointed by each of the districts of the league, meets twice each year—once in December and again in March.

Every member school may submit amendments or resolutions for the consideration of the assembly. This privelege is also extended to each of the district committees, regional committees and to the board of control. All proposals submitted by December 1 of each year are published in the monthly bulletin for January. This gives all schools three months to study their proposals. Most delegates from each district vote in accordance with the expressed wishes of their own membership.

At the annual March meeting the representative assembly acts on the legislative proposals. If two-thirds of the delegates vote in favor of an amendment, the proposal becomes a part of the constitution or eligibility bylaws. If less than two-thirds vote in favor, the proposal is lost. Proposals adopted are thereafter enforced by the board of control and all member schools.

The league often receives criticism for its rules. This is amazing in that the rules originate directly with the schools and must be adopted by an overwhelming majority. This is not to leave the impression every school official agrees with every rule, but one cannot conceive of a more democratic way of establishing the rules by persons that would seem to best understand the needs of students and schools.

Rarely do schools or school officials complain about a rule that has been enforced. Most often it is someone that has been penalized or someone whose special interests have been curtailed.

Spacecraft to Be in Crookston Show

To Be Displayed at Area Products Show Dec. 6-8

Congressman Odin Langen said today he is pleased that the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has agreed to supply a full-scale mock-up of the Project Mercury Spacecraft for the 6th annual Area Products Show in Crookston December 6 through 8.

Langen, who worked with this year's Area Products Show chairman Rudy Gustafson in obtaining the display for the show, said that "This will provide an expellent opportunity for northwestern Minnesota people to inspect at close range the type of spacecraft that has made history. The display, including the capsule and escape tower, will be 27 feet high, and steps will be provided so that the children can climb up and look into the capsule."

This is the first time that the Project Mercury Spacecraft has been displayed in the area. The capsule will be in the main Winter Shows building during its Crookston stay.

I tell a few war stories — just like the rest. The censorship of good taste and modesty makes my experiences pretty drab. But Jerry thrills to them. He's proud of his Dad's Purple Heart!

My son would be amazed if I were to tell him the stories we never tell; our thoughts as we hit the beach . . . what it was like in those jungles . . . what war does to its dead . . . and its living.

And in other ways Jerry would be amazed; for he doesn't know me as a man who prays often. He can't realize the depth of my Faith. He has never met the brave chaplain who brought me in when I was hit.

I'll never tell Jerry all of it. I don't think God wants me to!

I pray that Jerry's may be a different world. I want him to learn day by day, step by step, what his religion will mean to him!

That's why we're a church-going family!

Election Judges Will Get Training Before '64 Primary Election

Plans are under way to train election judges before the 1964 primary election to be sure correct procedures are followed and to try to avoid the human errors turned up during the governorship recount trial.

As an outgrowth of the trial, the legislature enacted a law requiring that county auditors call municipal, village and township clerks and the chairman of election judges in each county together before the primary election to instruct them in election procedures.

This would require training sessions for between 2,500 and 3,000 persons from communities and precincts using paper ballots. Municipal clerks in communities using voting machines will continue to provide instruction for election judges.

Plans are under way in the office of Secretary of State Joseph Donovan to prepare for training judges from paper ballot precincts. Donovan is working with the County Auditors Ass'n., headed by C. W. Rodekuhr, Pennington county auditor. A conference on the matter is scheduled for Feb. 6, when county officers hold their annual meeting in Minneapolis.

Tentative plans call for a series of seven or eight regional meetings around the state early in August to get the ball rolling.

Meetings will be held in county seats. To each will be invited municipal clerks, and election judge chairmen from around the county, plus county auditors from neighboring counties.

A representative of the secretary of state's office — usually either Forrest Talbott, assistant secretary of state, or Edward Howe, election procedures adviser — will conduct training courses.

The auditors present will later conduct similar training courses in their counties, probably late in August so election judges can pick up their election supplies.

Minnesota Assn. for Mental Health Meets Nov. 15-16

Civil rights of the mentally ill and comprehensive mental health planning will be under discussion at the eighth annual meeting of the Minnesota Association for Mental Health, November 15 and 16 at Capp Towers Motor Hotel, Minneapolis. Area representatives of Associations for Mental Health and interested residents will attend. All meetings are open to the public and reservations may be made at the Association office, 1645 Hennepin Avenue, Minneapolis.

Richard Janopaul, Chicago, co-director of the American Bar Foundation study of "The Mentally Ill and the Law," will be speaker at the annual banquet, at 6:30 p. m., November 15. He will discuss "Civil Rights of the Mentally Ill".

Second important field to be discussed at the meeting will be comprehensive mental health planning and the role of county associations for mental health, citizens and voluntary agencies in this program.

Proceeds from the $25.00 a plate dinner will help finance the DFL campaign to regain control of the state house of representatives in next year's election, Cina and Wozniak said.

Deadline Friday To Enter Wool Sewing Contest

"Make It Yourself with Wool" Event Scheduled In T. R. Falls November 30

November 15 is the deadline for entries in the "Make It Yourself with Wool" contest for District I in Minnesota, according to Mrs. G. Milford Peterson, Crookston, district director. The contest will be held Saturday, November 30, in Thief River Falls.

Fifty entries have been received to date with Norman, Marshall, Red Lake and Clearwater counties leading in number of entries. Ten entries were received in one day from the Gary high school home economics class, Mrs. Marion Sarver, teacher. According to requests for entry blanks, many schools will be entering their classes, where girls have made wool garments as their projects.

This is the 17th annual contest and the eighth year for Minnesota participation. National junior and senior winning contestants will be awarded a three-Island Caribbean vacation and will visit the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico and Jamaica by Pan American Jet Clipper.

"The 1962 contest increased 14.65 per cent in numbers over the 15th annual promotion," Mrs. Peterson said. "District I, Minnesota, had 177 entries with 144 actual completions in the 1962 contest. We have had a gradual increase each year.

"Today wool, the natural fiber, is everywhere recognized as the fabric of fashion and quality. Not only does it help a girl to show herself at her best, but also it is the fabric which has the most dependable response to the needle arts," she added.

"To make the young American girl increasingly appreciative of the undisputed fashion appeal of American loomed wool, students and young seamstresses are invited to participate in our 'Make It Yourself with Wool' contest."

Mrs. Gunder Legvold of Thief River Falls is Pennington county director.

Bilek & Stockman at Scout Meeting Held in G. Forks

George F. Stockman, director of elementary education, and Ed Bilek, district Scout executive, Thief River Falls, participated in a luncheon meeting in Grand Forks last weekend in which George Frickel, national assistant director of Cub Scouting, advised members of the leadership training committee of the Lake Agassiz council on methods for organizing and conducting a cubbers' powwow.

The powwow, a council-wide one-day training experience for cubmasters and assistants, den mothers, pack committeemen and interested parents, is being planned for early in 1964. Areas of training to be covered in the powwow include pack administration, skits, puppets and ceremonies, games for cub scouts, and crafts for Cub scouts.

Completion of the powwow experience is one of the requirements for earning the Cubmaster's key, Scouter's training award, or den mother's training award — training recognitions available to registered cubbers.

Marshall County RAD Association Organized Nov. 7

Final steps in the organization of a Rural Areas Development Association in Marshall County were taken Thursday, November 7, with a committee of three persons from each commissioner district electing officers and beginning selection of study projects for the county.

Members of the executive committee are: Orville Elseth, Newfolden, chairman; Leonard Hapka, Argyle, vice chairman; Mrs. Lester Muzzy, Thief River Falls, secretary; Eddie Mounger, Newfolden, treasurer; Grant Satre, Grygla; Mrs. Edwin Anderson, Thief River Falls; Mrs. Duane Roand, Stephen; Gary Rood, Stephen; Robert Borowicz, Strandquist; Mrs. Albert Peterson, Stephen; Oscar Quern, Oslo; Roy Edman, Alvarado; Harold Myhre, Warren; and Dr. G. At the organizational meeting the committee members emphasized that the success or failure of the organization will depend upon the people of Marshall County. "Many persons will be asked to assist with the program and if they respond with a willing and positive attitude the success of the program is guaranteed," said Orville Elseth, chairman of the group. He also suggests that people in each community of the county talk over the program with a representative of their area as this will be very hepful to the over-all planning conducted by the county RAD committee.

Car-Truck Crash In City Causes $255 in Damage

Damage estimated at $255 was done to a car and truck in an intersection collision Saturday at 12:15 p.m. in Thief River Falls. The mishap is under investigation by the Thief River Falls police department.

A car driven by Anton Jenson, city, had stopped facing south on Davis avenue prior to making a left turn on Third street, and in making the turn hit the front wheel of a truck driven east on Third street by Marle Dagen, rt. 1, TRF. About $200 damage was done to the Jenson car and $55 to the Dagen truck.

Sabin Vaccine Will Be Offered To School Pupils

More than 950 students in Thief River Falls schools have not completed their series of Sabin antipolio oral vaccine dosage, according to the results of a survey conducted in all local schools. Announcement of the survey results was made by Mrs. Margaret Race, school health nurse.

Arrangements have been made with the two local clinics to provide the oral vaccine on a specified day, Mrs. Race said. The date will be set by the clinics after the school reports the number of doses which will be needed.

Permit slips are being sent home today with the students who have not completed the Sabin series, the school nurse said. Each slip will be marked as the school records indicate. If there are errors in the school records, parents are asked to correct the slip and return it to the school. Price for each dose of vaccine will be one dollar.

RECOVERING from injuries sustained in a traffic mishap two miles north of the intersection of highways 1 and 59 Thursday are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Oswald of rural Thief River Falls. Both are listed in good condition at Northwestern hospital, with Mrs. Oswald having possible fractures of the pelvis and vertebra and her husband possible neck injury. At about 1:15 p.m. Thursday, the Oswald car was traveling north on Highway 59 and made a left turn as a truck driven by Robert Coe of rural Grand Rapids started to pass. Both vehicles plunged off the northwest corner of the intersection into the ditch estimated to be 10 feet deep. Investigating officer for the Minnesota highway patrol stated that the 1957 model car would be a total loss and the truck received damage to the right front. Also injured in the crash was Scott Kjellberg, grandson of the Oswalds and a passenger in their car. He was released a day after the mishap. The accident is under investigation by the highway patrol.

Legion Hosts 382 At Veterans Day Banquet Monday

Teachers Are Guests At Special Program for Education Week Event

Teachers from Thief River Falls Goodridge, and St. Hilaire schools numbering well over 100 attended the teacher's appreciation night and Veteran's Day Dinner held Monday evening in the American Legion club rooms. Guest speaker was Hugh Cole, membership director for the Minnesota Department of the American Legion.

Invitations to attend the dinner were given with apples to the teachers in three schools. A total of 382 persons were served at the event.

Entertainment included numbers by the local American Legion auxiliary chorus and Northernaire chorus from the local SPEBSQSA chapter. Dr. O.D. Beich was master of ceremonies for the event and the invocation was given by Rev. Ditzler of St. Bernard's Catholic church. Orville Hanson, local commander, gave the welcome and Mrs. Wallace Etter presented the response for the teachers.

Post 117 reported to Cole that the membership totaled 614—a total of 14 more than the goal of 600. The auxiliary has a membership of 420, an all-time high, reported Mrs. Florence Myers, membership chairman.

Two from TRF at Polio Conference

The north district meeting of the National Foundation, Inc. for polio, birth defects and arthritis was held at Sidney's Cafe, Crookston, Tuesday evening, November 12th. Robert Day, Minneapolis, chairman of Minnesota West for the National Foundation, led the discussion, which in the main considered the best means of conducting a county campaign.

There was also a report on funds collected from 1938, the first year of the campaign, through 1963. Of interest to Pennington county was the fact that during this time it collected $31,786 of which $75,141 was spent in this county. As in previous years, the 1964 campaign will be conducted through the month of January.

Richard Mabey, county chairman, and Mrs. Harold M. (Mae) Johnson, treasurer, and also chairwoman for the Mother's March of Dimes, represented Pennington county at the meeting.

The second call came at 8:30 p.m. from the Harold Jorstad residence at 124 Conley av. S., where an oilburner was floodel, causing some smoke damage.

New Procedures Make CCC Loans Easier To Obtain

Will Apply Particularly To Farm-Stored Grain, ASC Office Reports

Farmers should be able to obtain their loans more promptly under 1964 price-support programs, according to Winton Knutson, chairman of the Pennington County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. New operating procedures under the programs will apply particularly to farm-stored commodity loans; they are intended to simplify the program and make it more effective and less costly.

The chairman explained that under previous conditions it sometimes took considerable time for a producer to obtain his farm-stored commodity loan funds due to the required exact measurements of quantity and determination of quality factors. In 1964, however, administrative instructions will be held to a minimum, and farm-committeemen will have more responsibility in the local administration of the programs. Community committeeman may handle applications and collateral-inspection duties.

Under the new procedure, price support may be requested by filing an application and paying a nominal fee, which is not refundable. (This application also will replace the purchase agreement form.) The ASCS county office representative and the producer will then jointly confirm the existence and apparent condition of the farm-stored commodity. Together they can develop a quantity estimate to which a reasonable safety factor will be applied. (Where a producer wants only price-support protection without a loan, no farm visit will be made.)

In the case of hard wheats, a producer wishing to receive his premium for high quality factors in the loan amount may request that the required tests be made and have the premiums added to the basic price-support loan rate. The county office will draw the samples and the tests will be made at producer expense.

On warehouse storage loans, as in the past, the producer will put up his warehouse receipts as collateral. The price-support loan rate then will be based on the settlement value of the quality offered. The quantity eligible will be that shown on the receipt.

Disbursements will be made by the ASCS county office using a CCC loan draft designed so that a bank may hold it as an interest-bearing certificate. If the producer redeems his crop (either farm or warehouse-stored), no service charge will apply. If the producer does not redeem his crop, CCC will accept all of the eligible commodity at delivery time, and settlement will be based on its grade, quality and quantity.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard LeMoine, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Fleegal and, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Casey of this city attended the funeral of Harold DeMars at Mankato last week, returning home on Thursday night.

College Night To Be Held at LHS Tonight

Red Lake Agent Resigns Position

Abel Anderson, Red Lake County Extension agent, announced his resignation last week effective at the end of this year. The resignation was submitted to the county board. Anderson, who is a native of the Roseau area, has been agent in Red Lake county for nine years and succeeded Sherman Mandt, who went to East Otter Tail county at Perham. Mrs. Anderson, who has been a regular elementary teacher at the Red Lake Falls school, has also resigned.

Raymond Carlson

First annual "College Night" for Lincoln high school will be held at 8 p.m. tonight at the school, according to Robert Reeve, senior high counselor. More than 25 colleges, universities, vocational schools, nursing schools and the armed services will be represented at the event.

Opening session will be held in the school auditorium with introductions made by John Muldoon, high school counselor at Goodridge public schools. A welcome will be given by M.R. Hankerson, superintendent of schools in Thief River Falls, while the main address will be delivered by Dr. Raymond P. Carlson, dean of students at Bemidji State college.

Dr. Carlson attended Purdue University and received B.A., M.A. and Ph. degrees from the University of Minnesota. He taught high school science and college psychology and is currently dean of students at B.S.C. "Tomorrow Is Already Here" will be the title of his talk.

Visitation periods will begin at 8:30 and continue until 10 p.m. Students and parents are urged to visit at least 3 representatives of colleges, advanced training schools universities or armed forces during the time allotted. The public address system will announce the end of each 25-minute period.

At the conclusion of the visitation period at 10 p.m., lunch will be served in the high school cafeteria.

"In our modern technological world, "Reeve said, "one of the most important steps in the life of any individual is that which is taken at the close of the high school education. Understandably, for many young persons, the step is often a difficult one. The choices are many: college or university; vocational or trade school; the armed services; or the world of work itself.

"College night is a method we hope will make this step a little easier by bringing together representatives from various colleges and universities, vocational schools and the armed services so that students and their parents can gain a better understanding of the many opportunities available.

"We are living in an age where training beyond high school, in some form or another, has become almost a necessity, "Revue continued. "This training should be considered carefully. Evaluation of schools should be made in light of the individual's needs, interests and vocational plans."

Students attending the college night program will be provided with handbooks listing possible questions which may be asked representatives present from the various schools. Also included in the booklet are the room numbers where the various school representatives will be located during the discussion period.

A list of schools to be represented was published in the November 14 edition of the Times.

This area recored its third deer hunting fatality of the season and the first by firearms Saturday afternoon when Hughey Engstrom, 56, was the victim of a stray bullet. Engstrom was killed about 4:05 p. p. Saturday while hunting with a party of four hunters five miles east and a mile north of Holt in East Valley township of Marshall county.

Engstrom, a native of Holt until the past five years when he has been employed by the Minnesota highway department at Warren, was participating in a drive when the accident occurred. According to the Marshall county sheriff's department which conducted the investigation, Engstrom was walking south down a ditch bordered by red willows on a section line.

Harry McLean of Grygla, who was posting for the drive, shot at a deer which the drivers had chased. He didn't see Engstrom, who was less than 100 yards away, but heard him cry out when struck by the bullet. The bullet hit the victim in the heart.

Others in the hunting party were Leonard Yonke of Thief River Falls and the victim's brother, Sidney Engstrom of Middle River. Dr. E. E. Pumala, Marshall county coroner, has not indicated if an inquest will be held.

According to Associated Press compilations, Engstrom's death was the fourth by firearms in the current season and the first since the opening weekend of the season. Nine others died of heart attacks and one perished when fire from

Nominations Made For Election of C of C Officers

Six directors of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce will be elected early in December and a slate of 12 nominees has been prepared by the nominating committee. Three of the 12-man slate are incumbent directors.

Nominated are Randall Noper, J. J. Womack and Stan Pladson, incumbents, John Metusalem, Donavan Narverud, Fred Sorenson, Norris Melander, Harry Simons, S.E. Sinding, Edgar Hetteen and Del Seefeldt. Directors will be elected for two year terms.

Any member in good standing may be nominated by any other member in good standing by writing the Chamber of Commerce office in sufficient time to have the nominee placed on the early December ballot.

Ballots will be mailed to members during the first week of December and will include instructions for voting as well as deadlines for their return to the Chamber of Commerce office. Newly-elected directors will meet with the old board in December and take office at the first meeting in January.

Carry-over directors who will serve the final year of their two-year terms are Gene Belto, Roger Tunberg, Gene Gaer, Dr. Leo Herber, Carl Lee and Stan Wilson. Members of the nomination committee, headed by Donald M. Olson, included Dr. George Martin, Joe Holler, Gene Gaer, Roger Tunberg and Otto Stenberg.

United Fund Has Poor Reception, Chairman States

Disappointment over the reception given by the public to the Pennington County United Fund has been voiced by Arnold Narverud, county drive chairman. The cash and pledges now total $9,641.40 or about 55 per cent of the total goal set by the fund board.

Several kits from solicitors in the business district remain to be turned in, the chairman said, and these should be brought to the United Fund headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce office as soon as possible.

Narverud urged support of the United Fund rather than giving to individual drives which have been conducted recently and are being held at the present time. "Giving the United Way is the only way to prevent the many separate drives which have been held each year, Narverud said. " If the United Fund is not successful this year, it is possible that it will be dropped and the organizations participating will conduct their own campaigns."

The Library Corner

by Virginia Gjernes

New books, old books, good books and masterpieces, they're all side by side on the shelves of Carnegie Public library. Each resembles every other on the outside, but not on the inside! Each volume contains words, indeed the same words, but the words are put together differently by individual authors and the story emerges from the maze much as a butterfly emerges from its inanimate binding.

An author requires few "tools of the trade"—nothing, really, but a nimble, flexible, well-versed and widely-traveled mind- There are authors who write about people, and those who write about places and some who write about things—but whether persons, places or things, each author writes because he thinks he has something to say which might be of interest to someone else—and that is how "best sellers" are born!

Now on the shelves of your public library are the following from the current best seller list: Novels include "The Group" by McCarthy and "The Shoes of the Fisherman" by West. There's Michener's "Caravans" and "The Living Reed" by Buck, Godden's "The Battle of the Villa Fiorita"; MacInnes' "The Venetian Affair"; Rechy's "City of Night"; Smith's "Joy in the Morning;" and one which has been on the list for some months is O'Hara's "Elizabeth Appleton".

Non-fiction volumes are "best-seller" qualified and are available through your library too. There's "JKF: The Man and the Myth" by Lasky and "The American Way of Death" by Mitford; Baldwin's "The Fire Next Time" has been on the list for some time and so has Hope's "I Owe Russia $1,200", Fishman's "My Darling Clementine" and North's "Rascal", as well as "The Wine Is Bitter" by Eisenhower will continue to be listed, no doubt. "The Education of American Teachers" by Conant will be controversial, therefore the demand will continue, in all probability.

The author creates the book, but the public creates the "best seller" list. Publishers are still not exactly certain why some books "hit" and some do not. There are the obvious reasons, of course. The "timely topic", the popularity of the author's past works, the exceptionally - well - written - but - dull - subject—there are as many reasons for a book's becoming a best seller as there are authors—and there are a lot of the latter—and readers. You, the library users right here in your hometown, have a great deal to do with making a book a "best seller".

Naturally, as a book is reaching toward its peak of popularity it is in great demand by borrowers. Unfortunately, your old "first come, first served" adage must hold true. However, we do have request sheets and as a borrower makes his particular wants known, his name is added to the list.

When the book is returned by the current reader, it is held in the library. The "next name on the list" is notified the book is in and being held. If it is impossible for that "Mr. Particular" to read the book at that time he tells the librarian and the next owner of the name on the list is notified. Eventually, all requests are fulfilled and there is no longer a "waiting list". There are some volumes which remain popular and, while not one of the ten "best sellers", they are constantly in demand—"Gone With the Wind" is one of the perennial favorites.

"Penny-a-day" books are all new fiction and certain carefully-selected non-fiction. These volumes may be kept by the borrower for one week, may not be renewed and the borrower is charged one cent for each day the book is shown as being checked out on his card. The books remain on the "Penny-a-Day" shelf until the popularity wanes somewhat and then are placed on the general shelf with the regular two-week loaning period.

So please remember when you come into the library—if you can't see what you're looking for, ask for it. If it is out, the librarians will put your name on the waiting list and call you when the book is returned to the library.

Where Do You Start In Buying A Carpet

Selecting a carpet from among the many colors, fibers and price ranges on the market is one of the most difficult decisions in buying home furnishings. Because purchase of a carpet or rug means a large outlay of money, that decision will affect the family budget over a considerable period.

Perhaps the point at which to start in making a decision is color. You will need to decide if you want to keep your floor neutral in tone so you can build several different color schemes around it, or if you want to select a particular color or pattern and then build your color scheme around it for the rest of the furnishings. Pick the color you want to live with for many years.

The best choice is a medium value of the color you like best, halfway between dark and light. Dark-colored carpets show dust tracks and lint. On the other hand, a very light-colored carpet will be difficult to keep clean if traffic & soil are heavy. Blues and greens in the deeper tones probably have the highest ability to conceal soil. A small-figured or textured pattern in two or more colors will be more practical than a solid color.

There is probably no one fiber that will be best for any particular room or family situation. It is suggested that you learn the characteristics of each fiber and then decide which will most nearly meet your needs.

Density of the surface yarns in one of the best guides to good quality. A high pile adds luxury but is less important than density. The backing should be firm, strong and closely woven.

How much to pay for a carpet is a decision each family will have to make individually. Buy as good a carpet as you can afford without putting a permanent crimp in the family budget. You usually get no better carpet than that for which you pay. Be sure to buy from a reliable dealer and manufacturer who can stand behind the product.

This should give you homemakers some idea as to how to buy a good carpet and yet stay within your budget. Good Luck!

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. BERNHARD JOHNSON

It's always time to replenish the cooky jar, that ever-lovin', perennial, and (I hope) unfailing source of goodies for the family, especially the junior-sized ones. These are the kind Junior will want to stuff into his pockets and share with his cronies, so be sure that you make plenty. He may even want a hand in the production end, for these are "kid stuff" to make.

FORK COOKY

- 1 cup butter (or half butter, half shortening)
- ½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 2 tablesopons granulated sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- pinch of salt
- 2 cups flour
- 1 scant teaspoon soda mixed in flour

Beat butter, sugar and egg until smooth. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Roll into small balls and place on cooky sheet. Flatten with a fork dipped in sugar. Sprinkle with ground nuts, preferably walnuts. Bake 7-10 minutes at 350 degrees, or until golden brown.

The Johnsons who farmed in the Viking area, now live in Duluth Ave. South in this city. Mr. Johnson was in defense work in Nebraska and Washington state after retiring from the farm, and later worked as a janitor here in the city.

Mrs. Johnson did much knitting and sewing at one time, but this activity has tapered off of late. A member of Mission Covenant Church, she is with the ladies aid and womens missionary society, and as such is busy with many church interests, which include helping make mittens, socks, quilts, and the like, for foreign missions. A lover of the outdoors, she devotes much time in summer to her gardening and flowers.

They have one daughter, Mrs. Bernice Erickson, who lives in Thief River Falls. There are also three grandchildren.

SHOULD LOW BLOOD PRESSURE BE TREATED?

Q. My blood pressure is low. I feel ok but wonder if vitamins would give my pressure a boost. Would this help?

A. Most doctors regard low blood pressure (except in rare cases) as an ideal state compatible with long life. Insurance statistics bear this out: People with lower-than-average blood pressure may at times experience fatigue, lightheadedness, and general "laziness," but this occasional lack of pep is a small price to pay for avoiding all the consequences of high blood pressure. In the vast majority of cases, low blood pressure doesn't call for treatment with vitamins or anything else.

MINERAL BATHS AND ARTHRITIS

Q. I have arthritis and have had little success with doctors. Would warm mineral baths help?

A. Perhaps you have expected too much from doctors. There is no cure for arthritis. Warm baths are only a part of the total basic treatment of the condition. Such baths should always be prescribed by a physician familiar with the case. This is essential not only to obtain the most benefit but also to avoid harmful effects.

Remember — the diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician.

The real "miracle" of today's medicine is that so much cure costs so little.

MSHSL Offers Many Inter-School Sports

by State Board of Control

The program of interscholastic athletics offered to Minnesota schools includes many activities and serves a large number of participants. Few states equal Minnesota's twelve activities and few can equal the percentage of schools participating in each activity.

Few educators would, however, feel that this broad participation is in any way a substitute for strong physical education and intramural programs that are geared to meet the needs of all students. Inevitably, interscholastic programs attract the most physically-gifted and those least in need of physical fitness programs.

Used as a substitute for and given preference over physical education and intramurals, the programs may be detrimental to the physical welfare of the total student body. School officials are on guard to check practices and pressures that lead toward such detrimental ends.

The following table shows the number of schools in Minnesota participating in each activity during each sport season and an estimate of the total number of students.

	No. of Schools	Estimated No. of Students
Fall
Football	472	30,000
Cross Country	107	1,000
Total		31,000
Winter
Basketball	489	14,000
Wrestling	212	4,000
Hockey	79	3,000
Swimming	56	1,200
Skiing	27	400
Gymnastics	39	1,200
Total		23,800
Spring
Baseball	439	8,000
Track	430	8,000
Golf	184	1,200
Tennis	82	700
Total		17,900
Grand Total		72,700

You will note that most schools participate in football, basketball, baseball and track. There are two sports activities in the fall, six in the winter and four in the spring for schools to choose. There is a total of about 72,700 participations by boys in the three sports seasons. Some of these boys compete two or even three times, which should be understood in order to not be misled by the table.

It should be recognized that only the larger schools can carry on the total interscholastic program. Most of Minnesota's schools do not have enough boys to carry on as many as six activities in the winter sports season.

With the exception of football, tournaments and meets are held at appropriate levels to finally terminate in a state tournament. In most cases district and regional tournaments are held for each activity. The football season is automatically terminated by inclement weather in late October or early November. Most school officials have felt a football tournament would reduce rather than stimulate interest if started early in the fall. They feel football tournaments should not be conducted in November and December as schools lack the necessary tarpaulins to prevent freezing of fields to provide a safe playing surface.

You may be interested in knowing that Minnesota compared to other states ranks first in the percentage of its high schools offering football, ninth in the total number of teams playing football, and sixth in total student participation. Ninety-six per cent of Minnesota's high schools play football compared to only 62 per cent nationally.

AIRMAN James M. Bennes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd N. Bennes of Thief River Falls, is being reassigned to Ent AFB, Colo., for training and duty as an electronic data processing machine specialist. Bennes recently completed United States Air Force basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base in Texas. A 1958 graduate of Lincoln High School, he attended the University of Minnesota.

PUBLIC OPINION

What a grand and glorious feeling it must be to sit on your pedestal and write just exactly what you want, with little or no regard to fact and fiction. What pleasure it must give to elucidate in sweeping generalities, to encompass all and to solve all problems. To do all this without fear that someone, anyone can disagree with you in the same media in which we find your expression, must give you an extreme sense of security.

My reference at the moment is to the section of your recent editorial entitled "Rickover and Education." Your use in the editorial of quotations from Rickover's book in such a way that appear to be fact instead of mere opinions of a retired naval officer is indeed interesting. This brings to mind the old cliche "figures don't lie, but liars can sure figure". The application here being to the finding of Rickover as he states that "few of the men who direct enterprise are scholars or teachers:", again merely the veiw of a man acquainted with only part of the picture.

I would suggest sincerely, that you examine the qualifications of the teachers in the school system that you have there in Thief River Falls, or the teachers here in Goodridge. Compare the qualifications that they have for being teachers to the qualifications that you possess for being a journalist....match wits and word with them on their ground, and I'm more than certain that you will find them qualified and able.

Instead of working so diligently at tearing down the structure of the educational system that you say exists today, devote some of your fine ability towards the positive presentation. I'm certain there is room for improvement in that which we find in education today but I'm equally as certain that "half-truths" and generalizations found in an editorial like the one in the last issue of the Times will not serve to satisfy the needs of education today.

Thank you for the courtesy of reading this letter. If you would care to, you may print this entire letter or any paragraph of it, but please, not "out of context".

Sincerely,
Harold P. Janneck
Secondary Principal
Goodridge, Minnesota

Editor Times:

With little hope of ever seeing this printed in your enterprising newspaper, for I know that a "Letter to the Editor" section in your sheet would have to displace some other type of timely news, I still feel you should be commended for your brilliant insight into Minnesota's educational problems in the editorial entitled "Rickover and Education".

Who can deny that our State College campuses are horribly cluttered with individuals, laughingly referred to as students, who received attendance certificates (more commonly referred to as diplomas) from our high schools. Something should be done about this! And what better way than to progress back to state board examinations. Of course these examinations given on a national level would be even more effective. We could then compare the students and the teachers' ability (or should it be achievement, or maybe even interest) all over the country; couldn't it be interesting to know how our students and teachers in northen Minnesota compare with students in Yuma, Arizona or Bangor, Maine. And the results would be so significant! Perhaps you and Vice Admiral Rickover, that well known leading critic of our educational system, could begin forming committees to develop these examinations.

There is one little thing that bothers me when I think of those people who are "laughingly referred to as students" who are attending our state colleges, and will someday be "so-called teachers". If all that is necessary to receive a diploma is good attendance, why don't more people attend? What happened to all those freshmen who started last year and didn't return this year? I bet they all started some other college or university that wasn't primarily a "so-called teacher training institution". This may have been just a small oversight on your part, and in your case is understandable.

In closing I say, keep up the good work for our educational system—we need more like you!!!!

Sincerely,
John O. Muldoon
Guidance Counselor
Goodridge, Minnesota

FRIENDLY ATMOSPHERE IS AN ATTRIBUTE which a community can cultivate that will pay good dividends for no investment. It isn't Chamber of Commerce-ism to have a smile and hello for strangers in town or exchange a bit of friendly conversation with a customer in your store. It's good business for you, good relations for your community and can even provide a little glow for your personality.

We recently received a letter from J. W. Kehler of J. K. Enterprises in Fort Garry, Manitoba. It is as follows:

"On my way back from Minneapolis Monday night when the train stopped briefly at Thief River Falls, our thoughtful conductor told us we had enough time to go for coffee, so to the Soo Cafe we headed.

"I ordered coffee which the very busy waitress served surprisingly fast—but the biggest surprise came when I got 5 cents change out of the dime I put down. Now being Scotch although Dutch (by birth), I was nigh unto flabergasted. As near I can remember, my last 5 cent cup of coffee was back in '32.

"It was the first cup of coffee that has ever given me a nostalgic feeling. To top it off the waitress filled it up once more without me asking for it. I hope the waitress reads this—that is if the Times will see it fit to print."

A little thing, the above incident, but a big thing in the mind of Mr. Kehler. Little courtesies like conscientious service can make a big impression. Nickel coffee is fast disappearing. What this country needs is a good five-cent nickel.

Don't miss the Chamber of Commerce membership meeting Tuesday evening. Your ideas are needed for an expanded and improved program of work and community service in 1964. The meal will be served at 6:30 p.m. in the Elks club rooms.

As a finale to her act the beautiful young lion tamer placed a cube of sugar between her lips and allowed a huge, black-maned lion to take it from her. "That's nothing; I could do the same thing," snorted a spectator. "I'll bet!" sneered his companion. "I sure could do it, " the first replied, "if they would get that big, old lion out of there."

It has been said that the two major menaces on the highway are drivers under 25 going over 65 and drivers over 65 going under 25. At any rate, a number of two-line poems on traffic safety have been making the rounds and some are printed here:

Imagine botanist Max McGreaf
Getting confused on a clover leaf.

Slip'ry roads meant naught to Sam—
Hit a curve at 80 . . . WHAM!

John had barely learned to drive
When he "tried her out" at 95.

Spare a thought for Fred B. Lossing;
Raced the 10:05 to the clossing.

To this impressive list is added a couple which came to mind:

Jimmy Jones excelled at gassing,
Now a gravestone marks his passing.

Reverend's driving made folks nervous;
Now he's at his final service.

Added note: The machine that once did away with horses is now well on the way to doing away with people.

Here is another thought-provoking clipping on Americanism. "Character, integrity, self-reliance .. it is the loss of these American traits that is leaving us more impoverished than the outflow of gold. As long as Americans earned what they were paid, produced more for more wages, saved for their own security, paid their bills and demanded that others did the same .. as long as Americans acted like Americans .. there was no worry about gold, or balance of payments, or value of the dollar. The dollar was impregnable because American character was behind it.

But when the greedy "something-for-nothing", the winning "somebody-else-not-me" selfishness has sapped American character, American strength goes out with it, as it always does. It's later — and worse — than you think."

SEASON TREASON

I think that I shall never see,
If I should live to ninety-three,
A deer with stately, antlered head,
But only brush and grass instead.
While hunts are made by fools like me,
The Lord protects the deer, I see.

Prowler Wrestlers to Open Season Dec. 3

Coach Al Shall's Prowler wrestling squad has been engaged in strenuous drills this past week in preparation for its schedule-opening tilt against the ever-powerful Crookston Aggies squad on Dec. 3. This match will be held in the Lincoln high school gymnasium.

Led by co-captains Terry Nelson and Gary Nereson, the 1963-64 Prowler squad has eight lettermen on its roster. Veterans, in addition to Nelson and Nereson, are Joe Taylor, the Region Eight 145-pound titleist; Tom Larson, a second place winner in the 133-pound weight; and Myles Olson, a 95-pound wrestler.

Transfer students Gayle McBee and John Bauer will bolster the squad this season, with McBee expected to replace the graduated Roger Wilson, and Bauer moving into the weight slot vacated by Ray Ulrich. The Prowlers face the the possible loss of veteran Roy Delorme, as the popular 103-pounder has chronic shoulder injury.

The Prowlers, who posted a 11 and 2 record last season, and finished as runners-up to the Bemidji Lumberjacks in the Region Eight tourney, will be handicapped by the absence of a capable heavy weight. Dwight Myrher provided the Prowlers with a number of valuable points in the heavyweight division last season, by the popular "Tiny" has been lost through graduation.

Expected to be point winners for this season's squad are Luke Kaushagen, a sophomore who revealed great promise last season, and Don Berggren, who will be returning to the 'A' squad after a season with coach Dale Folger's 'B' squad.

The pre-season outlook appears bright for the Prowler grapplers, but the Mahnomen Indians and the Bemidji Lumberjacks loom as dangerous threats. The regional champion Bemidji squad lost nine starters from last year's winner through graduation, but the Lumberjacks, last season, boasted of one of their finest 'B' squads and are expected to be rated as District 29 and Region Eight favorites. Mahnomen, with a fine wrestling tradition with a number of veterans returning for this season's campaign, will be anxious to avenge the 37 to 10 defeat they absorbed from the Prowlers last season. Mahnomen will meet the Prowlers here on Dec. 16.

Wrestlers Name Two Co-captains

The Lincoln high school wrestling squad, on Wednesday, elected Terry Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Nelson, and Gary Nereson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Nereson, co-captains for the 1963-64 season.

Nereson is a three-year letterman in wrestling, and gained third place in Region Eight competition last season. Nelson was sidelined last season by a knee injury, but after undergoing surgery, and completing a rugged football season, he is expected to be a bulwark of this season's squad.

A full day's program including campus tours, a parents' luncheon, at which University faculty will serve as hosts at the luncheon tables, and the final football game of the 1963 season—Minnesota vs. Wisconsin—will make up this year's Dads' Day activities, according to Robert L. Stuebing of Minneapolis, University Dads' association president.

An early (11:30 a.m.) luncheon in Coffman Memorial Union will enable the parents to arrive at Memorial stadium in time for the team's entrance on the field.

Luncheon and football tickets for Dads' Day at $6.50 per person may be reserved through the University Dads' association, Room 200, Eddy Hall, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis 55455. Individual luncheon tickets at $2 also may be purchased.

No. Central Sets Special Rate for Military Persons

North Central Airlines announced today that effective November 15 military personnel are offered a 50 per cent reduced fare if traveling on authorized leave or within seven days following discharge from active military service.

The new reduced fare, applicable between points on North Central's 91-city system, is on a 'standby' basis. No advance reservations will be accepted. However, when the passenger has been accommodated, he will not be removed from the flight at an intermediate point en route except to accommodate passengers holding previously confirmed reservations.

Military personnel are also required to travel in uniform on all portions of the trip and must have in their possession authorized leave or discharge papers.

Frank N. Buttomer, North Central vice president-traffic and sales, said that "the 50 per cent reduced fare should provide military personnel who are traveling at their own expense, extra days at home during their leave period and save them expense in transportation costs." The fares are subject to Civil Aeronautics Board approval.

Research Areas Are Arranged for Sharptail Grouse

Four Areas Designated in Warroad Area and North of Fourtown

Four study areas for research on grouse have been designated in northern Minnesota, according to James Ruos, game biologist for the Minnesota Department of Conservation. Ruos is stationed at Warroad and is specializing in grouse research.

Two study areas will be in the Warroad territory and will each contain about two square miles.

On the smaller plots, one will be left untouched as a comparative study area while the other will be managed by controlled burning, use of herbicides and other procedures. It is believed that the affect of these experimental practices can then be evaluated.

In the larger areas near Warroad intensive grouse population survey work will be done. Attempts here will be made to evaluate the results of hunting pressure on the year-to-year grouse population.

Ruos also stated that in 1965 a meeting of the Prairie Grouse Technical Council, a nation-wide organization from all states containing grouse habitat, will be held in northwestern Minnesota. Exact site for the session has not yet been selected.

Effects of fertilizer on corn will be discussed by J. T. Murdock, soils scientist from the University of Wisconsin and H. A. Arneman, Minnesota soils scientist, will report on "Soils of Minnesota," a new publication.

Persons wishing for more information may contact the Department of Agricultural Short Courses, University of Minnesota, St. Paul 1.

ASC Says Farms May Be Divided If Owner Wishes

Patrick W. Culkins, office manager of the Pennington County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service office, announced today that the county ASCS office has operated on a directive issued in 1954 which made it mandatory that all farms operated by an individual for a period of three years be combined into one unit for program purposes.

As a result of this directive, a considerable number of combinations were put into effect in this county over a period of the past several years.

Culkins said that a recent directive issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture authorizes the county office to divide farms which have been combined if the owner of a parcel of the combined unit requests such action in writing, and files same with the Pennington county ASCS office at their very earliest convenience.

He also told of police schools conducted under the sponsorship of the bureau in various Minnesota communities, and added that law officers are taking on professional status.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor Times:

Deer hunting is good sport mainly of the challenge of searching the woodlands for these fast-running animals. Because there hasn't been any snow the hunting has not been good this year. Most hunters will agree that you really have to work to get them.

Is there such a thing as being a fair hunter, a real sportsman? Many farmers have their doubts. Most farmers have no objection to hunters but they would appreciate being asked for permission so they could know who their visitors are.

And is it fair to spot deer from airplanes? With high powered binoculars deer can easily be spotted from a plane. By simple signals the hunter on the ground can be informed as to where the deer are located. That, it seems to me, is taking unfair advantage of the animals.

There have been several incidents of this kind of hunting and it is a sure bet that there will be increased posting of land in such areas. A good sportsman will respect the rights of landowners and also give the deer a fair chance.

It's a Big Bargain

The Prowler winter sports teams—basketball, hockey, and wrestling—are engaging in practice sessions in preparation for the schedule-openers late this month or early in December. The cagers will play their first home game on November 30, meeting the Fertile Falcons.

There are ten home basketball games scheduled; nine home hockey games; and eight wrestling matches slated. And a city-wide campaign, with students doing the canvassing, will be made to promote the sale of Prowler all-sports season tickets. These tickets will be sold for eight dollars, and when you consider that a sports fan can witness twenty-seven Prowler home contests for that price, it must be rated a bargain.

So give the Prowler season-ticket sellers a welcome.

Attention: Golfers!

The annual meeting of the local golf club members will be held on Wednesday, November 20. The stockholders of the local club will conduct their meeting 5:00 p.m., and at this meeting the election of officers for the 1964 season will be held.

A social hour and dinner for the general membership of the club will be held at 6:30 p.m. This affair will be the finale of the regular season's "stag nights".

It Was Still Just Fair

The 1963 deer season concluded at sundown Sunday, and while the reports will continue to trickle in as to the success of the season, it is evident that the hunting was just fair.

The large parties that were well-organized, and well-acquainted with their hunting area, did well for the most part. The Grygla and Gatzke areas produced a number of party limits, but it was the veteran hunters that had the success.

And it was evident, too, that the Lake Agassiz refuge has just about been "shot out" as far as deer are concerned, and it would be perhaps a wise conservation measure to close the refuge for a couple of years. I can recall the time when the refuge, with a three-day season, produced more than six hundred deer, ant the area abutting the refuge produced a like number of deer. But such has not been the case the past several years.

It is evident, also that the sharptailed grouse and the ruffed grouse are in a critical "down" cycle. It was said that the sharptailed grouse were finding cover in the abundant soil bank lands in the area, but with the fires that have ravaged much of this soil bank land there should have been appearance of grouse in flight, seeking other cover, etc.

And the ruffed grouse have never been at as low a "cycle" as this season. And this is the consensus of hunters who have spent a lifetime in this area. There are a number of "old timers" in the Fourtown and Malcolm areas, and by "old time" I mean "youngsters" who have been in this area since the early 1900's. And they are unanimous in their contention that the ruffed grouse have never been in such few numbers as this season. And, what is more important, these "old timers" do not know why there has been such marked decrease in the birds. I'm wondering if the residue of the atomic bomb testings, Strontium 90 and the other exotic and deadly substances, could have any effect on the bird life?

The Tears Won't Fall

A report out of Bemidji indicates that coach Bun Fortier faces a major overhaul job in fashioning his 1963-64 Bemidji Lumberjack basketball squad. The Jacks, Region Eight champions, lost only four boys by graduation—Gerry Suman, Bill Rabe, Roger Johnson, and Dennis Aguiar. Two of these boys were good basketball players, Rabe and Aguiar, and one, Suman, was a great high school player.

But I can't cry over the problem that is facing the personable and successful Fortier. Bun has such veterans as John Warford, John Dow, Mary Hanson, Dick Fortier, Bob Fortier, Bob Saeger, Wally Peterson, Dennis Burges, and Howard Hoganson able for this seasons club.

Hoganson, up from the 'B' squad as are Burgess, Peterson, and Saeger, could develop into one of the finer cagers produced at Bemidji. He's a well-coordinated 6-foot 2-inch boy. And I must not forget that Scott Baker, a reserve for the East Grand Forks Green Wave last season, is now at the Bemidji school.

Bemidji will open their 1963-64 season on November 29 when they meet the Crookston Central Pirates at Bemidji.

Higher License Fees for Hotels, Resorts and Restaurants Set

New state license fees for Minnesota hotels, resorts, and restaurants go into effect January 1, 1964. Legislation providing for an increased, graduated fee schedule for food and beverage establishments and lodging facilities was approved by the 1963 state legislature to help meet modern requirements for an effective statewide food and lodging sanitation control program. Th license fee had been unchanged for more than 40 years.

New applications for licenses will be mailed by the state health department's section of hotels, resorts, and restaurants on or about November 15, 1963.

License fees for hotels, resorts, motels, and lodging houses (any lodging facility having five or more beds to let to the public) are based on the number of sleeping rooms, units, or cabins, as follows: 1-18, $7.50; 19-35, $15.00; 36-100, $20.00; 101 and over, $25.00.

License fees for food and beverage establishments such as restaurants, places of refreshment, taverns, and boarding houses are based on the number of employees for each operation: 1-4, $7.00; 5-18, $12.00; 19-28, $18.00; 29-35, $25.00; 36 and over, $30.00.

The new legislation provides that each business operation pay a separate license fee. This means that an operator with a restaurant and a bar must pay a fee for each operation. Also, a tavern or bar which also prepares food must pay two separate fees. Fees are established on the basis of the number of employees for each separate operation.

In the case of hotels, resorts, and motels with food and-or beverage services, operators will pay two fees, one for lodging and another for all other food services combined, according to the total number of employees in the food and beverage operations. Establishments which prepare meals or lunches for service elsewhere also must obtain licenses.

Primary objective of the new graduated fee schedule is to provide means for accomplishing three fundamental aspects of an effective food and lodging sanitation control program: education, improved technical services, and clearly defined enforcement authority. The schedules for both types of establishments are based upon modern saitation needs, number of inspections possible for available staff members, salaries and traveling expenses, and operation and equipment costs.

The bill which the 1963 legislature enacted into law had the full support and approval of the Minnesota Restaurant Association, the Minnesota Hotel and Motor Hotel Association, and the Minnesota Motel Association.

Prior to the 1963 legislation, an annual flat rate fee of $3.50 for each establishment or group of establishments meant that a large hotel with several operations paid the same license fee as a small lunchroom. This system provided less than one-third of the revenue necessary for an effective food and lodging sanitation program.

Turkeys Good Buy for Thanksgiving

Birds Are Available in Practically All Sizes

Thanksgiving dinner planned around a golden-brown, tender roast turkey with cranberries as the accompaniment is number one choice for most Americans.

Good news for consumers is that the traditional Thanksgiving Day pair will be in plentiful supply and good buys for the feast day. Turkey production is second to the 1961 record crop. Supplies of cranberries are ample—from a harvest a tenth greater than average.

Turkeys will be available in practically any size to fit family needs, according to Robert Berg, extension poultry specialist at the University of Minnesota. Sizes vary from big tom turkeys for the large crowd, smaller hen turkeys, young turks about the size of hen turkeys and the smaller fryer-roasters. Turkeys packaged as "young turks" are young tom turkeys weighing from 10 to 16 pounds.

Prices of turkey will be about the same as last year or slightly higher. Hens normally sell at slightly higher prices than toms. Toms and hens are equally tender, however, Berg says.

Widely available throughout the state this year are turkey boneless roasts, made up of both white and dark meat. Prices of these roasts are naturally higher than for regular turkeys because there is no waste.

State Tax Rate Is Changed Slightly Compared to 1962

Homestead Tax Rate Is Fixed at 8.22 Mills, and Non-homestead 17.14 Mills

The tax levy for state purposes payable in 1964 will be 17.14 mills for non-homestead property in all of Minnesota except in Minneapolis; St. Paul and Duluth, where it will be 8.49 mills, State Auditor Stafford King said Thursday.

The rate on homestead property all over the state will be 8.2 mills.

The reason for the difference in rates is that the three largest cities have their own teachers retirement systems, whereas the cost of teachers retirement systems is covered by state taxes in the rest of the state. No taxes for teachers retirement are collected on homestead property.

The non-homestead rate in the three largest cities was 9.08 mills for the previous year and in the rest of the state was 16.85 mills, to produce $31,164,698.55. This will cover, in addition to teachers retirement, state building programs; the rural credit deficiency and soldiers relief.

The amount levied for state purposes the previous year was $27,518,337.66.

Group of 29 to Perform in College Gymnasium

Bemidji State College will present the Ollerup Gym Teachers from Denmark in convocation in the men's gym of the physical education building Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. The tour of the traveling gym teachers is under the auspices of the Danish Ministery of Education.

The 14 men and 15 women of the troup are alumni of the Ollerup Academy of Physical Education which was founded in 1920 by Dr. Niels Bukh, a fellow in the American Academy of Physical Education.

They will demonstrate the exercises perfected by Dr. Bukh, which are designed to accelerate the body building processes and will perform with routines of jumping and tumbling, some of which are spectacular.

The Ollerup gymnasts have toured 24 countries, many of them several times, and they have competed in five Olympics. Every year students at the school compete to become eligible for these elite touring teams.

Bright Future Is Seen for Taconite by Industry Chief

Chairman of U. S. Steel Says, However, Favorable Tax Climate Is Needed

Roger M. Blough, board chairman of U.S. Steel Corporation, Thursday told a group of Minnesota business leaders at the First National Bank's Business Outlook Conference in St. Paul that the creation of a good tax climate for taconite, both steel and iron ore face a brighter future.

Pointing out that steel and iron ore are inseparable, he said that in any appraisal of the future, "the one overriding consideration is competition — intense, severe, all-across-the-board competition against foreign-made steel and all of the domestically produced materials that compete with steel.

"This means that we must produce steel of a quality that is unmatched anywhere else in the world; that we must develop new products that do not exist elsewhere; that we must market our steels aggressively, providing the best customer service immaginable; and that we must concentrate on cost reduction, cost reduction and still more cost reduction."

Relating what U.S. Steel is doing in these areas, Mr. Blough pointed out that "in the field of quality we are producing steels of a strength that was almost undreamed of only a few years ago — steels that will go much farther, per ton of product that they ever did before. These steels now make it possible for a can manufacturer to get 40 percent more cans our of a ton of steel; and if the Empire State Building were to be constructed today, it could be thirteen stories higher than it is without increasing so much as a pound the weight of the structural steel that is in it."

"In the field of marketing and service," Mr. Blough reported, "our customers are demanding — and getting — steel of the perfection that would have been impossible to achieve until recently, and the necessary improvements in facilities, measuring, testing and inspection devices have added appreciably to the cost of making this steel; but that, too, is a part of modern competition."

Erskine Doctor Gets His Deer But Falls from Tree

Dr. George W. Schossow, Erskine physician, went on his first deer hunt Saturday, November 9. He swears it will be his last.

He was on a birch limb about 20 feet off the ground at the Agassiz refuge north of Thief River Falls, when a buck deer ambled within range.

He fired. The deer fell, but got up and started to run. Schossow fired again. The deer fell for keeps, and the recoil of the rifle knocked Schossow out of the tree.

Hunters in his party found him unconscious and thought he had been shot.

Dr. Schossow last week was recovering from neck and shoulder injuries in a Crookston hospital.

Members of his party brought in his deer.

Conservation Dept. Cites Yule Tree Laws

The Minnesota conservation department has reminded hunters and others in the woods this fall that the old practice of "bringing home a Christmas Tree" is definitely out unless several state laws are complied with.

Before cutting any trees in Minnesota the law requires notification of the state forester in writing by registered mail. In addition, the law states that no trees shall be removed from any tract of land until all taxes due and payable have been fully paid.

Other laws declare that no one may cut or remove in a natural and untrimmed condition any evergreens or coniferous type trees of any size, or parts of such trees, without the written consent of the owner of the land on which the trees are grown. The regulation applies to trees on both private and public lands.

The written consent to cut the trees should be on a form furnished by the Department of Conservation forestry division. The forms are available at area forestry headquarters and ranger stations throughout the state.

The permit must be carried by the person cutting or transporting the trees and be shown upon demand to any officer of the law or officer of the department of conservation. Failure to show the written consent notice when requested to do so will be considered prima facie evidence that no such consent was given.

Furthermore, before any person, except a common carrier, may transport decorative trees of the kind described on a public highway, he must first obtain a transportation permit from a department of conservation forestry station. The transportation permit is not required, however, for a person transporting not more than six decorative trees for his own use.

Judges and program for the event, which will be held in the Thief River Falls city auditorium, are now being arranged, Mrs. Peterson said. Samples of fabrics sent in by contestants indicate that shades of red, blue and brown will be the most popular.

Mrs. Marion Sarver at Gary has entered 11 while Mrs. Beth Scholin and Mrs. Jan Breiland of Thief River Falls and Mrs. Vernon Usher at Clearbrook have each entered eight. There will be six contestants each from Argyle, Lancaster, Warren, Fisher and Crookston Central.

"Mail Early" Is Plea Of Postal Department

Faced with the certainty that Christmas 1963 will set an all-time record for mailings of Christmas cards and gifts, Thief River Falls postmaster R. J. Dryden today requested public cooperation in the annual "Mail Early For Christmas" campaign.

Dryden listed a number of things to watch to be sure that every Christmas card and gift package will be delivered before Christmas Eve. Some of these are the following:

First, check over your Christmas card and gift list very carefully to be certain each address is complete with full name, street and number, city, state and zone or ZIP Code number.

Second, stock up soon on sturdy packing materials for your gift packages, including heavy wrapping paper, corrugated cartons, strong cord and paper adhesive tape.

Third, buy your postage stamps now. New five-cent Christmas tree stamps are now available for your cards. First-class postage will permit cards to be forewarded or returned to sender if they can't be delivered.

Fourth, procure free labels from your post office which read "ALL FOR LOCAL DELIVERY" and "ALL FOR OUT-OF-TOWN DELIVERY", so that you can sort your Christmas cards into two groups, with addresses all facing one way, thus insuring fast delivery.

Fifth, be sure that your full name and address is on all of your Christmas card envelopes and shipping labels and be doubly sure to include your ZIP Code number in your return address.

Dryden especially requests that patrons schedule their Christmas mailings so that all cards and gift packages going to most distant points are mailed by December 10. Those for local destinations should be mailed at least a week before Christmas.

H. Van de Streek Wins Case; Five Other Actions Were Settled Out of Court

The first two cases scheduled to be heard last Monday at the opening of the November term of Pennington county district court were settled out of court, Henry Storhaug, clerk of court, stated today. Judge H. O. Chommie is presiding over the term.

The two actions, scheduled to be tried jointly, were those of Dale Swenson as trustee for the next of kin of Shirley Mae Swenson, deceased, vs. David and Donald Klopp, and of Robert J. Lawson, vs. the same defendants. The suit alleged wrongful death in a traffic mishap in September, 1962.

In the first case to be tried, the jury Tuesday returned a verdict awarding $604.63 to Harold Van de Streek, plaintiff, against Alma Larson, involving damage to a car in an accident in July, 1962.

Ass'n. for Retarded Will View Film "The Darkest Hour"

Minnesota's program for the mentally retarded—what is being done now and what should be done in the future—is the subject of "The Darkest Side", a film which will be shown at a meeting of the Pennington-Red Lake Association for Retarded Children to be held at 8 p. m. in the Thief River Falls city auditorium. The public is invited.

"The Darkest Side" reports the results of a study by the Governor's advisory committee on mental retardation and was prepared as an audio-visual report for use in creating wide citizen interest in the problems of mental retardation. The committee, appointed by Governor Elmer L. Andersen a year ago, also submitted an 84-page written report.

The film shows Minnesota's three major institutions for the retarded, as well as day activity centers and other community programs for the retarded.

"This film represents an unique effort to bring the results of the advisory committee's study to the attention of the general public," said Mrs. Morris Odegaard, local association president. "We hope that the citizens of the area will take this opportunity to see the film and to gain better understanding of the problems in this field."

Jaycees Light Nativity Scene Friday Night

Official lighting of the Jaycee-sponsored nativity scene near the Thief River Falls post office will take place Friday at 9 p. m., following action taken by the Jaycee board of directors Monday evening. The program will be in conjunction with the beginning of the city's holiday street lighting the same weekend.

Music will be furnished by the Thief River Falls elementary school boys chorus under the direction of Miss Kay Sunderland—the first public appearance of the group which has been organized this year. Rev. Dean Headley, pastor of Community Methodist church, will deliver a brief Christmas message and Mayor Orin Green will officially light the scene. Marvin Lundin, Jaycee president, will serve as master of ceremonies.

Allan Torkelson is chairman of the committee for erection of the scene and arranging for public address system and electricity for lighting.

For the past several years the organization has conducted a sale of Christmas tree ornaments to finance additional figurines for the scene. This year a door-to-door campaign for sale of Christmas wreaths will be conducted during the first week in December, replacing the ornament sale. William Ness is chairman of the sale committee.

Other discussion at the board meeting involved chapter sponsorship of an Explorer scout post, hosting of the Region 2 meeting Thursday and assistance in the residential campaign of the United Fund.

C of C Members Hear of Need for Effective Program

"An effective program is the foundation of a good Chamber of Commerce," stated Dick Hamilton, executive secretary of the local organization, at a membership meeting held Tuesday evening in the Elks club rooms. Theme of the session was "Traveling, or Just Going Somewhere".

"By utilizing experience and ideas we can formulate a dynamic program of work for 1964," Hamilton told 70 members in attendance at the meeting. "We must work together to do a man-size job and remember that Thief River Falls is our business."

Hamilton added that a Chamber of Commerce must fit the local needs, have a program based on area economy, study legislation at all levels and uphold the free market economy. He said that everyone is responsible for these goals since there is no mysterious 'Mr.X' who will do the job instead.

Following the program presentation, members present formed table discussion groups to study ideas on the most important job for the Chamber of Commerce in the coming year. Ideas presented will be studied by the board of directors and many will be incorporated into next year's program of work.

Elevator Fire Averted Tuesday By Fast Action

Thief River Falls fire department answered a call at 3:07 p. m. Tuesday to the Land O'Lakes elevator on Davis avenue where a belt sliding on a stuck pulley created enough friction to burn the belt and ignite the dust in the top portion of the elevator.

While damage was minor, a few moments delay could have resulted in a very extensive and serious fire. At one time flames were seen on the outside of the elevator. The fire department suggested that a man be posted at the elevator Tuesday night, and he extinguished two other small fires which started during the night.

Public Notice!

Christmas Season is the time of the year when all of a sudden certain Non-Jewelers go into the Watch business. These same stores do not have trained personel that can advise you properly on the type of watch to buy nor do they have a service department equipped to service the watches they sell. Ask the clerk to shorten the band or regulate the watch. The answer "Sorry, we can't do that here." Ask him the difference between a pin lever watch and a jeweled lever watch and you can be sure he won't know the answer. Ask him the price — it's a bargain — he thinks! Yes, and soon as Christmas is over these same stores go out of the watch business.

Because of this compo.ition of poorly made watches, the BULOVA Watch Company, the largest in the world, introduced the Caravelle Watch which is a 7-jewel watch for a reasonable price. $10.95 and up. This is no doubt the finest watch available for the price. PLUS, authorized Bulova dealers that maintain a service department with a licensed watchmaker to service the watches they sell.

If you mail order for a watch — you'll have to expect slow mail order for service too. Give us a chance. We'll show you where you can buy, from us for less. A proven quality watch. What we say it is — "It Is".

Think twice before you waste money on a "bargain watch." When you're in the market for a watch, why don't you see a watch expert — Your local Jeweler.

LIVESTOCK DISEASES

Livestock production is frequently hampered by different kinds of livestock diseases: Some diseases can be controlled quite effectively by inspecting animals. This prevents the disease from spreading. If one herd, or flock, is found infected, animals are disposed of before the problem gets too serious. Two such inspection programs will be underway in Pennington county this year.

Sheep Scabies. After December 2, 10 per cent of the Pennington county sheep flocks will be examined. These flocks will be chosen at random. That is, a veterinarian just drops in to see 17 flocks in Pennington county.

However, if a farmer suspects scabies trouble and wants a vet to stop in, then he is asked to contact the extension office. There is no charge made to the farmer for this test.

In the first tier of counties against the Iowa border, 100 per cent of the sheep will be checked for scabies. In the next tier, 33 per cent will be checked. In the rest of the state, only 10 per cent will be examined.

Bangs and TB. All of the cattle in Pennington county will be tested for Bangs (Brucellosis) and TB starting January 10. There are exceptions made to this. No cattle under two years will be tested for TB. Females and bulls under six months will not be tested for bangs, nor will the livestock vaccinated for bangs within one year of this test.

Further notice of the area bangs and TB test will be made by the Minnesota Livestock Sanitary board.

Shelterbelts. The state conservation department nurseries still have trees available for shelterbelts. These come to farmers at very nominal costs. Evergreens are sold at once cent each and deciduous (leaf) trees at once cent each. Minimum orders are 500 with additional trees in multiples of 100.

Evergreens still available are Ponderosa pine, Norway Pine, Jack pine, Scotch pine, White spruce, Black spruce and Norway spruce. Deciduous trees still available are Silver maple, Green ash, Caragana and Honeysuckle. Application blanks for trees can be picked up at the extension office.

Farmers who have prepared land which was cropped last summer, or sod which was summerfallowed, would do well to order trees now to plant next spring. The county soil conservation service provides assistance in planting trees.

Local Men Finish Barbering Course

Donald Grabanski, Dean Hams Given Certificates

Donald H. Grabanski and Dean L. Hams have received their certificates of achievement in related training on a home study basis in barbering. Grabanski served an apprenticeship in barbering with Rudolph Sagmoen and Hams with Garfield Benson.

Prior to the apprenticeship both attended accredited barber schools for 1200 hours. This home study course, offered under the supervision of Harold A. Donkersgoed, is a service of the Trade & Industrial unit, Vocational section, State Department of Education, in cooperation with the local school system.

Objective of the home study program is to better train the isolated apprentice. Many apprentices are unable to attend related training classes, because they are too far from a vocational school, Donkersgoed said.

An apprentice learns his manual skills while working on the job. His home study course is designed to cover the period of apprenticeship and provides related and technical information of the trade.

Which Came First — The Checkin' or the Oil?

Husband of Former Local Girl Fights Government

Robert Fairbank, brother-in-law of State Rep. Andrew Skaar of rural Thief River Falls has been waging a running battle with big government for the past 18 years. At stake is more than $15 million claimed by the Fairbank family and the question of whether or not an individual's voice can be heard in a controversy with the federal government.

Fairbank, a real estate man in Morro Bay, Calif., is married to a daughter of Ole Skaar of Thief River Falls. Since he was discharged from the army in 1945, he has been trying to get a new hearing in the U. S. Court of Claims. The question and the story are told in an article by Orr Kelly in the November 10 edition of the Washington, D. C., Sunday Star.

"In essence, the problem is to define this simple phrase: 'Known mineral land'. If the answer is decided one way, it can mean more than $15 million to the heirs of Dr. Charles O. Fairbank, who once owned 150 acres in the Elk Hills area of California's Kern county, land which is now part of the second largest oil field in the United States.

"If the answer goes the other way, the U. S. Government will keep its $15 million, and a dream —only part of which is concerned with fabulous wealth—will have ended. Proceeding expeditiously—as it was ordered by Congress—the U. S. Court of Claims will come up with an answer next month or the month after that, or the month after that.

"(On November 8) the five judges of the court heard the final arguments in the case, which has been before the court since 1956. Since that time, the dispute over those three words has involved an accumulation of testimony and exhibits almost literally big enough to fill a boxcar.

"Saul Richard Gamer, the commissioner who heard the case for the court, took a year to write his 112-page report, a scholarly discussion of what geologists knew—or might have known—about the Elk Hills area on Jan. 26, 1903. It was on that date that the State of California took over the land from the government under an old law which granted land to the states for school purposes—if it was not 'known mineral land'.

"Six years later, the state managed to sell the land for $1.25 an acre to a man who passed it on to Dr. Fairbank for $20 an acre. Land closer to the producing oil fields in the San Joaquin Valley was then selling for $500 an acre.

"In the years after he bought it, Dr. Fairbank's land brought him nothing and, as the need grew for oil to fuel the Navy in World War I, he offered to sell the land to the government. The assistant secretary of the Navy, a young man named Franklin D. Roosevelt, said no.

Standard Hits Oil

"Then, drilling under a lease from Dr. Fairbank, Standard Oil struck oil on the land in 1919. In 1921, Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, who was to become deeply involved in the Teapot Dome scandal, reviewed the case and decided the government had no claim on the land. Standard Oil kept pumping and Dr. Fairbank, his wife and four sons, appeared to be sitting pretty.

"But in 1924, the government again took a look at the land and began a proceeding which resulted in a 1933 order signed by Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes, decreeing that the property was 'known mineral land' in 1903, and thus had belonged to the government all along.

"The government then sued Standard Oil and the heirs of Dr. Fairbank. The case was brought to the supreme court, then given up. Standard, convinced it was beaten, paid the government $7 million in back royalties.

"What bothered him (Robert Fairbank) particularly was that the courts had never decided the issue of whether the Elk Hills property was 'known mineral land' in 1903. They had merely decided that Secretary Ickes was acting within his power when he took the land for the government.

"In 1956, Robert got his Congressman . . .to introduce a bill in the House asking the Court of Claims to consider the case. It is this that the court has been doing for the last seven years.

To Study Testimony

"In the next few months, the judges will study the 10,000 typewritten pages covering testimony of more than 160 witnesses, the 995 exhibits and the more than 1,800 pages of briefs that they have accumulated in the case. When they reach their decision, they will send it to Congress which may then pay the Fairbanks all or part of the $15 million they are asking—or give them nothing.

"But whether they get a fortune —or a handful of legal bills—the heirs of Dr. Fairbank will have realized their dream of justice. They have had their day in court."

In a special letter to the Times, Dr. Fairbank noted, "Monetary result is important, naturally—but like an iceberg, significance is beneath the surface in so far as this case is concerned. How many of us can afford the tremendous effort involved? What happened to 'due process of law.'"

In an earlier letter he noted, "Incidentally, the Fairbank family has, at Dedham, Mass., the oldest house standing in North America which has neither been out of the family nor mortgaged since it was built in 1636. We originally came here, like others, to escape some measure of arbitrary government and, like them fought in the Revolutionary War."

Prowler Cagers Join in District Jamboree

The first annual District 31 basketball jamboree will be held in the University of North Dakota fieldhouse on Saturday, November 23, with the opening tipoff slated for 7:00 p.m. The jamboree, with eight of the District's 11 teams participating, is sponsored by the athletic department of East Grand Forks Central high school.

The schedule of the games with the games being of sixteen minutes duration, is as follows: Thief River Falls vs. Fischer, 7:00 p.m.; Crookston vs. Goodridge, 7:45 p.m.; Warren vs. Plummer, 8:30 p.m.; and East Grand Forks vs. Oslo, 9:15 p.m.

This schedule has been arranged so that a Class A team—Thief River Falls, Crookston, Warren, and East Grand Forks—will be meeting one of the district's Class B teams. And the total points tallied in the four games, A vs. B, will determine the winner.

An advance ticket sale for students will be conducted at each participating school, with the price of the student tickets being fifty-cents. Adult tickets will be sold at the field house ticket offices, and the price will be one dollar a ticket. The advance ticket sale is being made to facilitate the handling of the crowd as the school busses arrive.

The officials will "work" the district 31 tournament in March—Forrest Johnson, Derby Emerson, and Russ Burfening—will call the four jamboree games.

The fans supporting the district's Class B teams will be seated on the south side of the fieldhouse court, while the district's Class A fans will be seated on the north side.

This event will give the fans, and the coaching staffs, too, a preview of 8 of the 11 teams in District 31.

Junker Tells of Basketball Hopes At Lincoln High

Head Coach Is Speaker At Rotary Club Monday; Tells of Tough Schedule

Jack Junker, head basketball coach at Lincoln high school, was guest speaker at the noon meeting of the Thief River Falls Rotary club on Monday. Also a guest at the session was Ralph Skay, athletic director.

Junker reviewed the personnel on his team for this season and told of the rugged schedule which the squad will play this year. He stated that the offensive pattern would be changed to suit the material available for the team and expressed optimism for the season's showing.

"These boys are putting forth a lot of effort and they deserve a full house," the coach of the 1963 District 31 champions said. "Sure, we like to sell tickets, but I think a full house is of great benefit to the kids playing on your team."

Noted for a now somewhat-abated tendency to wring a towel during games, Junker was presented with a large towel by the Rotary club. Curtis Charlson made the presentation, quipping, "Having seen your teams play, we first thought of a book, "The Fundamentals of Basketball". But having seen your teams play, as I said, we thought it wouldn't do any good anyway."

Skay also mentioned the season tickets for all winter sports contests which are being sold for $8 each.

Attendance of Teachers at PTA Held Voluntary

The discussion as to whether teachers can be compelled to attend PTA meetings is outside the scope of PTA policy according to Mrs. Charles M. Huffman, Hopkins, president of the Minnesota Congress of Parents and Teachers.

A recent request of a member of the state board of education on whether teachers can be compelled to attend PTA meetings was answered by the attorney general's office that school boards may require teachers to do so.

Commenting on PTA membership policy, Mrs. Huffman said, "Teachers membership, attendance and participation in the PTA is entirely voluntary."

Mrs. Huffman quoted a statement made last April to Teacher-members of PTA. "Teachers belong to their professional associations and to the PTA for the same reasons: both enrich their experience and increase their professional competence. Teachers are voluntary members of the PTA just as parents and other citizens are. They share leadership and responsibility to the extent that their time and duties permit, just as other members do."

An Innovation

The high school basketball teams in District 30 and District 32 have, for the past several years, held a pre-season "jamboree" wherein the teams engage in a brief scrimmage. These "jamborees" have proven entertaining and have given the basketball season a proper sendoff. District 31, of which the Thief River Falls Prowlers are a member, will inaugurate the 1963-64 basketball season by holding a "jamboree" on Saturday night, November 23, on the spacious court in the University of North Dakota fieldhouse.

Eight of the eleven teams in the district—those missing from the affair will be the Climax Vikings, the Alvarado Indians, and the Red Lake Falls Eagles—will participate in the "jamboree".

To add a bit of spice to the competition, the teams have been seeded so that the Class A schools—Thief River Falls, Crookston, Warren, and East Grand Forks—will be playing the Class B schools—Fisher, Goodridge, Plummer and Oslo.

Prowlers Face Fisher

Coach Jack Junker's Prowlers, the defending district champions, will meet coach Norman Wagner's Fisher Flyers in the opening tilt at 7 p. m. The Prowlers and the Flyers will play a 16-minute game, as will the other teams participating in the "tourney". Following the Prowlers vs. Flyers game, the Crookston Pirates will play the Goodridge Huskies, with the tipoff at 7:45 p. m.; the Warren Ponies will meet the Plummer Cardinals at 8:30 p. m.; and the East Grand Forks Green Wave will play the Oslo Bobcats at 9:15 p. m. This arrangement provides for sixty-four minutes of basketball, and at the conclusion of these four "games", the total points scored by the A teams will be pitted against the total points tallied by the B teams. The high point total, of course, will be the winner.

And that opening 16-minute tilt between the Prowlers and the Fisher Flyers should be interesting. The two teams met in a District 31 tournament game last season, in the opening round, and the Prowlers, by a 66 to 51 score, defeated the Flyers. In that game the Prowlers moved into a 21 to 6 first-period lead, due largely to a 13-point performance by John Aune. John scored a total of 24 points in the game.

Coach Wagner, although losing the services of big Roger Beiswenger by graduation, will send a strong team on the floor. In Tom Bentrup, a forward last season, the Flyers will exhibit one of the district's finest players.

Another interesting game in the "jamboree" could be the Crookston Central vs. Goodridge contest. Last season, in a District 31 game, the Goodridge Huskies surprised Crookston by scoring a 62 to 41 win over the Pirates. In that game the Goodridge guards, Dick Saurdiff and Ray Parnow, accounted for 49 points, with Dick scoring 27 points and Ray adding 2.

Hockey Co-Captains

Coach George Schlieff's Prowler varsity hockey squad, impatiently awaiting sub-freezing temperatures and skating ice, did accomplish some important business this week. On Monday afternoon the squad elected Elroy Frolland and Don Mathieu as co-captains of the 1963-64 team.

The two boys, Elroy and Don, are deserving of the honors that they received on Monday, and it's certain that the pair will prove to be inspiring leaders for this season's rugged hockey campaign.

The hockey season, incidentally, is due to start on Tuesday, Dec. 17, with the East Grand Forks Green Wave, the A and B squads, playing here. Jack Frost and the Arena ice crew will have to do a hurry-up job if we are to have hockey by mid-December.

Region Eight did Well

Coach Eddie Jeremiah, who has been drilling the United States Olympic ice hockey team in St. Paul made the "final cut" of the squad this past week. The squad was trimmed to four forward lines, six defensemen, and three goalies.

And three former Region Eight high school stars are on the squad. Don Ross of Roseau, and now attending the University of North Dakota, is listed as a defenseman; and Roger and Billy Christian, the veterans of the Warroad Lakers, are named as forwards. Roger and Bill played stellar roles during the 1960 Olympics, when the United States team won the title.

Jim Westby of Minneapolis and the University of Minnesota was named to the blue-line corps. Jim is a brother of the Prowlers' assistant coach, Jerry Westby.

According to coach Jeremiah's present plans, the forward lines will be arranged in this manner: Paul Coppo, Paul Johnson and Dan Willworth; Dates Fryberger, Herb Brooks, and Oscar Mahle; Tim Taylor, Bill Hogan and Bob Smith; Gary Schmalzbauer, Dave Brooks, and Len Lilyholm; and Bill Reichart and Roger and Bill Christian.

High School League Tells Rule Reasons

by State Board of Control

Do you hear complaints about such game rules as "three strikes and you are out" or that a contestant is eliminated from a basketball game with the fifth personal foul? We doubt if you do with the rule itself, but only where judgement enters into its administration.

Most people seem to understand if game rules are not enforced the offender receives an advantage to which he is not entitled and inevitably causes an unfairness to someone else. If it were not for the unfairness to the opponent, perhaps we should give an extra strike when the batter gets a bug in his eye, or a player should have the sixth foul if he is not well coordinated and really didn't mean to foul.

Is this much different than penalizing a student or team for violating an eligibility rule or standard known to the contestant and established for the conduct of the events? Is it not true that if the penalty prescribed in the rule is not administered, the violator stands to gain while the opponent loses the opportunity he has rightly won? Perhaps there is cause to ask how it could be fairer to overlook enforcement of the rule as some seem to advocate.

It should be clear that League eligibility rules and standards are made by school officials in a most democratic way and with careful consideration before their final enactment. It seems almost impossible to conclude that the rules are not in the best interest of students and schools. we question whether anyone else has equal training, experience and understanding of the needs of young people along with a knowledge of the special problems associated with school athletics.

Perhaps one of the most difficult things to understand is the prescribed penalty in most eligibility rules and game standards. Normally in the administration of justice, those administering it have the opportunity to use discretion in the penalty. Eligibility rules and standards often follow the pattern of game rules, i.e. three strikes and you're out, without any medium ground or discretion on the part of those administering the penalty.

We think it is only proper that one asks why such a seemingly arbitrary thing as a prescribed penalty. It has often been said in administering sports that a rule is no stricter or better than the exception. In judging the soundness of such a statement, it is well first of all to reconsider the history of high school sports.

Schools were forced to assume control of sports and to organize on a state and national level in order that they could withstand local pressures and maintain programs that were acceptable and consistent with the schools' educational objectives. The nature of interscholastic sports creates situations in which parents and sports enthusiasts may become so involved that even those with the greatest courage and devotion to duty could not withstand pressure from biased persons without the aid of rules.

Secondly, the athletic program in Minnesota involves approximately 75,000 students in 491 schools. Schools are responsible for enforcing the rules themselves and make thousands of eligibility rulings each year. Only in a very exceptional case is the ruling made in the league office. One of the purposes is to establish uniform standards among schools that compete. If uniform standards are necessary or desirable, discretion in enforcement cannot be left with the local school system. The thousands of cases and exceptions that would need to be reviewed each year on a state level could not be administered uniformly and fairly.

Thirdly, it is perhaps wise to understand that the opportunity to participate in sports is a privilege and not a right. Court case after case throughout the country has established and upheld this position. From the educators' standpoint, most of us would like to see every boy have this wonderful opportunity. However, most students never achieve it because of a lack of God-given gifts. Only those with the proper physical gifts, and to a lesser degree mental, emotional, and temperament traits, make the team.

If sports participation is a privilege and only a few can be given the opportunity, there seems to be justification in establishing standards (rules) for school representation that will reflect credit on the school, student body and community. Many educators believe those privileged to represent their schools in activities should be students of high morals, character and citizenship, so they may meet their responsibility of giving constructive leadership and example to the young people in the community.

If rules are to be enforced, they must in all fairness be understood. It is believed that it is impossible for a student to have the slightest justification to claim lack of knowledge of the rules. League rules require that two copies of a two-page sheet containing all the student eligibility rules be furnished to each boy that is a candidate for a team. One copy is to be furnished to the parent and the second copy is read and studied by the candidate.

The second copy is then signed by the student and parent and returned to the school file. The student's signature is a certificate that he understands the rules and the parent's is an acknowledgement that he has received a copy of the rules. Several other means are used to inform the student body, community and student of the eligibility standards, but the one outlined should eliminate any possibility of penalty without knowledge of the rules.

The schools have established league rules that affect their schools directly as well as the students, such as limits on the number of games in a sports season, beginning and ending of a sports season, attendance at special training camps, all-star contests, etc. It is not possible to discuss even one of these at any length in these articles. Needless to say, all of the rules are a result of careful study by school officials.

Rules are adopted only when they are in the best interests of schools and students in the opinion of at least a two-thirds majority of delegates to rules-making sessions. Moreover, these same rules exist in almost every other state in generally the same form. League rules in many cases are less restrictive than those found in the codes of other states.

As an example, rules limit the number of basketball games in the regular season to 18 and hockey to 20. Such limitations allow slightly over one game per week during the sports season. Prior to the established limitation on hockey, one school was known to schedule approximately 40 games in a season. It would seem the need for such limitations is obvious if the primary interests of students and schools are to be protected from the pressures for over-emphasis.

Every rule is believed to be necessary and in the best interests of students and schools. While no one—even a school official—would concur with every rule, few question the need and purpose once they understand the principles involved and what school officials are trying to accomplish for students and their schools.

Out of a total designated system mileage of 898.1 miles, Minnesota has 794.7 miles either completed or in progress.

Iowa has 259.1 miles in progress, 273.2 miles open to traffic or a total of 532.3 miles out of a total designated system of 709 miles.

North Dakota has 146.9 miles in progress, 228.2 miles open to traffic, or a total of 375.1 miles out of a designated system of 567.9 miles.

540 Attend Camp Courage in 1963

United Fund Agency Had Record Number Attending

"More crippled children and adults attended camping programs of the Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults last summer than ever before," announced W.B. Schoenbohm, Executive Director. A total of 849 handicapped youngsters and adults participated in programs at Camp Courage and fifteen day camps in the State.

At Camp Courage, Minnesota's only camp for crippled children and adults, which is located between Maple Lake and Annandale, about fifty miles west of Minneapolis, 540 crippled children and adults from 73 Minnesota counties attended the regular camping sessions.

Special weekend sessions at camp Courage accommodated 111 other handicapped individuals, which included a weekend for handicapped service clubs and a weekend institute for the families of blind children.

In addition, day camping programs in fifteen local communities were attended by 198 crippled youngsters from six to fourteen years of age.

"This remarkable increase in the number of handicapped who could attend camping programs is due in large part to those who contribute to United Fund campaign or the annual Crippled Children's Appeal," Schoenbohm added.

The Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults conducts the Crippled Children's Appeal only in those areas in which it does not participate in United Funds.

"Camping opportunities for crippled children and adults will continue to expand in Minnesota as the Camp Courage Expansion Program develops," Schoenbohm said, "and 300 more handicapped youngsters and adults will be able to attend each summer."

Kiwanis Honors Highway Engineer

Harold E. Olson Honored for Roadside Parks Work

Harold E. Olson, Roseville, has received the 1963 public service award from the Kiwanis Club of St. Paul. The award, which goes to an outstanding government employee annually, was presented at a Kiwanis luncheon on Nov. 14.

Olson, a civil engineer, recently retired from the Minnesota highway department after 41 years service, then returned as a special consultant to the commissioner.

He received the award for his outstanding contribution to the development of scenic easements for roadside parking areas and overlooks along Minnesota's trunk highway system, devotion of his own time to work with garden clubs and community organizations on billboard control and roadside improvement, and his contribution to the development of the Great River Road.

As roadside development engineer since 1931, Olson initiated a program of developing scenic easement for the trunk highway system, for the sake of beauty as well as safety. Examples of scenic easements developed under Olson include the TH 61 overlook of Lake Superior, TH 95 overlook at Stillwater and a reforestation project along TH 10 between St. Cloud and Becker.

He has been associated with the national Mississippi River Parkway Commission since 1939, serving as secretary since 1956.

"Justice is the great interest of man on earth. It is the ligament which holds civilized beings and civilized nations together. He Will, He Will Not

Premier Khrushchev has indicated that he still has plans for putting a man on the moon. The sly old rascal was quite friendly for a while but now he hopes for our destruction again. He realizes that the best way to destroy us is to encourage us to destroy ourselves. By saying Russia will be first in the moon spectacular he knows that he will greatly strengthen the position of those in our country who want to spend $40 billion for the doubtful honor.

Money Problems

Our country and nine other industrial nations are trying to figure out how to establish a better unit of international currency. The plan calls for the creation of a new currency which leading nations would hold as their monetary reserves. At present nations hold only gold and American dollars, and in a few cases British pounds.

Gold and silver have served well as a base for international exchange over a period of many years. Paper money, like a bank check, is not always a satisfactory medium of exchange, serving a good purpose only to the extent that it is related to gold or silver.

But we will leave it to the experts to figure out a better solution for a problem for which there probably will never be a perfect solution.

We Have Made Progress

Elston Howard, a Negro, has been named the American League's most valuable player. Many of us can remember when Negroes were not permitted to participate in organized baseball, or in organized sports of any kind. They no longer are discriminated against in the field of organized sports. Their gradual recognition was not achieved by any march on Wasdington or by mass demonstrations, and this is a point those who speak for us in Washington should keep in mind.

Instead of telling the world how the Negroes in our country are discriminated against, and playing cheap politics with the issue, let's emphasize the progress that has been made in gradual, unsensational integration. There still are wrongs that need to be righted, but time, and time alone, will bring the solutions. As a nation we have reason to be proud of the progress that already has been made.

We Are Sick

One good result of the argument with Russia about the use of American ships in the delivery of wheat is the information that the American people have received about the extent of the subsidy of our sick shipping industry. Under the present system our government subsidizes the cost of carrying goods on American vessels, sometimes paying almost half.

This problem of government subsidies, in all of its phases, is in need of a thorough overhauling. Subsidies are wrong, mainly because they do not accomplish the purpose for which they were intended. They are wrong because, being adopted as a temporary solution for an economic emergency, they invariably become permanent. And they are wrong because they fail to recognize that fundamental rule of economics, and nature, the law of the survival of the fittest.

Our nation is in serious trouble. We may be threatened by the enemies who live across the seas. But our real enemies, that we have most reason to fear, are right here at home. They are the groups that are sapping our strength as a nation from within. They are making us a nation of weaklings. And their leaders are those whom the masses look upon as our great men.

Robust Health

A New York Times Service reporter, commenting on reports that "emanated from government offices" passes along the information that "the United States economy continues to enjoy a state of robust health." That would be very encouraging if it were true. But whoever spoke for the government in this instance no doubt was a little confused and somewhat careless in his choice of words.

If the health of our economy were measured only in terms of business activity we would agree that conditions at this time are healthy. But unfortunately much of our business acivity is decidedly unhealthy for the obvious reason that too much of it is based on pump-priming public dollars — borrowed dollars that are adding greatly to our already enormous debt. Our banker would tell us that our economy actually is in very poor health.

President Kennedy has told us right along that conditions are so bad that we should cut taxes and increase public spending. According to his New Frontier thinking, what this country needs is bigger deficits, especially in a campaign year. Some folks have strange ideas about how to acquire robust health.

We all have known unfortunate people who drink too much. With each drink their health seems to improve, up to a certain point. Continued drinking after having reached the peak, results inevitably in a rapid deterioration.

Some place out there in that New Frontier there obviously are too many saloons. Let's sober up and start facing the facts.

Great Lakes Shipping

Canada has created a trusteeship that for a period of three years will direct the activities of labor unions that had stopped the operation of Canadian ships on the Great Lakes. The three trustees were given broad powers by the Canadian government and the Canadian ships are on the move again.

Our country has been involved in the struggle to some extent. An American union, sympathetic to their Canadian members, refused to permit the loading of a Canadian ship in an American port. A Federal injunction, contempt-of-court convictions and a $14,500 fine have failed to impress the American longshoremen and they refused to load the ship with American grain as it lay empty at a Chicago dock from April 22 to September 20, when it finally sailed back to Canada empty.

Our government didn't want to take more drastic action, it is said, because President Kennedy didn't want to offend a friendly union in a campaign year. All of which has not improved our relations with responsible Canadian citizens.

Unpredictable Khrushchev

Writing in The Reporter, Priscilla Johnson presents an interesting review of the leadership of unpredictable Nikita Khrushchev. In 1956 he drastically changed the form of government in Russia in practice by denouncing Stalin and putting an end to the police state.

Gradually the Russian people achieved a measure of freedom, noticeable especially in the fields of art and literature. Criticism of the government was to some extent tolerated. Then, as Miss Johnson reminds us:

With all the fury of a winter hurricane, it changed. The change began last December 1, when Khrushchev visited an art display at the enormous Manezh gallery. His reactions were to have a devastating impact. Viewing the work of some of the more "modern" painters, he called them "parasites" and "pederasts" and concluded: "Gentlemen, we are declaring war on you!" Within weeks what had begun as an offensive against painters had spread to the entire artistic community.

"High-ranking officials who had been congratulating themselves on the "flowering of young Soviet poetry" whirled on cue and set about destroying the very men responsible for it. By March the campaign had reached a climax when Khrushchev partially rehabilitated Stalin. "At Stalin's funeral," he declared, "many people, including myself, had tears in their eyes. These were honest tears." Even the idols of the younger generation—Yevtushenko, Voznesensky, and the prose writer Vasily Axyonov—were compelled to yield to party criticism.

"Today the larger poetry readings still are banned. But almost as abruptly as it burst last winter, the storm seems now to have abated. Yevtushenko and Ilya Ehrenburg, so recently disgraced, have been glimpsed once again in the corridors of the mighty. And after several months' exile in onion-domed Vladimir, the provincial town of his childhood, Vaznesensky has again been published in Pravda.

"Was the campaign against Soviet intellectuals an attempt to dampen the burgeoning enthusiasm with which nonconformist poets and painters were beginning to be greeted all over Russia? Was it a coherent effort to deal with what may be the real long-range dilemma of Soviet totalitarianism: the emergence of a public opinion that could one day elude control by the party? If so, then why are the cannons so suddenly silent?"

Reviewing more recent events Miss Johnson suggests that there has been a change of attitude among the Russian people. She thinks that the spirit of de-Stalinization may now be firmly rooted in the thinking of the people and that important changes may be in the making. She concludes:

"In destroying the last vestige of political opposition in the 1930's, Stalin destroyed, too, the kind of creative commitment that alone could close the gap between myth and reality, between what Soviet society claimed to be and what in fact it was. For such a commitment to exist, perhaps there had also to be a possibility of genuine opposition, of a conscience independent of the party's. If this year's drive in the arts has helped in any small way to bring a real political opposition into being, then it will have brought closer a cleansing of Soviet life from the only place whence it can come—from the Soviet people themselves."

REPORT TO THE PEOPLE

by Governor

KARL ROLVAAG

The other day a group of our state education and welfare consultants joined me in a tour of two unique schools, the School for the Deaf and the Braille and Sight Saving School, both in Faribault.

Unforgetable Experience

It was an experience I shall never forget. I saw a little deaf girl excitedly try out her first words. "March!" she said, and she marched. "Laugh!" she said, and she laughed. I saw a blind teenager put down her crutches, take up her Spanish book and reel off a story about old Mexico, with an accent that won her teacher's approval. I learned firsthand what wonderful opportunities this state makes available to our handicapped children, and I learned how much these programs depend on the dedicated educators and houseparents who do the work.

The Goal Is Opportunity

The citizens of Minnesota can be proud of what they are offering—not only these two remarkable residential schools, but many similar programs in school districts throughout the state. The goal is simply this: to bring to every child the opportunity to grow and develop to the fullest extent possible. So much is happening in this field of education for the handicapped or, as it is called, special education!

Steady Increase In Deaf

Enumerating some of the developments in the field of deafness, one notes the steady increase in the number of deaf handicapped. It is a predictable percentage of the population, and as the population goes up, so do the numbers of youngsters enrolled at the school. This is a particularly difficult handicap to deal with. We are still waiting for the medical or scientific "breakthrough" which may enable us to prevent deafness or to make radical improvements in teaching the deaf. Meantime, of course, there is an immediate job to do: to expand and improve facilities at the Faribault School for the Deaf, to quicken our efforts to train teachers in this field, and to encourage development of classes for the deaf in school districts all over the state, so that the residential school will not be the only resource available to a deaf child.

Blindness Decreasing

In the field of the visually handicapped, the picture is quite different. The number of blind children is declining because of the changes in medical knowledge. Further, the ability of the visually handicapped child to get his education in his home school district has resulted in a diminished demand for the residential school. This has resulted in a changing role for the Braille and Sight Saving School. More and more, it is demonstrating its great value as an education resource for the multiply-handicapped. It is estimated that there are about 80 to 90 multiply-handicapped children in the state who are not now being educated in the normal classroom, but who could make substantial gains at the Braille and Sight Saving School if the additional staff and resources were made available.

Judicious Use Of Funds

We saw a classroom of multiply-handicapped blind children during our visit. The teachers called the roll to music, and the children responded happily by singing their names. One twelve-year old youngster we met was in school for the first time in his life and according to his teacher was making good progress. Programs like these cost money and it is a responsibility of the leaders of government to see to it that the appropriations are used judiciously and effectively. I am pleased to report that this is the case in our expanding and successful programs of special education.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Volume Fifty-two Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota Thursday, November 21, 1963 Number Ninety-three

Operation of 'U' in '63 Cost $20 Million

Operating costs of the University of Minnesota for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1963, totaled $102,575,074.32 for all campuses and stations, according to a summary of financial operations released today by L.R. Lunden, business vice president. Of this total, the State of Minnesota provided approximately one third.

In addition to its operating expenses, the University paid out $6,184,252.73 for construction and remodeling of buildings and the purchase of Land. In the 12-month period, to meet construction costs, the sum of $4,266,417.92 was withdrawn from funds appropriated by the State Legislature for that purpose.

Largest operating outlay, Lunden reported, was the $26,667,093.87 spent for the instruction of students at collegiate level and departmental research on all campuses. An additional $13,734,272.03 was expended for organized activities relating to instructional departments such as University Hospitals and libraries. Budgeted and sponsored research expenditures amounted to $21,947,150.28. The cost of extension and public service activities such as the general extension division, agricultural extension and the Minnesota Museum of Natural History totaled $8,304,765.82.

The University's overall operating costs were $102,575,074.32 while transfers, increases in obligations and other adjustments added $3,326,808.87 for a total of $105,901,883.19, Vice President Lunden pointed out. Of this total, the State of Minnesota provided $34,184,722.00 or 33 per cent. State support funds consisted of the Legislative maintenance appropriation of $27,910,764.00, a special appropriation of $4,143,534.42 ($2,072,922.42 of which was charged to the counties) for the care of indigent patients at University Hospitals and a Legislative allotment of $4,203,346.00 for special projects carried on by the University for the general benefit of Minnesota's citizens.

These "special projects" include agricultural extension work and research, business and economic research, medical research, operation of the Minnesota Rehabilitation Center, the Child Psychiatric Hospital, the Multiple Sclerosis Clinic, the Institute of Child Development and the schools of agriculture student aid fund.

Sources of the University's operating income other than the State, the report indicates, are: appropriations from the Federal government, $2,963,790.46; student tuition and fees, $10,394,057.62; self-supporting auxiliary enterprises, $16,056,223.10; trust funds, $24,758,368.74, of which $19,314,903.22 represents federal contracts and grants; and intercollegiate athletics, $1,719,876.49.

Income from intercollegaite athletics included $1,636,956.41 from the Morris campus. Expenditures for the operation of intercollegiate athletics and that part of physical education expenses paid from athletic receipts totaled $1,679,021.67 for the fiscal year 1962-63. Involved was an outlay of $1,593,050.28 in Minneapolis, $76,936.58 in Duluth, and $9,034.81 in Morris.

Other highlights of the report released by Vice President Lunden are as follows:

Overall total current fund receipts of the University for the fiscal year amounted to $105,901,883.19. The free unencumbered balance as of June 30 was $2,778.27.

Expenditures for building and remodeling and land purchases, totaling $6,184,252.73, were distributed as follows: Minneapolis campus, $5,382,078.65; St. Paul Campus, $396,550.28; Duluth campus, $170,136.40; Morris campus and station, $100,296.49; outlying schools and stations and off-campus plant $135,190.91.

At the close of the fiscal year, the University total endowment fund, including endowments for general purposes amounting to $47,282,147.96, totaled $67,476,301.88.

University-owned land as of June 30, 1963, consisted of 16,554.62 acres which cost $11,159,135.00, while the University's 933 buildings had estimated value of $126,833,514.81, representing original cost. University equipment was valued at $54,454,603.74 and included $346,768.48 in livestock and $12,452,880.97 in books and museum collections.

Reminds Boaters to Renew Permits

Many Licenses Due to Expire December 31st

The Minnesota bureau of boat and water safety has issued a warning for all boat registrants to carefully check the expiration date on their license cards.

All boat licenses with an expiration date of December 31, 1962 must be renewed by applying directly to the Department of Conservation before December 31, 1963.

Application blanks are available from the Conservation Department, county sheriffs, county auditors and agents throughout the state.

After January 1, 1964, all boat registrants who failed to renew their licenses with an expiration date of December 31, 1962, shall have forfeited the right to keep the same license number and will be required to remove the present numbers from their boats.

The current registration procedur gives boat registrants one full year to renew after license expiration. If renewal is not obtained during the renewable year, the boat owner will be required to obtain new registrations.

The 1964-65 renewals for boat licenses that expire on December 31, 1963, are not yet available and can not be obtained until after January 1, 1964, from county auditors and agents.

Plastic Drivers' License Due in '64

Authorized by State Legislature Last Spring

Come next spring, Minnesota drivers licenses will be made of plastic. Equipment for processing them has been purchased and arrangements are under way for installing it at the Minnesota highway department central offices, St. Paul, it was announced today.

The plastic licenses will be slightly smaller and better suited to the wallet. They will be the same color now in use, to distunguish between the regular license, the minor's license and the drivers learning permit. The new licenses will be fully plastic and information will be embossed on them.

The cost of the new license will remain the same to the driver, but the 3½-cent difference will be borne by the highway department and amortized over a 10-year peroid.

The Minnesota state legislature at its last session passed enabling legislation on the plastic license, with the approval of the highway department, to make more durable and more difficult to alter or counterfelt.

When the plastic licenses come out the licenses presently in the hands of drivers will remain valid until they expire or renewal is necessary for change of address or name.

"RAISING" CHILDREN BY THE BOOK

We have a choice in America . . . a choice denied millions who live under godless communism.

Here is a man who is exercising that choice!

He believes that children growing up in the free world ought to know the Author of Liberty. He wants his son and daughter to cherish and embrace the spiritual insights God has given man.

This father introduced his children to the Bible when they were very young. Today the Book of the Ages is their friend. Tomorrow it will be their guide through the frightening age to which they have been born.

The American Bible Society — supported by earnest Christian citizens and the churches they attend — enables millions of families around the globe to share our heritage of Truth with this new generation on whose spiritual fibre rests the hope of the world.

THE WORD OF TRUTH
SUPPORT THE WORK OF THE AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

President Kennedy Killed by Assassin's Bullets Friday

Junior College Discussed at Lions Meeting

Supt. M. Hankerson Urges TRF Citizens to Support Project

Supt. Marshall Hankerson of the Thief River Falls school system discussed the efforts currently being made to have this city designated as the site of one of the new two-year junior colleges to be set up under state auspices in accordance with a law enacted during the 1963 session of the state legislature.

Mr. Hankerson stated that the law provides for 15 junior colleges, probably including most of the present 11 in addition to three new ones in the Twin Cities metropolitan area. He added that the law also requires that special attention be given to the needs of Northwestern Minnesota.

Pointing out that approximately 30 per cent of local high school graduates go on to institutions of higher learning, Mr. Hankerson said that a junior college here would enable the students to take their first two years of college work without leaving their home community, thus making a substantial saving in costs. Such an institution, he said, would complement the services of the local area vocational school.

Hankerson said that the community must convince the state junior college board and other agencies that there is a genuine need for such an institution here, as well as general support for it. He suggested that local groups show their interest by sending supporting resolutions to the junior college board, and the Lions club at the close of the meeting unanimously adopted such a resolution.

Philip Hess reported that the stock sale conducted by Arctic Enterprises had resulted in purchases by local investors of more than $46,000 worth, and he urged that any others planning on buying stock do so without delay so that the $50,000 goal may be achieved.

Lloyd Craft, area Boy Scout leader, thanked the Lions club for its support of Scout activities and for aiding in the United Fund drive, which helps to finance Scout work in the community.

Accused Assassin Is Slain Sunday by Man In Crowd with Pistol

President John F. Kennedy, the victim of an assassin's bullets about 12:30 p. m. Friday, is being laid to rest today at Arlington National cemetery in Arlington, Va. The 35th President of the United States was shot by a hidden rifleman while he was riding in a motor cavalcade enroute to a public meeting in Dallas, Tex.

Hundreds of thousands of mourners filed past the flag-draped casket in the historic East Room of the White House as the body lay in state until 10 a.m. today. From there the casket was taken to St. Matthew's cathedral for funeral services at 11 a. m. (noon in Washington, D. C.). Today has been declared as a national day of mourning and supported by state and local governments. Most Thief River Falls business places were closed this morning.

President Kennedy was believed hit twice by bullets from a high caliber rifle fired from the fifth floor of the Texas Book Depository building bordering the street. Hospital authorities said he died about 1 p. m., half an hour after the shooting, of a bullet wound in the head. Mrs. Kennedy, riding with the President in the car, was making her first traveling appearance with him since prior to the election.

Also wounded in the flurry of three shots was Gov. John Connally of Texas. A bullet tore downward through his collarbone, through the right side of his chest. It fragmented, smashing three ribs and puncturing his lung, then shattered his right wrist and lodged in his left leg just above the knee. Doctors believe, however, that he will suffer no disability and will fully recover.

Officially charged with the assassination was Lee Harvey Oswald, a pro-Castro Marxist and former U. S. Marine who had been dishonorably discharged, and who at one time lived in Russia. Dallas police arrested Oswald after he Outfoxing the Foxes . . .

Gerhard and Ed Hemly Have Unique Father & Son Hobby

REWARD for their trapping efforts was received by Gerhard and Ed Hemly of Plummer when they sold their fur catch to "Bud" Evans of Evans Seed and Produce in Thief River Falls. Evans' bid for 114 fox, 50 raccoons and 10 badgers topped that of another fur buyer. The Hemlys skin their own catches, flesh, stretch and dry the hides before selling fur. Early trapping, done to meet competition before pelts are prime, is done for bounty only. Bounty payments on adult fox are $3 each. Left to right in the above photo are Gerhard and Ed Hemly and Evans.

by Marvin Lundin
City Editor

For the past three years Gerhard and Ed Hemly of Plummer have engaged in a unique father and son partnership. Since Gerhard retired from the Red Lake county highway department after 23 years of service in 1960, the two men have engaged in trapping operations during the fall and winter.

During the past three years they have caught about 1,200 fox in Pennington and Red Lake counties, generally operating their trap line in the immediate Plummer area. In 18 days of trapping this fall they caught a total of 114 fox and shot several others as well as having some stolen.

After the fur trapping season opened on November 2, the Hemlys also caught 50 raccoons, 10 badgers and 18 mink. Most of the fur was sold to "Bud" Evans of Evans Seed and Produce in Thief River Falls who bested the bid of another buyer.

Although the Hemlys do not prefer it that way, fox trapping usually begins about September 1. At this time a number of area trappers take to the field in quest of the animals which carry a $3 bounty payment. To avoid being shut out of a share of the revenue to be obtained, Gerhard and Ed begin their trapping efforts at that time also.

"About the 16th of October we start trapping fox for hides," Ed Hemly said. "We collect bounty on

Late President Asks Observance of Thanksgiving

Designates Thursday, November 28, as Holiday as One of Final Acts

Thanksgiving Day, recently proclaimed by the late President John F. Kennedy as one of his last official acts before his untimely death last Friday in Dallas, Texas, will be observed Thursday, November 28, in this community and throughout the nation.

Stores, public offices and schools will remain closed all day, and special services will be conducted in many local churches. The schools also will be closed Friday.

In his proclamation, the late president called on all Americans to give thanks "for the ideals of honor and faith we inherit from our forefathers—for the decency of purpose, steadfastness of resolve and strength of will, for the courage and humility which they possessed, and which we must seek every day to emulate."

He also asked all believers in God to gather at their churches, synagogues or homes to pray for world peace and understanding among all nations and for the alleviation of suffering and poverty everywhere.

Visiting at the home of the Harold Pierces is their son Jim of Jaynesville, Wis.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. MERLE LINDBERG

Cookies, it seems, "belong" . . . they're just right for so many occasions; these are of the "bar" variety, which makes them a little fancier and perhaps a trifle more special. Pecans are in plentiful supply right now, and their "can't be topped" flavor adds to the delightful eating quality of these sweet treats.

PECAN COOKIES

Make a flaky pastry as follows:

1¼ cups sifted cake flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter or shortening
3 tablespoons cold water

Sift together the flour and salt, and cut in the butter. Add water, a tablespoon at a time, mixing in lightly with a fork. Roll or pat out the dough on a lightly-floured surface, forming a 10x6-inch rectangle. Place carefully onto an ungreased pan 10x6x1½ inches. Bake in very hot oven 400-450 degrees, depending on your oven). When done, which will be in about 15 or 20 minutes, the crust will be lightly browned. Cool.

Prepare the following topping:

In a saucepan, heat:
½ cup butter
1 cup sifted confectioners sugar
one-third cup honey
1 cup coarsely-chopped pecans

Heat just to boiling point, stirring often to prevent scorching. Remove from heat, and stir in the pecans. Cool 5 minutes, then pour mixture over the baked crust. Bake in moderate (350) degree oven for 20 minutes. Cut while warm into small squares or bars, and remove from pan at once to prevent their sticking. Yield: about 3 dozen small cookies.

Mrs. Lindberg's hobbies, she affirmed, are varied; they include a great deal of sewing, and reading and music enjoyment. She sings with the church choir at Zion Lutheran church and is active in other church work.

They have a son and a daughter: Tom, a student at NDSU at Fargo, N. D. and Mrs. James Walsh of Minneapolis.

Mr. Lindberg is business manager of the Falls-Starekow clinic here, and has served on the board of county commissioners for many years, and, as our homemaker for the week says, "he is still at it."

LOCAL NEWS

Warren Levy for Schools Remains Unchanged in '63

Mill levies for the Warren Public Schools; Independent District 446 of Polk and Marshall Counties payable in 1964 will remain the same as in 1963 or a total of 113.32 mills on agricultural lands and 138.32 mills on non-agricultural lands, Dr. G.I. Sholy, superintendent of schools, announced following a special meeting of the board of education Friday morning.

Increased valuation of the district, which climbed from $2,050,000 this year to an estimated $2,400,00 or more in 1964 permitted the district to operate with the same mill levy, said Dr. Sholy. The levy also takes into consideration an anticipated 5 per cent cut in state aids ordered by Governor Rolvaag.

October Employment Sets Record in State

October nonagricultural wage and salary employment of 1,027,500 was the highest October employment ever recorded in Minnesota, and second only to September for the all-time high employment, according to the Minnesota department of employment security.

The seasonal employment decline from September was 3,400 jobs as compared to the 10-year average decline of 9,700 jobs between September and October, said Commissioner Frank T. Starkey. The effect of warm weather can be seen by looking at construction employment — the average september to October drop during the past 10 years has been 2,300 while this year the drop was only 700.

Other industries showed similar patterns; some of those that usually show job losses did not drop as much as usual, and the few that usually show job increases increased more than usual. Examples of the former are manufacturing and metal mining; and of the latter, retail trade and government.

The decrease of 3,400 jobs in total nonfarm employment between September and October was the difference between a drop in manufacturing of 6,200, and an increase in nonmanufacturing of 2,800. The predominant cause of the drop in manufacturing was a net loss of 5,900 jobs in canning and sugar refining. Although employment in sugar refining continued to increase seasonally because of sugar beet processing, it was more than offset by the loss of jobs in the canning industry at the end of the vegetable canning season. The employment changes in other manufacturing industries were relatively minor, Starkey said.

The increase of 2,800 jobs in nonmanufacturing resulted from employment gains in government (3,900), services (900), and trade (600) which were offset by

All of the major industry groups employed more people during this October than a year ago except mining and finance, insurance, and real estate. The mining industry, except for taconite, has shown a general employment decline for the past three years.

Starkey reported that between September and October 1963 the average hourly earnings of production workers in Minnesota's manufacturing industries increased from $2.55 to $2.58; however as their average workweek decreased from 41.3 hours to 40.6 hours their weekly earnings remained virtually unchanged at $105.35. The corresponding figures for October 1962 were $2.55, 40.5, and $103.22 respectively.

Unemployment in Minnesota declined to 44,300 in October, a decrease of 3,800 from September, but 800 higher than last October. The unemployment rate decreased from 3.2 per cent in September to 3.0 per cent in October, the same rate as last October.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

by Carolyn Offerdahl

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

Thanksgiving is soon here so it's time to start thinking about how to fix turkey.

The rules of modern poultry cooking are few and easy to follow: Rule number one is to cook at moderate heat so the meat will be juicy, tender and evenly done to the bone. Intense heat hardens and toughens the protein of turkey as of any other meat, shrinks the muscle and drives the juices out. With such fast and furious cooking, the losses are high. Moderate heat, on the other hand, is economical for both meat and fuel. Though the cooking times are longer, there is actually more meat to serve, with more juice and flavor retained.

Rule number two is to vary the cooking method according to the age and fatness of the bird. For young, tender, wellfatted birds, boiling, frying, and open-pan roasting are best. For young birds that are very lean and for full-grown birds past their prime for roasting, but not yet in the stewing class, braising in a covered roaster or a casserole, makes them tender and savory. The very old birds need long, slow cooking in water or steam to make them tender all the way through. Then they may be fricassied, creamed, curried or made the base for many a dish, hot or cold.

The modern turkey comes both smaller and larger than its ancestors. It is also meatier and more tender, plumper, more compact and has a larger proportion of breast meat. It also carries the official marks showing that is has Grade A, B or C. Be sure to check the grade before buying.

Turkey is marketed in new convenient forms—ready-to-cook, whole in parts, either freshly drawn or frozen. Commercially frozen stuffed turkeys are now available in some markets. Turkey is also marketed in ready-to-eat forms—pre-cooked and canned, precooked and frozen and precooked and smoked.

Now the question is how much turkey one should buy. For each generous serving of roast whole turkey, allow ¾ to 1 pound of ready-to-cook weight for birds weighing less than 12 pounds and ½ to ¾ pounds for birds weighing 12 pounds and over.

Unstuffed frozen turkeys should be almost completely thawed before cooking. Do not thaw commercially frozen stuffed birds before cooking. The refrigerator is the best place to thaw. Thaw the whole bird in its original wrapper Unwrap the small parts and separate them so the air can reach each piece. To shorten the time, turkeys sealed in water tight wrappers may be thawed in cold water. Do not use warm water; change the water often.

A ready-to-cook top quality turkey needs little or no cleaning.

Start preparing the stuffing a day or so ahead of time if you like, but refrigerate the dry ingredients and broth seperately until time to use the stuffing.
Do not stuff until time to roast it.

Now it's time to roast turkey, but be sure to keep the temperature moderate!

Good luck with your turkey, and Happy Thanksgiving!

County Agent States Farmers Did Well on Sunflowers and Millet

Two new crops show promise for Pennington County, says County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk. A survey of specialty crop producers in the county shows farmers did well with sunflowers and millet in 1963. The average number of acres produced by a farmer was 48. The smallest acreage on one farm was 12 acres and the largest producer grew 150 acres of sunflowers.

The rates of fertilizer used by farmers varied from no fertilizer to 200 pounds per acre with the majority using 80 pounds per acre.

The yield of sunflower seed varied from a low of 800 up to 1800 pounds per acre with the average yield a little over 1000 pounds per acre. At 5 cents per pound, last year's price, this crop grossed about $55 per acre for the average yield.

The seeding dates revealed by the survey varied from May 15 to June 4. The harvesting dates varied from September 15 to October 15. The recommended seeding rate is six pounds of Arrowhead of ninety percent germination per acre. Most farmers reported their best results with at least this much seed and some reported seven to eight pounds gave better yields.

All farmers planted their sunflowers in rows. Spacing varied from 30 to 42 inches. The wide spacings did not give any yield advantage as reported by the farmers.

The millet yields varied from 800 to 2750 pounds per acre, with an average yield of 1900 pounds. At one and three-fourths cents per pound this crop grossed $33 per acre on the average.

Planting dates for millet ran from June 6 to June 21. The harvest dates from August 20 to October 10 with most of the harvest completed by September 23.

All, except one farmer, used fertilizer with most farmers applying 80 pounds per acre. The average number of acres planted was nineteen acres. With good harvest weather no farmers reported drying problems which can be encountered. The advantages of millet in the area, states Stelmaschuk, is that it is a good crop for wild oat control. It's seeded from June 1-15 which permits late spring tillage to kill wild oats. Also, it distributes work on the farm both by later seeding and harvest than grain requires.

John F. Kennedy Assassination Is Shock to Nation

shot and killed a Dallas policeman and would have shot another except for a mis-fire on his revolver. He denied the charge, saying, "I did not kill President Kennedy. I did not kill anyone. I don't know what this is all about."

In a bizarre turn of events, the accused Oswald was fatally shot Sunday about 11:20 a. m. at the Dallas city hall. Jack Rubinstein, 52, the bachelor owner of a Dallas striptease joint, stepped forward from a crowd of spectators as Oswald was being moved from city hall detention headquarters to a permanent maximum security cell in Dallas county jail. A single shot from his pistol struck Oswald in the abdomen and Oswald died at 1:07 p. m. in the same hospital as Kennedy died 48 hours earlier.

The shooting was shown on television screens throughout the nation as cameras recorded the transfer of Oswald to the county jail. Since the President was killed Friday, network television stations have discontinued regular programing to give all their time to film coverage and commentary on the assassination and succeeding events.

Within two hours after the President's death, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson was sworn in as President of the United States. Administering the oath of office was United States Judge Sarah Hughes, a Kennedy appointee, in a compartment on the presidential plane shortly before it left for Washington.

John Fitzgerald Kennedy was the 35th President of the United States; the first Roman Catholic and the youngest man to become President; the first man to be assassinated since President McKinley in 1901; and the first President to die in office since Franklin Roosevelt in 1945. He was the fourth President to be assassinated.

Jack Rubinstein, alias Ruby, has been charged with murder in the fatal shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald. Immediately after the shot was fired he was subdued by police and rushed into the city hall. President Johnson has ordered a full investigation of the shooting.

ATTENDANCE certificates for participation in the Peace Officers Workshop held Wednesday in Thief River Falls were presented by Mrs. Ed Koglin, Goodridge, president of the Pennington County Association for Mental Health. The association sponsored the workshop which was designed to acquaint law enforcement officers with methods in handling people with mental problems. Accepting the certificates for distribution is Elton Cummings, Thief River Falls chief of police.

50 in Attendance At Jaycee Region Meeting Thursday

Traveling Trophy Will Be Used To Improve Inter-Chapter Visits

Approximately 50 Jaycees from five chapters were in attendance at the fall Region 2 meeting held Thursday evening in Thief River Falls. John Kalin of Crookston, regional vice president, presided at the business session held in the Elks club rooms.

Among resolutions adopted at the session was one calling for the establishment of a traveling "trophy" to be circulated among chapters in Region 2 at regular meeting nights. Crookston will start the project in December by bringing the "trophy" to another chapter in Region 2. The receiving chapter must then pass it along to another chapter by a visiting delegation at the next regular meeting.

Chapter presidents, state directors and interested members are invited to attend a discussion session Friday, December 6, when the national vice president stops in Moorhead on his Minnesota visit. Delegations are expected from all chapters in the region.

East Grand Forks was awarded the bid for the winter Region 2 session to be held in January. President Rod Lucier of Moorhead led the Jaycee creed to open the session Thursday and Marvin Lundin, president of the host chapter, extended the welcome. Chapter reports were given by presidents in attendance. Moorhead awarded the Man-mile trophy for the second successive meeting.

Four Cars Damaged in Intersection Crashes

Two traffic accidents with total damage in excess of $50 were reported by police during the past several days. Both occurred Friday when city streets were slippery due to freezing rain the previous day.

At 12:04 a. m. Friday, a car driven by Charles Crosby, Brainerd, was traveling west on Third street at the intersection with LaBree avenue when it crossed the left lane and struck a parked car. The parked car was owned by Benjamin Lee Gustafson, city, and was parked facing east on the south side of Third street. Damage to the two cars totaled less than $100 and Crosby was charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

At 3:30 p.m. on Friday a car driven south on Knight avenue by Ruth Borchert, city, had stopped for the stop sign at Third street and proceeded into the intersection when struck on the right rear door by a car driven east on Third street by Walter Lietzow, rt. 1, TRF. Damage was estimated at $150 to the Borchert car and $20 to the Lietzow vehicle.

Mercury Drops to 2 Below Saturday

Two Inches of Snow Today: River Pool Freezes Over

The first subzero temperature reading of the current fall and winter seasons was recorded at the airport Saturday morning, when the mercury dropped to 2 below zero, followed by 1 below on Sunday morning. The river pool also froze over during the weekend.

As further evidence of the arrival of winter, a snowfall of one-half inch was recorded Thursday night, followed by a trace Friday and two inches this morning.

High and low readings for the past week include Monday, Nov. 18, 53 and 18; Tuesday, 52 and 15; Wednesday, 46 and 25; Thursday, 25 and 14; Friday, 28 and 9; Saturday, 16 and —2; Sunday, 24 and —1; and Monday morning, 14, with the mercury falling.

Snow flurries and little change in temperature was forecast for Monday.

CONSIDERABLE DISCUSSION HAS BEEN GIVEN to the situation involving the nation's railroads and their efforts to improve their position. They have asked to be permitted to use automatic equipment and to reduce labor which is no longer necessary. They have asked to have asked to have the out-dated laws governing them re-evaluated.

Anthony F. Arpaia, vice president of REA Express, was a long-time member of the Interstate Commerce commission and can speak as an authority on transportation problems. His point in a recent talk was that we need all forms of transportation and all forms of transportation need each other. He offered this illustration:

"Since the country could not get along without railroads, you can be sure they will continue to exist in one form or another. What will happen is that, if they can't succeed under private enterprise, the Government will take them over and operate them . . .

"Suppose our railroads were nationalized, how could the other forms of transportation expect to compete . . . with a Government subsidized railroad system? It wouldn't be easy. The Government can directly spend millions of dollars at public expense. In addition to this, private enterprise, including that part of the transport industry which remains in private hands, would have to make up the tax revenues which are now produced by rails."

The point is that it is in the self-interest of all carriers, whatever their differences over specific laws and regulatory policies, to find a way out of the present transportation mess. And the way to start, certainly, is to place more reliance on free and honest competition for traffic and markets, and less on practices which time and technological change have made forever obsolete.

A sheep rancher shipped a carload of sheep to Chicago to be sold, and while they were in transit, the bottom fell out of the market. The broker was forced to sell for less than the cost of freight and feeding. Upon being notified that he still owed the broker money, the rancher wired back "Don't worry, I'll send you more sheep."

A farmer who was considered a skinflint hired a maid and two men. The rumor that he was paying them starvation wages came to the attention of an inspector from the Wage and Hour Division and he called at the farm.

"I hear you are violating the law by paying below the minimum wage," he said to the farmer. "I would like to talk to your employees." These talks revealed that Ben received $50 a week, Charlie was paid $40 a week and the maid earned $30 per week plus room and board. "Are there any others," the government inspector asked.

"Only a half-wit," the farmer said. "He gets $10 a week, a bit of tobacco and his food." "Could I speak to him?" the inspector asked. "You are speaking to him," was the reply.

WIRDS ARE FOR THE BORDS

Our English language must be funny;
Can't understand, for love or munny
Why some words must take extra thought
While others certainly do nought.

Spelling needn't be that rough;
There is no need to hough and pough
And ponder after you are through
Why other spelling wouldn't dough.
(That thought is surely nothing nough)

Our language needs an overhaul—
It must be changed, for after aul,
When everything is brought to lite,
Two wrongs will just not make a write.

Hamrick Herd Tops In Pennington D.H.I.A.

Warren and Lowell Hamrick's herd of Holstein cattle topped the Pennington County Dairy Herd Improvement association for the month of October, according to Orville Peters, supervisor.

There were 25 herds on test with a total of 34 cows and an average of 29.4 cows per herd during October. Seventy-eight per cent of the cows were milking. Average amount of milk produced per cow was 719 pounds with 3.74 per cent butterfat or 26.9 pounds of butterfat per cow. Thirteen owner-sampler herds were on test with a total of 299 cows, 70 per cent of which were milking.

"Herd averages are affected by the number of dry cows in the herd," Peters noted. "The amount of milk or butterfat produced is averaged out over all the cows, giving the farmer a record of the earning power of the herd during the month. If too many dry cows are included in the herd, the average for that month may be low even though the cows which are milking produce a lot of milk."

The top 10 herds in the association for October include the following:

	Milk Av.	Fat Av.	Test Av.
W. & L. Hamrick	1035	35.9	3.46
C. Christensen	937	35.7	3.81
Myron Carlson	848	35.1	4.14
Dale Svendsgaard	804	31.7	3.72
John Burtness	911	31.6	3.47
Mehrkens Farms	791	30.8	3.89
Martin Hanson	828	30.6	3.69
Don Bruggeman	823	30.0	3.65
Paul Morkassel	716	29.8	4.17
Curtis Johnson	814	28.7	3.52

Seven cows completed lactations during the month with production exceeding more than 500 pounds of butterfat. Owners of these cattle, pounds of milk and pounds of butterfat respectively include the following:

Darrow Lundeen, 18,860 pounds of milk and 576 pounds of butterfat; Harold Sabo, 13,950 and 500; Art Stenberg, 17,760 and 585 and 18,610 and 583; Myron Carlson, 12,470 and 545 and 13,270 and 625.

18 DAYS of trapping paid off this year for Gerhard Hemly (left) and his son Ed of Plummer. Operating a trap line that covers about 100 miles and is covered daily, the two men caught a total of 114 fox, 50 raccoons, 10 badgers and 18 mink. All the protected animals were caught after the trapping season opened November 2. Gerhard, 69, worked for the Red Lake county highway department for 23 years and started trapping in 1960 when he retired. Ed has been employed by the highway department for 17 years and operates a road maintenance patrol. Nearly all of the above fox were caught in Pennington county. Also shown in the photo above is the wicker basket used by Gerhard to carry his traps when making sets. The men make their own scent and bait, a system they have found to be the most economical and effective.

Hemley's Trapping Yields Big Catch Of Fox in Area

the early fox but the fur is not prime enough for selling. After October 16 we skin what we catch. That way we can get bounty and still sell the fur."

Trapping Competition

Ed estimated that there are at least six other trappers who operate trap lines in the same area where the Hemlys work. In spite of this, the father and son combination caught more than 200 fox before they started skinning their catches.

Both avid sportsmen, the Hemlys cease operations and pull up their traps prior to the opening of deer season. While hunting deer they forget about trapping entirely, but as soon as the season on whitetails closes they are on the fox trail again.

The men use No. 2 coil spring jump traps for all their trapping except mink. Their trap line usually contains about 50 traps and covers about 100 miles. Covering the route once a day, they retrieve their catches, set traps in new locations or re-set traps which fox have discovered or which have proved unproductive.

In addition to the 50 traps on the line, Gerhard and Ed have a few traps with them in the car and a number of others at home. The traps are boiled before they are used, set while the trapper wears rubber gloves, and placed in areas which are known to contain fox or which appear likely spots for fox travel.

Know Their Business

"A fox will travel the high ground," Ed explained. "They use regular trails and generally follow ridges, fence rows and high ground around sloughs. They won't always run the same trail exactly, but they will be within a few yards of it in most cases. We use a scent that we make ourselves to attract them and a bait placed near the trap to catch them. We make our own bait, too."

With the number of animals the Hemlys have trapped, there are almost certain to be some oddities. This year they trapped one black fox & three cross fox—keeping the black and two cross fox alive in pens in the Ed Hemly yard. A black fox looks just as the term implies while the cross fox has a mixture of black and red. Another catch was a red raccoon which at first glance appeared to be a fox but bore distinctive raccoon markings. A year ago they caught one gray fox.

Outsmarts Old Fox

Gerhard tells of one fox which found and dug up his trap six times in succession. "Then I wired a second trap to the first one," he said. "The fox was an old buck and he found the one trap but not the second one. That's how I got him."

In addition to the seasonal trapping, the men trap fox which are molesting turkeys or chickens during other parts of the year. "We like to do this because we can usually get permission to trap on that man's land in the fall. We don't set any traps unless we have permission from the man who owns the land," Ed added.

Their trapping area generally extends from Plummer about 12 miles south, eight miles east and six miles northwest. They also trap in the areas west of St. Hilaire and east of Thief River Falls. Game bird populations have improved in areas where they have trapped, the men said.

Trapping for them is termed strictly a hobby. Gerhard is retired and Ed operates a road maintenance patrol for Red Lake county highway department. Their partnership hobby is an individual challenge; their talents and methods are self-taught and developed; and their pass-time is certainly interesting.

Pam Austin is serenaded by Johnny Cash (in leather jacket) and three of the Brothers Four in a musical session of the folk musical, "Hootenanny Hoot," to be shown at the Falls Theatre starting Thursday.

Deer Park

Deer Park 4-H club held its meeting on November 11 at the Roman Radniecki home. A discussion was held on the Christmas party, and names were drawn for a gift for each member.

A project report was given by Ted Shaw on safety in the home. Regene Radniecki gave a demonstration on entomology, Beth Radniecki read a poem and Becky Radniecki sang a song. QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information of assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing the VA Contact Office at the Fargo VA Center, Fargo, North Dakota.

Q—My hitch is almost up. I did not have any wartime service. Am I entitled to any educational benefits like the GI Bill?

A—Only if you have a disability resulting from service-connected injury or illness. Congress has made avilable vocational rehabilitation training in such cases. If so, check with the VA office nearest your home.

Q—Are dividends payable on U. S. Government Life Insurance policies after approval of a waiver of premiums?

A—No. Approval of a claim of waiver on premiums under the Total Permanent Disability provision matures this type of policy. The proceeds of the policy are payable in monthly installments but dividends cease.

Q—I hear a lot about deadline dates for GI loans. Does it make any difference if the veteran is disabled?

A—If discharged (or retired) for disability incurred in the line of duty, a veteran is entitled to the maximum deadline date for the war in which he was disabled. This means July 25, 1967, for World War II service and January 31, 1975, for Korean Conflict Service.

Jourdain Asserts Indians Need Help

Chippewa Tribe Leader Meets with Commission

A discouraging picutre on conditions on the Red Lake Indian Reservation was given the State Indian Affairs Commission in St Paul last Monday by Roger Jourdain, chairman of the Red Lake Chippewa tribe.

"The backbone of the Red Lake Reservation is timber," he said, "but the timber market is depressed."

He added that efforts to develop new industry on the reservation were stymied by lack of money and the poor reputation of the Indians as workers—a reputation he said is not deserved.

He called for more effort on behalf of Indians by the State Department of Business Development and criticized some of the teachers sent to the reservation. He said some of the teachers spend most of their time trying to figure how to get more money for less work.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Jamboree on Wednesday

The District 31 basketball jamboree that was to have been played on the UND fieldhouse court in Grand Forks on Saturday night, under the sponsorship of the East Grand Forks Central authorities, was postponed because of the weekend's tragic and turbulent events, the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. The jamboree has been re-scheduled for Wednesday night, November 27.

Wednesday evening's program will proceed as originally planned, with Thief River Falls meeting Fisher at 7:00 p. m.; Crookston playing Goodridge at 7:45 p. m.; Warren facing Plummer at 8:30 p. m.; and East Grand Forks playing Oslo at 9:15 p. m. This arrangement will pit four of the district's Class A schools — Thief River Falls, Crookston, Warren, and East Grand Forks — against four of the Class B schools—Fisher, Goodridge, Plummer and Oslo.

Each game will be of sixteen minutes duration, and the total score of the four games will determine the winner, either the Class A schools or the Class B schools.

It should be an interesting evening and well worth the short jaunt to Grand Forks. The Prowlers will play at 7:00 p. m. and will face coach Norm Wagner's highly-regarded Fisher club.

Welcome, Fido

Cliff (Fido) Purpur is returning to hockey action. That is the news out of Grand Forks, and good news it is, too. Fido will not be an active participant, but he will coach the Grand Forks Warriors of the Northwest Hockey league.

Fido will undoubtedly add color and excitement to the season's senior hockey campaign. During the late 1940's, following a professional hockey career that carried him into the National Hockey league as a member of the Chicago Black Hawks, Fido returned to Grand Forks and was instrumental in boosting the hockey interest in that area. Who can forget the games between the Grand Forks Amerks, with Fido in the lineup, against the local Thieves? And the personal duel between the Thieves' Babe Paulsen and the Amerks' Fido Purpur.

It was largely through Fido Purpur's efforts that the University of North Dakota Sioux became a factor in NCAA hockey and a member team of the Western Collegiate Hockey association. Fido had fair success as varsity coach of the Sioux, and he was very devoted to his players, but the "snipers" became active and he was removed as head coach. The experience soured Fido on hockey and it has only been in the last couple of years that he has shown an active interest in the sport. So it is good news to see that the colorful Fido Purpur is to again direct a hockey team.

A Pair From Region Eight

Ted Peterson of the Minneapolis Tribune, an authority on high school sports in the state, has named his 22-man All-State high school football squad. And two boys from Region Eight have gained honored positions on this squad. Don Parmeter, the all-round athlete of Littlefork, was given a position as a halfback on the offensive unit; and Bemidji's Pat Winkler, the leading scorer of the Northwest conference, was placed at a linebacking spot on the defensive squad.

Detroit Lake's rangy end, Eddy Larson; Moorhead's sturdy Mitch Rasmus; and Bigfork's Randy Rajala, were the only other boys from the northwestern part of the state to be selected to the squad. The Prowlers' Bob Olson, an end, was given honorable mention.

The offensive squad: ends—John Tietz, Minneapolis Washburn, and Eddy Larson, Detroit Lakes; tackles—Dave Huber, Anoka, and Dave Griffen, Benson; guards—Randy Rajala, Bigfork, and Ross Schmidt, Alden; center—Nick Nahorniak, Mahtomedi; and the backfield—Steve Lindell, Princeton; Don Parmeter, Littlefork; Harry Davis, Minneapolis Central, and Ernie Maulsby, Edina.

The defensive squad: ends—Tom Langseth, Richfield, and Rick Jahns, Albert Lea; tackles—Ron Klick, Delano, and Leo Baxter, Walnut Grove; middle guard — Bruce Walker, Hibbing; linebackers—Pat Winkler, Bemidji, Dennis Roglin, Orono, and Mitch Rasmus, Moorhead; defensive backs—Dave Nelson, Rochester, and Gary Bahr, St. Cloud Tech; and safety—Gary Sandbo, Tracy.

MSHSL Serves Many High School Groups

By State Board of Control

At this point, the reader might well think that the only purpose for which school officials have created and operate the League is to promote and regulate athletic activities. While these are primary and important purposes and objectives, many other services are rendered for which school officials have felt a need and that could be done more adequately by a central organization over which the schools retain control.

Of equal importance—and some might even feel of greater importance in meeting the needs of youth— is a similar program of tournaments and festivals for students interested in debate, speech training, and theatre arts. One hundred sixty eight schools participated in the debate program last year, with a minimum of two thousand students receiving this special training. This program is recognized nationally as one of the very best in the entire country. There were 299 schools that participated in drama festivals last year, or about 3,000 students. Those desiring to learn to speak had a choice of one of eight divisions, namely original oratory, non-original oratory, extemporaneous speaking, discussion, serious interpretation, humorous interpretation, extemporaneous reading, and storytelling. About 7,000 students participated from 399 member schools.

The League conducts an Athletic Accident Benefit Plan to aid in the payment of medical, dental and hospital bills for students injured in high school sports. Participation is optional by schools and students but 472 schools utilized the program last year and 36,169 students were enrolled. The student fee is small compared to the schedule of benefits. The League subsidizes this program each year from income from tournaments. The total loss for 1961-62 was $51,304.31, and $29,706.45 for 1962-63.

A Group Accident Benefit Plan is offered to aid in paying the medical and dental bills for treatment resulting from injury while under the jurisdiction and supervision of the school excepting in athletics. The program is optional, but 337 schools joined it last year, with a total of 313,355 students in the program. The program paid 11,892 claims last year and the income from student fees approximately equaled claim payments. This plan is also subsidized by the League as operating expenses are not charged as one of the expenditures of the program.

Game rules must be written and understood for the proper administration of high school athletics. League officials actively participate with sports leaders from other states and the National Federation in writing sports rules. Rules instructional and interpretation meetings are held annually throughout the state and are attended by over 2,000 coaches and game officials.

About 1,500 game officials are registered with the League each year. Their qualifications are improved by furnishing them with rule books, instructional materials, and by requiring attendance at rules instructional meetings. Their competency is classified through rules examinations and reports of success in officiating.

An experienced speech consultant conducts speech clinics throughout the state each year. She aids teachers in better utilization of the League's speech program, in selection of materials, and provides any special services requested.

The League sponsors a series of cheerleader clinics, one in each of the eight regions of the state. They have done much to improve the skills and techniques of cheerleaders. Of even greater importance has been the training of cheerleaders in their responsibilities and opportunities to develop better sportsmanship, school spirit and crowd control. The program has been unusually successful and has been attended by more than 2,900 students in each series.

More Social Work Needs Among GI's

Case Load Is Steadily Increasing, Agency Says

Problems for which veterans need the specialized help of Veterans Administration social workers have not decreased in the years since Korea and World War II.

Indications are that sick and disabled veterans have only traded war-time problems for peacetime ones. In fact, the VA social work caseload is increasing steadily. Roger Cumming, the agency's social work chief in Washington, D.C. said today his division completed service for more than 376,00 veterans and their families in fiscal 1963, as compared with approximately 364,000 in fiscal 1962, 279,000 in fiscal 1961, 268,000 in fiscal 1960, and 248,000 in fiscal 1956.

Aging of veterans and the increasing number of chronic patients leaving the VA hospitals under social work supervision are major factors in producing an increased volume of VA social work, Mr. Cumming said.

Vacancies for social workers exist at many VA hospitals and outpatient clinics across the nation. Those who hold a graduate degree in social work may apply for VA employment to the Central Board of U.S. Civil Service Examiners, Veterans Administration Central Office, Washington 25, D.C.

Roy Miller Again Heads TRF Group On West Coast

Of special interest to those attending was a scrapbook of items clipped from the Times during the preceding year. Six of the original members of the association were present.

GI Pension Rules for Minor Children Cited

Unmarried minor children of deceased veterans may be eligible for pension payments even when their mother, the veteran's widow is not eligible, John R. Parrish, Center Director of the Veterans Administration in Fargo, pointed out today.

The widow may be ineligible due to having remarried or because she has income in excess of established limits. Her ineligibility does not make the veteran's minor children ineligible.

Children of deceased veterans may be eligible for pension until they are 18 years of age, or 21 years if attending school, provided that they are unmarried and that their own personal incomes or estates are not greater than the regulations allow.

Parrish pointed out that when a widow with children is already on the pension rolls, the subsequent ineligibility of the widow poses no problem. Pension payments to the children are continued after the mother's name is removed from the rolls.

However, in cases where the widow has never applied for a pension, or whose application was not allowed due to her remarriage or excessive income, the VA may have no record of any minor children to which payment should be made.

Fertilizer Group to Make 2 Awards

State Assn. to Meet in Minneapolis December 9

Featured on the program of the Minnesota Plant Food association's annual banquet at Jax Cafe in Minneapolis Monday, December 9, will be the presentation of two awards; talks by Sherwood O. Berg, University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture and Halsey Hall, WCCO-radio sportscaster; and entertainment by the Aquatennial Quartet.

The two awards will include the plant food association's "Outstanding Farmer" presentation made by Laurie Peterson, Midland Cooperative, MPFA president; and the other, the "Soil Sampling Award," by The Farmer magazine. The latter award will be made by Robert Rupp, managing editor.

Selection of the "outstanding farmer" will be made by a panel of judges whose decision is based on the winner's soil fertility program and the overall excellence of his farming practices.

The Association's meeting continues Tuesday morning, December 10th, at the Leamington Hotel, Minneapolis, with an address by Kermit Lueck, executive vice president, The Success Corp., on "We Become Successful on Purpose."

A business meeting will conclude the session with committee reports and election of 1964 officers and new directors of the association.

The Minnesota Plant Food Association, a non-profit organization, comprises manufacturers, blenders and distributors of fertilizers.

"The character and qualifications of the leader are reflected in the men he selects, develops and gathers around him. Show me the leader and I will know his men. Show me the men and I will know their leader. Therefore, to have loyal, efficient employees—be a loyal and efficient employer."

A Man's Thanksgiving

(Arthur W. Newcomb)

"God of commonsense, I give Thee thanks for the heavy blows of pain that drive me back from perilous ways into harmony with the laws of my being; for stinging whips of hunger and cold that urge to bitter strivings and glorious achievement; for steepness and roughness of the way and staunch virtues gained by climbing over jagged rocks of hardships and stumbling through dark and pathless sloughs of discouragement; for the acid blight of failure that has burned out of me all thought of easy victory and toughened my sinews for fiercer battles and greater triumphs; for mistakes I have made, and the priceless lessons I have learned from them; for disillusionment and disappointment that have cleared my vision and spurred my desire; for strong appetites and passions and the power they give when under pressure and control; for my imperfections that give me the keen delight of striving toward perfection.

"God of common good and human brotherhood, I give Thee thanks for siren songs of temptation that lure and entangle and the understanding of other men they reveal; for the weaknesses and failings of my neighbors and the joy of lending a helping hand; for my own shortcomings, sorrows and loneliness, that give me a deeper sympathy for others; for ingratitude and misunderstanding and the gladness of service without other reward than self expression.

Time to Be Thankful

If Thanksgiving Day is a day that should be set aside for meditation and a spirit of thankfulness for material blessings, then as a community, this should be an exceptionally thankful Thanksgiving. Old-timers in this agricultural community are generally agreed that never before have they seen crops as uniformly good, over a large area, as they were this year.

There always are exceptions but never before have we heard so few complaints. This has been a good year and we have much to be thankful for.

A Courageous Leader

Not all Americans looked upon President Kennedy as a great leader. Whether or not he was a great leader will not be decided by those now living, who have agreed or disagreed with him. His record will not be measured permanently by the people of his own generation. As all other leaders who have served in a position of international importance during a critical period of world history, he will be judged finally by that which follows, and his contribution to the ultimate result.

All good citizens sincerely regret his untimely death. Considering the fact that the assassin attempted to kill other prominent political leaders who were accompanying the President, it is reasonable to conclude that he was a demented crackpot, motivated not by a hatred of any one individual, but was rather a misguided madman who did not understand the orderly procedures of government.

The murder of President Kennedy points up the dangers to which all controversial figures are exposed to in periods of high national and international tension. He is the fourth of our presidents to be killed while holding this high office, and the lives of other presidents have been threatened. At the international level Dag Hammarskjold, the distinguished United Nations leader, lost his life while serving mankind.

The world mourns the death of President Kennedy. One of the world's controversial figures, he was held in high regard by all as a courageous leader.

Pre-trial Parole

New York City's prisons are inadequate according to the New York Times, which supports a sensible solution. Rather than an expansion of the correctional institutions the Times urges that consideration be given to a recommendation of one of the city's court officials that the number of people beging held in jail awaiting trial because they cannot afford to give bail be reduced by a device known as a pre-trial parole.

Out here in Squash Hollow we don't realize how much of a problem this is in a city the size of New York. A recent survey indicated that during last year 58,000 such people spent 1,700,000 days in the city's places of detention awaiting trial. Paying for the board and lodging for these detainees and the cost of supervision cost the city $10,200,000. Concludes the Times:

"That these men and women who had not been convicted of any crime were in jail at all is an inversion of the basic principle of American justice that everyone is considered innocent until he is proved guilty.

"We agree with Justice Botein that this is "blind" and "irresponsible" imprisonment. It is also expensive. It cost the city about $10,200,000 last year to pay the board and lodging bills of these detainees and the expenses of supuervision.

"Of ocurse no one under indictment should be allowed freedom if he is not likely to report for trial when he is called. Bail was designed to reduce that risk. But the experience of the Vera Foundation's Manhattan Bail Project has shown that expertly administered parole, after careful examination of each individual, is effective. Only one per cent of those dealt with in that way jumped parole—a smaller proportion that those who jump bail."

Whom To Convince?

The St. Paul Pioneer Press is not against foreign aid as such but it does not go along with President Kennedy and his appropriation request. Commenting on a very eloquent appeal for support for his foreign aid program in a speech before the Protestant Council of New York recently the Pioneer Press made several timely observations. It concluded:

> "The president recalled that in 1951 America supplied 8 billion dollars of foreign aid. This year he is asking something over 4 billions and congress is offering something under 4 billions. The president's argument is that surely we ought to be able to do half as well on that score in the 1960's as we did in the 1950's.
> "Of course the answer is that America can do better than half as much now as in 1951 if that is necessary. But a congress which has taken a bipartisan approach to this question in the past and still does so today, doesn't think it necessary. If they are wrong, the people he needs to convince are not in New York but in Washington, and many of them in his own political party at that."

The Curtain Is Parting

Eastern Europe is being opened up for the tourist, we are told by the Financial Post of Toronto, Canada, and that should be encouraging news. The Iron Curtain is parting; which means that there will be new opportunities for better understanding on both sides of the border.

Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary, Poland, Rumania and Yugoslavia offer wonderful tourist attractions, especially important to us because this great area of which they are a part is the homeland of many of the immigrants who helped to build our country and whose children and grandchildren now are substantial citizens.

It is interesting to know that close to a million tourists from all parts of the world visit Russia each year. The tourist industry has become an important item in the economy of Russia, and the Soviet government is encouraging this profitable traffic by providing better facilities and services.

The more we see of our statesmen in action, the more we wonder if the only permanent solution for international differences must not come about by better international understanding among the rank and file citizens of the world's nations.

Argentine Headache

Congressional leaders of both parties have called for suspension of American aid to Argentina unless Americans are compensated in full for properties seized by the Argentine government. Both Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield and Republican leader Everett Dirkson stated that action should be taken quickly under existing law to suspend assistance.

There is no good reason why such action should not have been taken immediately. American aid to Argentina, in the form of loans and outright grants, has been costing us about $100 million a year. The loans probably will never be repaid.

The confiscation of foreign property will not be in the best interests of the people of Argentina. What Argentina needs more than anything else is industrial and agricultural develpoment, and that requires foreign capital and, for many years, competant direction by men who understand the problems of industry and agriculture. We know from our own experience that turning such problems over to the politicians does not lead to progress.

IN MINNESOTA

BEER IS A NATURAL

As natural as the wholesome grains and tangy hops from which it is brewed, beer is Minnesota's traditional beverage of moderation—light, sparkling, delicious.

And naturally, the Brewing Industry is proud of the good living it provides for so many folks in Minnesota. Not only for employees of the Brewing Industry itself, but also for the farmers and other suppliers of beer's natural ingredients. In Minnesota, beer belongs—enjoy it.

Property Tax Short Course to Open Dec. 9

Course Is One of 7 to Be Conducted for Assessors in State

A property tax short course for local assessors will be held in the Legion club rooms December 9, 16, and January 6. Paul J. Stelmaschuk, county agent and Gunnuf Gunstenson, county assessor, are in charge of local arrangements.

Other courses will be held at Austin, Mankato, Alexandria, Bemidji, Slayton, Duluth and St. Paul according to Lewis Kahn, University economist and course coordinator.

The University of Minnesota departments of Economics and agricultural economics are sponsoring the courses, in cooperation with the agricultural extension service of the University of Minnesota, the Minnesota department of taxation, the Minnesota Association of Assessing Officers, the Minnesota Association of Local Assessors, the Association of Minnesota Counties and the League of Minnesota Municipalities.

Objectives of the course are to help local assessors understand the importance of their jobs, to demonstrate tools for assessing and how they can be used cooperatively with county assesing officers and to familiarize local assessors with helpful sources of information.

Township and village assessors are invited to attend. A fee of $10 is charged for each complete course. Persons attending two days of the session will pay $8. County officials may attend a single day's session as observers for $4.

Instructors will include county assessors, University staff, members and officials from the Minnesota department of taxation. Topics will deal with classification of real estate, equalization, revaluation, listing of personal property, impact of highway construction on farm values, and related subjects.

Interested persons may contact the Department of Agricultural Short Courses, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul 1.

School Board Approves $1,658,577 Budget Plan

10 Mill Increase, As Predicted, Is Result of Budget

Approval of an operating budget income of $1,658,577 for the 1963-64 school year was given by the Thief River Falls board of education meeting in special session Tuesday evening. The budget calls for $616,928 to be raised within the district while $841,849 will be received by the district in state and federal aids.

As predicted when the school bond sale was advocated earlier this year, the local levy will be increased by 10 mills to meet budget demands, according to M. R. Hankerson, superintendent of schools. Based on last year's valuations of property, the mill levy on agricultural lands will be 134.4 mills and on non-agricultural lands will be 159.4 mills.

The district began the year with a balance of $116,950 and will have budgeted expenditures of $1,651,387, leaving an expected balance of $124,140 at the end of the coming year. Budget considerations include allowances for the five per cent reduction in state aids which Gov. Karl Rolvaag has instructed school districts to anticipate.

The building fund will consist of $1,495,000 income from the sale of bonds for school construction and an additional $20,000 in interest from re-investment of the money borrowed. Expenditures from the building or construction fund during the next year are impossible to determine at this time since they are dependent upon construction progress and related factors, Hankerson said.

Award Fence Contract

Century Fence company was awarded the contract for fence around the new tennis court with a low bid of $2,015. Bids were readvertised on the fence after a previous low bidder failed to fulfill his contract.

Color and style of brick for the new schools were selected with a price of $65 per 1,000. Allowance of $80 per 1,000 had been made in the estimates and the district will receive the benefit of about $1,000 in reduced costs.

With the bids on the buildings being substantially below the estimates, the board approved installation of terrazo floors in the corridors rather than asphalt tile. The architect was instructed by the board to make a change order calling for use of terrazo at an increased cost of $15,000.

"Curly" Roberts, representing the architectural firm of Hammel & Green, met with faculty members from several high school and vocational school departments Wednesday to discuss remodeling which will be done in these departments.

Rev. Allan Fadel Interim Pastor At Mission Church

Missionary To Japan Will Serve Congregation Until Early in August

Rev. Allen Fadel, a missionary to Japan since 1951, has been called as interim pastor at the Mission Covenant church in Thief River Falls. He will succeed Rev. Joseph Swan as pastor of the congregation.

Rev. Fadel became interested in missionary work while he was a serviceman in North Africa during World War II. Following completion of his theological training, he and his wife (the former Jane Ulvin of Roseau) went to Japan. After two years of intensive language study in Nagano Ken, they worked in the Aomori Ken area until 1962.

During the Fadel's ministry in Japan, the Japanese were instructed that they must build their own church, support their own pastor and carry on their own evangelistic outreach. When the Fadels moved, they left behind a self-supporting and self-governing congregation and five Sunday schools.

In 1962 the Fadels moved to Hit-Achi City, site of the Hitachi Electric company, largest corporation in the Far East. The company employs 55,000 men in its Hitachi City factories and part of the Fadels work was with the 6,000 single men who live in company dormitories.

Rev. and Mrs. Fadel and their four sons expect to return to Japan aboard the liner "President Cleveland" in August of 1964. They are missionaries of the Evangelical Alliance Mission, an inter-denominational missionary organization with more than 800 missionaries in 17 countries.

Wayne Churchill

Lew Conlon

Dairymen from 11 northwestern Minnesota counties will hold their annual American Dairy association Region 1 business meeting in Thief River Falls Wednesday, December 4. It will begin at 11 a. m. in the American Legion club rooms. Free lunch will be served and adjournment is scheduled for 3 p.m.

The session is open to all dairy farmers, dairy plant managers and personnel and others interested in the dairy industry of Beltrami, Clearwater, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Pennington, Norman, Polk, Red Lake, Roseau and Marshall counties.

Special speakers on the program will include L. H. (Lew) Conlon, manager of the Minnesota Dairy Industry committee, state unit of American Dairy Association, and Wayne Churchill, Chicago, ADA merchandising specialist.

Included in reports on the dairy farmer-financed activities of ADA during the past year will be a "first look" at results of the November - long pilot promotion of dairy sour cream held in the Twin Cities market.

"We've met some startling success in this just-completed promotion which are meaningful to every man and woman who earn their livelihood in the dairy industry—milking cows, operating a creamery or selling a product," Conlon said.

He also noted that the Twin Cities market test of the "promotability" of dairy sour cream, a cultured product containing 20 per cent butterfat, has gained national attention and likely will be adapted to other markets.

Public Opinion

LEST WE BETRAY A TRUST

President Kennedy has left us. His passing means more than sorrow. It is heartbreak and immeasurable loss; to his family, to all Americans, to everyone desiring the ideals he gave his life for—Peace and Love for his fellow man.

Throughout the world the manifestation of grief and the outpouring of personal feelings give evidence and tribute to the extent that men and women everywhere not only lookel to but leaned upon this man for ladership in their quest for these high goals.

Measure the empty feeling in the pit of your stomach as the news became realization, muliply it by your friends, the community, the neighboring community, throughout the state, across the nation, and around the world. Then perhaps we know somewhat of the weight of responsibility President Kennedy carried on his shoulders.

This was his job, his responsibility. He sought this job, this responsibility. Sought it because of his love for his fellow man and his faith and trust in America and Americans.

Many times in deep humility and frankness he asked each of us to help him.

Never was he intolerant, bitter or deterred from his path of compassion and good will by the harping criticism or the honest divergence of opinion that come upon all makers of history.

We will go on now, toward his goals, without him. Perhaps his spirit can help steady us on our way. May his great love and trust for fellow man and country cause us to pause and reflect. Were our past appraisals and utterances toward him in the name of right and trust? Will they be of others in the future?

This man knew real faith. He trusted, trusted his life with every American. One man broke that trust and made a black blot on a page of world history.

To me the effect of this great man was most appropriately expressed by my small son: That day he did not run wildly to me after school, but rather, walked up and in a small solem voice said, "Dad, President Kennedy is dead". I said "Yes". Then throwing his arms around me in a quivering voice he said "Daddy, when they told me about it in school I said a small prayer to God about it".

Homemaker Tests Set for Tuesday

Betty Crocker Search to Be Held at Lincoln High

Boys will be banned for fifty minutes Tuesday, Dec. 3, while senior girls in high schools in this area, including Thief River Falls and Goodridge, join more than 460,000 others in over 13,000 schools across the country in the only national scholarship competition exclusively for girls.

The event is the written knowledge and attitude examination of the tenth anniversary Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow. Prizes range from attractive pins to scholarships totaling $110,000.

For achieving the highest score in her school on the test, one senior girl in each school will be named that school's Homemaker of Tomorrow. She will receive an award pin, and her paper will be entered in competition with other school winners in the state. The highest-ranking girl in each state will receive a $1,500 scholarship and her school will be awarded a set of the Encyclopedia Britannica by Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc. The state runner-up will be given a $500 educational grant.

Next spring, State Betty Crocker Homemakers of Tomorrow, each accompanied by a school advisor, will make an expense-paid educational tour to Colonial Williamsburg, Va., Washington, D. C., and New York City. The trip will culminate with the naming of the 1964 Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow on the basis of original test scores of state winners and personal observation and interviews during the tour. Her scholarship will be raised to $5,000. Three national runners-up will be awarded $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 scholarships respectively.

The Betty Crocker Search was launched by General Mills, Inc., in the 1954-55 school year to emphasize the importance of homemaking as a career. This year's record level of participation brings total enrollment during the program's ten-year history to 3½ million girls. Scholarship awards will push the decade total past $1 million.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information of assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing the VA Contact Office at the Fargo VA Center, Fargo, North Dakota

Q—When my National Service Life Insurance Endowment policy reaches the end of the premium payment period, may I receive monthly payments for the rest of my life?

No. However, you may choose a lump-sum settlement or payments over a period of three months to 240 months in equal installments.

Q—What will be the Veterans Administration's procedure in mailing out the increased Dependency and Indemnity Compensation payments to widows and children of deceased disabled veterans?

A—The increase will be mailed out in October. This will be a special check. The regular October check will contain the usual amount. Starting in November, the checks will be at the new rates.

Q—Is there an age limit after which a war orphan may no longer be eligible for Educational Assistance by the VA?

A—Generally, the age limits are between 18 and 23 with exceptions allowed in certain cases but in no case may the schooling assistance be continued beyond the 31st birthday of the beneficiary. Certain war orphans under 18 may also be eligible—for example, those who are handicapped.

Q—Children of a deceased veteran may have some pension rights—do they forfeit these rights when their mother (the veteran's widow) remarries?

A—No. Eligible children of a deceased veteran retain their pension rights after their mother remarries until they become 18, or 21 if they are going to school.

Q—How can I still be liable for my GI home if I have sold it to another party?

A—You are not liable for the home but for the GI loan which was guaranteed to the lender by the VA in your name. To avoid this responsibility, a veteran selling a GI home should arrange to have the buyer assume the liability. Consult your lender or the V.A.

Elaine's CHATTER

It is astounding how many things there are to learn in this world. Take cats for instance; only last week we learned that a cat's whiskers are the width of their bodies. When they start to crawl through a small place, they can always measure it by a whisker; and if there is room for that there is room for their body! No wonder they have nine lives . . . anyway, it is something to think about in case you don't have anything else to do at this time.

Thursday night the BIG DAY will be over and it will be time to make a clean sweep, dust up the house, clear out the relatives and deep freeze, the left overs. Thanksgiving will have come and gone.

We at ELAINE'S are doing some clearing ourselves. All of our Winter Coats, fur trimmed and untrimmed, are all on sale at very low prices. Our car coats are also reduced in price.

Saturday will be the last day of our FREE dress sale. You buy one at regular price and get another one of equal value FREE. Bring a friend and divide the cost. We have sizes and styles for everyone. Junior Petite, Junior, Misses Petite, Misses, and Half Sizes.

While you're in shopping be sure and see the SLING SHOT JUMPERS in solid and pastel colors, also velvet. The Holiday sweaters, skirts and slacks are tremendous and of course we just received another shipment of the stretch slacks. You can pick one of these: Garland, Tiger, Jack Winter, Pantsmaker, Lee, Pendleton, Jantzen and Fritzi, all great names in women's wear.

Red Lake Electric Manager Comments on Reduction in Rates

Editor's Note: The following appeared in Volts and Jolts, official publication of Red Lake Electric Cooperative, and is reprinted because of its general interest to our readers.

by Charles Kleven
Manager, Red Lake Electric Co-op

At this writing we have concluded the first month on which our members have paid their power bills on the new reducted rates. It was our hope that we would be able to determine as to how this reduction in rates would affect our kilowat hour sales and our overall revenue. As it turned out the month of October was not a favorable month to make a fair comparison since the weather, which is always a factor in kilowatt hour consumption and sales, was not normal for comparison purposes. Undoubtedly the revenue in kilowatt hour sales will not be as great as we had anticipated. We are not complaining as we are sure all the members appreciate and are grateful for the nice milk fall we have had. We could have used and still hope to have some badly needed moisture before the winter freeze-up.

We calculate that the overall savings to the members for the twelve month period will be approximately $46,000.00. The monthly overall savings will vary, of course, due to the seasons.

We have received many compliments and expressions of thanks from our members for the reduction in rates and we are happy to hear that the lower rates and savings are appreciated.

We experienced a little difficulty in getting the new rate charts and meter books out to the members. However, we are certain that all members had their new books by the end of the month. One example of this was two townships apparently were left off the mailing list and did not receive their books by the 17th of October. When this was discovered the office immediately made up and sent out books to the members so that they would have them by the 20th or thereabouts. Also, there were some instances where we had a wrong address or a wrong route number which in part was caused by a number of route changes by the Post Office Department which went into effect about the same time as the meter books were mailed. We hope that everything has been straightened out and that from here on everyone will be using the new books and the new rates.

Some of you may wonder why you received a book with only six or twelve sheets while some other members may have received as many as 18 or 24. The reason for this is so that everyone (the 3300 members) on our project would not run out of remittance slips at the same time. By varying the number of sheets in each book, we will have staggered the time when new books are needed by the members so that it would not put an extra burden on the office. This will eventually even out so that when a member runs out of sheets he will be sent a new set containing 36 sheets or a three year supply.

Those of you who have been on commercial and small power rates will note that you are now included in our general rural rate. This has been under consideration for some time but was deferred until the new rates were adopted. The days of a differential between a farm operation and a small rural grocery store or business is gone. At one time it was felt that a commercial establishment created an extra investment to the Cooperative because of the need of heavier service and larger transformer capacity. For a long time this was true when the farmer was only using power for lights and small appliances. Today however, we have farming operations that exceed and use more kilowatt hours than many commercial establishments. This change has come about and the Cooperative has met the change and has made an adjustment accordingly. It is necessary however, that there be a differential between a small commercial (general rural rate) and the large power commercial establishment which requires the excess of 25 and 50 KVA transformer capacity and the nature of their operation necessitates a demand charge. These services are classified as large power and will remain on a special rate. It was felt that by incorporating the small commercial rate on the general rural rate it would reflect a more equalized charge to all consumers regardless of how the member uses his service whether it be home heating, dairy operations, mink farming, chicken or turkey hatchery, etc.

Some of the members have been asking if they will still be receiving capital credit payments along with the rate reduction. We are happy to report that at a recent meeting of the board the board authorized the payment of 50 per cent of the capital credits that were allocated to the members in the year 1959. This will amount to approximately $29,000.00 and it is expected that these payments will be paid to the members at the annual meeting which has been scheduled for Oklee, Minnesota in April of 1964. The Board has not as yet officially taken action on the location of Oklee for the annual meeting, however it is expected that they will do so at a future board meeting since it is customary to alternate the meeting between the towns of Red Lake Falls, Thief River Falls and Oklee. We are presently in the process of preparing the capital credit payments in anticipation of distributing them at Oklee in April. It is our hope and intention of the Board to pay out some prior year's capital credits in cash each year along with the rate reduction. This of course will be dependent upon the members continued use of their electric power which places the cooperative in a favorable financial position to allow the cooperative to continue these payments and perhaps in the future to consider further rate reductions.

Since this is the month of Thanksgiving we could not close our article without a word of thankfulness. I am sure all the members will join us in a word of thanksgiving for the many blessings that have been ours.

Thanksgiving Talk Given to Lions by Rev. Leland Steen

Dr. Amesbury Sends Letter Congratulating Club on Its 25th Anniversary

At the Lions club luncheon meeting Wednesday noon, the Rev. Leland Steen, pastor of Zion Lutheran church and president of the Thief River Falls Ministerial association, gave a message appropriate to the Thanksgiving holiday.

Introduced by Gordon Reierson, acting program chairman, Mr. Steen said that the holiday this year is darkened by the tragic death of the late president, John F. Kennedy, and added that God can teach us something valuable in times like these. He stated that we should give thanks even as was the case with the Pilgrim fathers.

Club secretary Philip Kays read a letter from Dr. E. S. Amesbury, one of the founders of the local club and a past district governor, as well as an international councillor. Dr. Amesbury, now a resident of the Minnesota Masonic Home at Savage, congratulated the club on achieving its 25th birthday.

THOUGHTS of THANKSGIVING

by Flora Allison

The Horn of Plenty spills its golden treasure
Across the land, and heads bow low in prayer
In gratitude for the unfailing bounty
We see about us daily, everywhere.
But there is more than bounty
Woven in this day's prayerful theme . . .
Gratitude for Freedom, dearly purchased,
For the right to worship Him, to plan, to dream . . .
To pursue the course of happiness
Wherever it may lead, each in his way
These, and a hundred other thoughts
Of thankfulness inspire us this day!

Delinquency Study Group Is Selected

State Council Headed by Dr. E. M. Rusten, Wayzata

Leaders from throughout the state in all walks of life comprise the membership of the recently-announced Minnesota Citizens Council on Delinquency and Crime.

The Council, created by Correctional Service of Minnesota, is the eighteenth such group to be formed in the country. According to Dr. Elmer M. Rusten, Wayzata, president, it will, like its counterparts in other states, "seek to apply some of the best thinking in the state to the countless glaring problems in delinquency and crime control."

To this end, Rusten said, the group will meet 6-8 times a year, often at correctional institutions, to study the situations, practices, and policies existing in Minnesota corrections today. It will then make its findings and recommendations public, and "take the lead in getting action on improvements through legislation and other appropriate means."

Basic to the creation of the Council, Rusten said, is the belief that "opinion-making leaders of our state, once they have seen the shortcomings and sorry failures of many phases of our correctional system, will not tolerate such a situation in this critical area any more than they would within their own individual fields of endeavor."

As an example of such failures, Rusten cited the fact that approximately 50 per cent of the youths released from the Red Wing training school are returned as violaters.

Also symptomatic of the need for the Council, he added, is the 125 per cent increase in state crimes since 1952, while state population was rising only 16 per cent. "According to the 1962 FBI Uniform Crime Report," Rusten stated, "Minnesota had 53 per cent more crimes per capita than Wisconsin and 45 per cent more than Iowa. A major task of the Citizens Council will be to attempt to find out why."

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Arthur Lurian who passed away Nov. 21, 1960:

Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear,
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach,
Sweet to remember him who was here,
Who, gone away, is just as dear.

Our Land

Conservation District Cooperator Gordon Kaiser says he can make more profit using a dairy herd and rotation which include 1-5 hay than he can with a continuous row crop. After years of growing continuous row crops he found he had fertilizer investments that ate his profits. In the last two years he has returned to dairying and crop rotations that include hay. Kaiser told Duane Goerend, SCS soil conservationist at Waseca, that hay not only helps maintain fertility but also helps maintain soil structure, prevents compaction and reduces erosion.

A Seeding Mixture of 4 lbs. of brome grass and 4 lbs. of birdsfoot trefoil with a cover crop of oats has produced excellent pasture for Lester DeMaster who has been a Mahnomen County Soil and Water Conservation District cooperator for the past ten years. He says that birdsfoot trefoil not only makes excellent pasture but has reduced the bloar problem in his cattle.

Albert Jacobs, Dakota County farmer, is pleased with his contour strips. He says they save tractor fuel as well as soil and water. He finds his crops look better with less washing on his sloping fields. Service technician at Farmington says that Jacobs became a Dakota county Soil and Water Distric cooperator primarily for assistance with his drainage problems but has become the district's most ardent advocate of contour farming. Jacobs has established 125 acres of stripcropping on his 200 acre farm.

In Less Than two years Eugene Pearson, Scott County farmers, has installed over a mile of level terraces, more than two acres of grassed waterways, 28 acres of contour stripcropping, and planted a mile of field windbreaks. For the next ten years he plans to plant five acres of trees each year for woodland, wildlife and recreational purposes to reach a goal of 50 acres of trees. Originally he requested Dewey Hahn, SCS technician at Jordan, to assist him in determining his need for grassed waterway. This resulted in Pearson becoming a cooperator with complete conservation plan for his farm.

A 17.6 per cent reduction in permanent pasture acreage is expected in nearly all Minnesota counties by 1975 according to a soil and water inventory done by Minnesota Soil and Water Conservation Needs Committee, in conjunction with the Agricultural Extension Service at the University of Minnesota. Exceptions are Kittson, Roseau, Lake of the Woods, Marshall, and Pennington Counties in the extreme northwest corner of the state, plus Ottertail, Wadena and Crow Wing Counties, where the permanent pasture acreage is expected to increase. Economic reasons are given for the anticipated decrease. Permanent pasture returns too low an income, or is not needed, and the necessary drainage and removal of rocks and stumps to make cropping possible is readily undertaken. Significant reductions are expected in practically all southern counties.

Elmer Telgen, cooperator with the Chippewa Soil Conservation district, reports an interesting development on his farm. A field of Colvin silty clay loam that was consistently wet due to runoff from neighboring fields now is dry. Telgen can farm the field with good crop yields because his neighbor Clair Rollins asked for help from Bob Anderson, the Soil Conservation Service technician, and strip-cropped his land. The runoff onto Telgen's field was halted by the stripcropping.

After installing diversion terraces, Dale Juranek, Lincoln County dairy farmer, thinks that they are the best thing that's happened to his farm in a long time. During heavy July rains he lost no soil on his cropland that was terraced and has no potholes in the lower areas of his land. Juranek also remarked that the advantages of terraces outweigh any disadvantages they might have. He received assistance in planning and installing the diversion from Howard Stevermer, Soil Conservation Service technician assisting the Lincoln Soil & Water Conservation District.

Wallace Schwarz of Vernon Center has practiced contour stripcropping for only one year but he says he would never go back to up and down hill farming. He told Dean Campbell, Soil Conservation Service work unit conservationist at Mankato, that he loses much less soil and water and finds farming operations are a lot easier on the strips.

Prowler Quint Plays Fertile on Saturday

Following tonight's (Wednesday) appearance in the District 31 basketball jamboree in the UND fieldhouse in Grand Forks, coach Jack Junker will have but a couple of practice sessions before the Prowler cagers open their home schedule on Saturday night, Nov. 30, against the Fertile Falcons.

In last season's schedule-opening game, played against the Fertile Falcons at Fertile, the Prowlers dropped a 60 to 55 decision to the Falcons. In that game, the Falcons erupted for a 17 to 4 first period lead, and then were hard-pressed to hold off the rallying Prowlers.

Missing from that winning Fertile lineup of last season will be such players as Paul Sannes, Rod Olson, and Howie Slyter. Sannes and Olson accounted for 39 points in last season's opener. Returning lettermen for coach Karl Groth's 1963-64 Fertile club as Bob Gullickson, Roger Refling, Ken Moland, Steve Gullickson, Don Erickson, Steve Jacobs, and Brian Roragen.

The Prowlers will be without the services of Ken Larson for Saturday's game. Ken will be attending a 4-H gathering. Coach Junker, against the Falcons, will perhaps have big Bob Olson at center, Rich Nelson at Forward, Mark Anderson and Tommy Cummings at the guards. Mark Steen will probably see action at a guard post, as will Rick Jensen, if Rick's ailing leg can stand the strain and stress of active play. Mark Stromberg, a lanky sophmore, may see action at center, with Bob Olson taking over Larson's forward post.

The Prowlers will enter District 31 competition on Friday, December 6, when they meet the Warren Ponies at Warren.

Dark House Fish License Costs $2

Minnesota ice fishermen will be paying more for their darkhouse and shelter licenses this season, the Conservation Department reminded today.

Fees on fish shacks were raised during the 1963 legislative session. The cost of a license for darkhouse or shelter has gone from $1.00 to $2.00 if the shack is for private use while shacks offered for rent require a $3.00 license.

The increased fee will be collected by the use of a stamp to be affixed to the reverse side of the license.

Club Women Plan Coupon Campaign

Ask Local Women to Save Betty Crocker Coupons

Federated Women's Club presidents here announced today that local club members are joining some 9,000 others throughout the state this week in kicking off a massive coupon-collecting drive. Purpose of the project, which will extend through April, 1965, is to raise funds for combatting illiteracy in eight areas of the world.

Making the announcement today were Mrs. Maurits Scholin, president of the DeCor club; Mrs. Robert Brooten, president of the Tuesday club; and Mrs. Tim Conners, president of the Zehlian Art club.

For the next eighteen months, members of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs will save Betty Crocker coupons, found on all General Mills products, and will redeem them for cash. The Federation and General Mills have agreed on a plan whereby the coupons will be redeemed for one-half cent each.

All money raised in this manner will be donated by the Federation to CARE for use in the international relief agency's literacy program being co-sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs of America. This program, under the theme "To Strengthen the Arm of Liberty", is providing badly-needed educational supplies for children and adults in Costa Rica, Guatemala, Hong Kong, India, Iran, Mexico, Pakistan, and Turkey.

Club presidents emphasized that the project is not limited to club members, and stated that coupon contributions from any interested persons would be appreciated. They urged such persons to call them for further information or simply to mail them the coupons.

Other canton winners who will receive Swiss Bells are: Helen Edwards, Winona, Canton 1; Steve Schoen, Wells, Canton 2; Larry Russell, Montevideo, Canton 3; Steve Tuman, Hutchinson, Canton 4; and Mary Rantanen, Middle River, Canton 7.

This is the sixth annual canton championship Robert has won. His animal was also grand champion of its 4-H class at the 1963 State Fair and grand champion at the Region IV Dairy Day where Brown Swiss championships have gone to Robert every year since 1958.

Hunters Urged to File Bag Reports

Conservation Department Requests Early Return

Minnesota hunters, particularly big game hunters, were urged by the conservation department today to send in their hunter success report cards as soon as possible.

Until the cards are in and the results tabulated and correlated with other bag check statistics, no accurate estimate of hunter success can be made, according to Department game officials.

Despite rainy weather on the opening weekend, spot bag checks in the field showed that more than one-third of the hunters in some areas had taken a deer during the first four days of the season.

In some northern areas, rain turned to snow improving hunting conditions and increased chances for hunter success. It is hoped that this factor may be reflected in improved hunter success when the hunting reports are analyzed.

After six consecutive mild winters, Minnesota's deer herd was judged to be of substantial size and in excellent condition before the season opened November 9.

During the firearms season, which ended Nov. 17 in the longest open zone, most hunters reported seeing deer and many bucks were shot.

LHS Seniors May Try for Chicago 'U' Scholarship

Lincoln high school has, for the second year, been selected as one of the limited number of high schools within a nine-state area to participate in the University of Chicago's small school talent search program. Chicago's program is unique in that it is an effort to afford students from rural and semi-rural backgrounds opportunity for acquiring an education in the University of Chicago.

Essentially the program is designed to educate the talented, not to give financial aid to students of average ability; however, students who need financial help will receive it.

Applications are now being accepted by the high school selection committee with a December 5 deadline for all applicants. One student from Lincoln High will be recommended by the committee on the basis of the student's academic record, school and community citizenship, testing program results, financial need, school activities, student's choice of high school curriculum, and student's personality.

Interested senior students are urged to contact the senior high guidance office or call 681-3509.

District Court Session Resumed Here on Tuesday

Scheduled for completion Wednesday in Pennington county district court was the case of Victor Brink vs. Arthur E. Olson, trial of which got under way Tuesday. The case is based on a pedestrian injury sustained in the fall of 1962 at the intersection of Main av. and Third St. The next action scheduled for trial is that of Gilbert E. Gilbertson vs. LaVerne E. Christensen and Allen K. Christensen.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Couldn't Be More Even

If you have followed the Tuesday night Business bowling standings you would have noticed that there are only two teams, the T & S Implement and the Vets, who have records above the .500 mark.

The T and S squad, a rookie club that joined the league this season, lead the league with a 27 and 17 record. The Vets, who have been title contenders for the past several seasons, are in second place with a 24 and 20 mark.

The Len's Tires, Inga's Cafe, Elks Club, and Holsum Bread teams have .500 marks, having 22 wins and 2 losses apiece. In the cellar position is the Thief River Creamery, with an 18 and 26 mark but the buttermakers are just four points away from third place, and only 9 points away from first place. The Business league race couldn't be more even.

And I must make mention of the individual mark that was chalked by Oscar Knutson the other evening. Oscar, who is coach and captain and manager of the Sjoberg's TV team in the Business league, is also a member of the Narverud Cleaners team of the Commercial league. In a match against the Ekeren's Pharmacy team, Oscar, bowling in the fourth spot in the Narverud lineup, had games of 191, 193, and 221, for a 605-pin aggregate. The Narverud's swept the four-point series from the Ekeren's, having games of 816, 835, and 819, to the druggists 786, 832, and 786.

The Grey Cup Game

Canada's premier football game, the Grey Cup game, will be on view for local fans on Saturday, November 30, with Winnipeg's CJAY televising the contest.

The game will be played at Vancouver, B.C., and will find coach Dave Skrein's Vancouver Lions meeting the Hamilton, Ontario, Tiger-Cats. And it is probable that the majority of the local fans will be cheering for the Vancouver club. The Lions, in addition to being coached by a former University of Minnesota player in Dave Skrein, have such former Gopher stars as Tom Brown and Bill Munsey on he roster. And both of these boys, Brown and Munsey, have been vital factors in the success of the Lions this season. Brown, playing at a defensive halfback post. When the Lions are on defense you will see a lot of No. 69, (Brown), and No. 20 (Munsey).

Last year, it will be recalled, it was coach Bud Grant's Winnipeg club that won the Grey Cup game.

Note To The Curlers

Roger Tunberg forwards the information that a meeting will be held at the curling Arena on Monday evening, December 2, at 7:30 p.m. for the purpose of making plans for the approaching season, and all skips are requested to be present.

Work of installing the ice sheet at the curling arena had been making good progress until Tuesday's "warm" spell took its toll.

All skips—and several rinks last season appeared to be all-skips outfits—are asked to attend Monday evening's meeting.

Hockey Notes

The North Dakota Sioux should have a pair of entertaining games this weekend when, on Friday and Saturday, they meet the Brandon Wheat Kings of the Manitoba Junior hockey league, having racked-up 12 or 13 games without a loss.

The Sioux have been scheduled to play the St. Paul Steers last weekend, but the tragic events of that week forced the cancellation of the series. Marv Jorde, the former Prowler and Gopher, is a member of the Steers.

Danny Summers, who will be remembered by local senior hockey fans as a stellar defensman with the Thieves, is continuing to play hockey. Danny who was called Billy Winters when he played here, is with the Winnipeg Maroons. Following his season with the Thieves, Summers played in the Eastern league, and a couple of seasons ago he was the playing coach of the St. Paul Saints.

Bill Juzda, the old National Hockey league veteran, and who also played a season or two with the Thieves, has finally called it a day and hung up his skates. Bill, one of the last of the great body-checkers to play in the National league was player coach of the Winnipeg Maroons last season, and directed the club to the finals of the Canadian senior hockey playoffs.

Soils, Fertilizer Short Course at 'U'

To Be Held on St. Paul Campus December 9th

A day devoted to research information will mark the 13th annual Soils and Fertilizer Short Course Dec. 9 on the St. Paul Campus of the University of Minnesota.

The course is open to the public, says Curtis Overdahl, extension soils specialist and coordinator of the event which is offered through the University's department of agricultural short courses.

Sponsors of the course are the department of soil science and agricultural extension service and the Minnesota Plant Food Ass'n.

Topics to be covered during the annual meeting include: "Changing Functions of the Institute of Agriculture as they Relate to Business and Industry," "Barriers to Effective Communication in Highly Competitive Selling," "The Varied Effects of Fertilizer on the Corn Plant," "Controlling the Corn Root Worm in 1964," "What's New in Secondary and Micronutrients," "Soils Problems Related to Idle Acres," and "Soil Temperature as it Affects Corn Growth."

Registration for the course will begin at 8:30 a. m., Dec. 9, on the second floor of Coffey Hall. A registration fee of $3 will be charged. Participants are urged to be punctual in attending the course sessions.

VA Checking on Income of Those Getting Pensions

Questionnaires Must Be Returned Not Later Than January 31, 1964

The Veterans Administration will again mail some 2 million annual income questionnaires with the November 30 pension checks.

These annual income questionnaires go to veterans and dependents of deceased veterans on the pension rolls and to parents of deceased vetarans who are receiving dependency and indemnity compensation.

The questionnaires are punched cards which must be filled out with required information and returned to the VA before the usual deadline—January 31—or payments will be suspended. If after suspension no questionnaire is submitted, the pensioner will be required to pay back all payments received in 1963.

These forms are machine punched. The VA requests these cards be handled with care so they must not be folded, trimmed or mutilated in any manner.

They should be returned promptly to the address in the upper right hand corner. This address should be copied exactly as it appears on the form.

This early distribution will permit those with fixed incomes to return the cards at once, while those with earnings or changing incomes may still wait until they get their W-2 forms or other information they need to know in order to answer the questions.

Veterans and dependents receiving pension under the law in effect prior to July 1, 1960, are required to report only their annual income. Persons on the rolls under the pension law that went into effect July 1, 1960, must also fill in a net worth item as required by law.

Laws governing nonservice-connected pension payments require that the VA receive this information every year. Payment of pension depends on the individual's need as determined by the amount of income received annually from other sources other than pension.

To Study Electronic Traffic Regulation

The Minnesota Highway Department has joined Michigan and 10 other state highway departments in the operation of the nation's first experiment in the electronic control of freeway traffic.

Johan Nygaard, planning research engineer for the Minnesota department, recently returned from an organizational meeting in Detroit where he participated with representatives of the other states. Also represented were the city of Detroit and Wayne county, Michigan.

A 3.2-mile section of the John C. Lodge Freeway in midtown Detroit will become the national proving ground for research. In addition to Minnesota and Michigan, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Alabama, Georgia, Indiana, Nebraska, Louisiana, Washington and Missouri will contribute a total of $247,000 for the first year's operation. Wayne county and the city of Detroit will add another $73,000.

The project was started in 1961 by the Michigan Highway Department, U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, Wayne county and the city of Detroit, which bore the entire cost.

The original aim of the program was to determine whether the capacity of an urban freeway can be increased by use of television surveillance methods. "This has been proved," say the Michigan authorities. The highway is equipped with a station housing 14 closed circuit television viewing sets which monitor the entire 3.2-mile segment, with a console of control switches which enables the staff to change traffic control signals at various junctions and in various lanes. Computers also count traffic and indicate speed of the traffic as a means of controlling capacity.

The new studies will encompass comprehensive observation and recording of driver behavior and the effect on traffic flow, evaluation of lane, speed and ramp controls.

The Lodge Freeway (Interstate 696) is one of the world's busiest highways. It carries an average of 160,000 vehicles per day on week days and 7,200 vehicles per hour in one direction during rush hours.

In addition to the television monitoring, traffic volume information is obtained by ultrasonic detecting equipment. Traffic is controlled by 21 overhead lane and speed control signals. Remote control signs are on the entrance ramps of the freeway. They allow the control center to close ramps and prevent overloading of the freeway during rush hours.

Many Car Defects Found in Safety Checks in State

35 Per Cent of 39,142 Automobiles Inspected In 1963 Found Faulty

A total of 39,142 vehicles received a ten-point check for safe driving condition in voluntary inspection programs conducted in Minnesota during 1963, a report prepared for the Minnesota highway department states.

Of these, 13,905, or about 35 per cent were found to need immediate service attention to one or more of the items included on the safety check list.

Vehicle safety checks were conducted throughout the state by local officials, civic and service groups and safety councils, in co-operation with local members of the Minnesota Automobile Dealers association. Voluntary safety checks are held each spring and summer as part of a national campaign sponsored by the Auto Industries highway safety committee and Look magazine. They are promoted primarily in states not requiring official periodic motor vehicle inspection.

The results of Minnesota checks showed almost double the number of unsafe vehicles compared to the national results of one out of every six vehicles with one or more unsafe items. Nationally, nearly 3.5 million cars and trucks were safety checked.

Faulty lights and turn signals headed the list of items most often found needing attention. They were followed by brakes, exhaust systems and tires as being found unsafe on many vehicles. Other items checked were windshield wipers, steering, glass, horn, windshield washers and rearview mirrors.

State Goldwater Dinner Set Dec. 7

Saturday, December 7, will be the date for a statewide dinner and meeting to boost Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona for the presidency, Minnesotans For Goldwater state chairman William Holes of St. Cloud announced today. The event will be held at the Radisson Hotel, Minneapolis. Dinner is set for 6:30 p. m. followed by the program which will be highlighted by a talk by Peter O'Donnell, chairman of National Draft Goldwater Committee, Washington, D. C.

The after-dinner program will be open to persons not attending the dinner, Holes said.

Many Highway Jobs Let Thru Oct. 30

Total of Ten Months Amounts to $73 Million

The size of the Minnesota highway department's construction year can be seen in figures released recently on construction contract lettings for the first 10 months of 1963, Jan. 1 to Oct. 31.

Lettings on Interstate and regular trunk highways totaled $73,738,645 for these 10 months. This figure compared with $43,317,445 in the same period for 1962.

In 1963, contracts for Interstate trunk highways have totaled $45,384,558 as compared to $24,340,674 last year; regular trunk highway contracts account for $28,354,186 this year as compared to $18,976,771 last year.

The Minnesota highway department also lets contracts for the county secondary system on which federal aid money is used. In 1963, these contracts in the first 10 months amounted to $11,039,930.

None of these contracts includes additional work let by counties and municipalities.

Of interest, too, the month of October this year brought an all time high for any one month in disbursements by the highway department, $19,220,424. This is cash paid on contracts and all other obligations. The previous high was August, 1961, when disbursements amounted to $16,474,186.

Two Categories Of Mental Illness

For the sake of simplicity, mental illness is divided into two large categories. One has to do with real disorders of the body, especially the nervous system, the other has to do with emotional disorders in which the body and nervous system are intact. Those illnesses belonging to the first group are the organic disorders. Those belonging to the second group are called the functional disorders.

Perhaps the best way to explain the differences between the two is with examples. Let us suppose a man has a severe brain injury. His memory is slipping, as is clearly evident by the fact that he forgets things which have recently happened to him. He can remember events of long ago, and he may tend to dwell only on these. His coordination is faulty and shows itself in his walk, or in the finer movements of his hands. He occasionally has temper outbreaks which are triggered off by some small, inconsequential acts.

His illness may progress in time until all these symptoms increase. This man is mentally ill. The disorder is primarily a physical one, but because it impairs his mental functioning to such an extent, it comes under the care of a psychiatrist. If it did not affect the emotional and mental workings of the man, his affliction would be treated by a different specialist.

Now let us look at a person with a functional illness. His brain and nerves are physically intact. His nerves are able to send messages to the brain. The brain is able to receive and decipher the messages, and in turn it can send them back to his body and make it respond to its commands.

However, our subject is a very suspicious fellow. He distrusts the water-cooler at the office because the water might have been poisoned. He thinks everyone is talking about him and saying nasty things behind his back. He even thinks his house is wired with hidden microphones by the Communists. Finally, it may be impossible to persuade him that the car which just went by his house and happened to blow its horn was not a signal to his wife from some secret admirer.

Both these men are mentally ill. Yet one is ill because some part of his nervous system is impared, (the organic), while the other is sick and has a healthy nervous system, (the functional). Actually, any physical defect which has emotional repercussions is an organic illness. Severe food deficiencies such as sailors once suffered while out to sea for long periods, can create mental symptoms which are properly classed under the organic illnesses.

This particular breakdown of the mental illnesses is not a good one, just a convenient one. At times we cannot really separate the physical from the mental. It is only when one type is outstanding that it is convenient to speak in terms of these categories.

Early Mailing Helps Ease Postal Burden

"Early mailing of all Christmas cards and gifts is the biggest single factor in getting all of the mail delivered before Christmas", according to R. J. Dryden, Thief River Falls postmaster. "Post Office facilities have been expanded, ample help will be available, and everything is being geared up to handle a record Christmas mail volume this year."

The entire Christmas mailing period is a big battle against time. Even though Christmas is a month away by the calendar, it's Christmas rush time every day at the post office from now until the end of the holiday season, Dryden said.

"Don't take chances on mailing poorly wrapped packages," the postmaster advises. "Use sturdy, corrugated mailing cartons, plenty of heavy wrapping paper and strong cord. Cartons containing several gift packages should be well stuffed with tissue or old newspapers to cushion the contents.

"If you have articles of unusual size or bulk, check with the post office before attempting to mail them. The limits of size and weight of packages vary, depending on from where you mail them," he added.

Always send your Christmas cards by first class mail. You may use the new five cent Christmas *tree stamps and be sure your re*turn name and address, including your ZIP code number, is on each Christmas card envelope.

Before you mail your Christmas cards, secure from the post office free labels which read, "ALL FOR LOCAL DELIVERY" and "ALL FOR OUT OF TOWN DELIVERY" so that you can sort your cards into two bundles, with the addresses all facing one way, thus expediting delivery.

Send all Christmas mail going long distances before December 10. Follow up promptly with cards and gifts for local delivery. Mail "early and often" for a merrier Christmas!

Editorials . . .

"In the democracy of the dead all men at last are equal. There is neither rank nor station nor prerogative in the republic of the grave. At this fatal threshold the philosopher ceases to be wise, and the song of the poet is silent. Dives relinquishes his millions and Lazarus his rags. The poor man is as rich as the richest, and the rich man as poor as the pauper. The creditor loses his usury, and the debtor is acquitted of his obligation. There the proud man surrenders his dignities, the politician his honors, the worldling his plesaures; the invalid needs no physician, and the laborer rests from unrequited toil.

"Here at last is Nature's final decree in equity. The wrongs of time are redressed. Injustice is expiated, the irony of fate is refuted; the unequal distribution of wealth, honor, capacity, pleasure and opportunity, which makes life such a cruel and inexplicable tragedy, ceases in the realm of death.

"The strongest there has no supremacy, and the weakest needs no defense. The mightiest captain succumbs to that invincible adversary, who disarms alike the victor and the vanquished."

—John J. Ingalls

Welcome Mr. President

President Lyndon B. Johnson takes office under extremely difficult conditions both nationally and internationally. His long experience in government at the national level will be helpful to him in dealing with our domestic problems. And his extensive travelling throughout the world during his years as Vice President, discussing international problems with the leaders of other nations, meeting with them as the official spokesman of our government, should be very helpful to him in dealing with international problems as our President.

Lyndon Johnson has some of the good personal qualities that made Ike Eisenhower a great leader, both as the commander of an international army and as the President of the United States. Our guess is that Lyndon Johnson is going to be a popular President as he was a popular leader of the Senate, highly respected by those who opposed his party as well as by those who supported it.

Our guess is that under the leadership of President Johnson there will be increased harmony both here at home and abroad. We have been impressed by the manner in which he has conducted himself as Vice President, his calm approach to the problems he has on rare occasions discussed publicly, and his spirit of humility that in no way is related to weakness.

Over a period of years, performing in various capacities, he has impressed us very favorably, and we look forward to his future actions with confidence.

Civil Rights as an Issue

President Johnson has indicated quite effectively what his position is on the civil rights question. In his television appearances he has recognized it as a problem, pointing out that many are demanding fast action "now" while at the other extreme there are those who shout "never". His own answer is a simple "together", and we presume that this can be interpreted as a belief that the differences between the two extremes must be adjusted gradually, which of course is the sensible approach.

In recent years we have overemphasized the admitted injustices that still exist, and, officially at least, we have failed to point out to the world the great progress that has been made, and is being made, in bringing about racial equality. President Johnson, we think, will deal with this difficult social problem realistically and effectively, reconizing it as a problem that cannot be solved completely in one generation.

The New Approach

A New York Herald Tribune Service report expresses the opinion that President Lyndon Johnson will support the program of his predecessor completely in all of its phases. We think that is a reasonable conclusion insofar as it applies to the first policy declarations of the new President. And it is reasonable to assume that there will be no significant personnel changes during the early stage of his administration.

It also is reasonable to assume that changes will come in both policy and personnel, but they will come gradually. President Johnson has never been a "me too" man. The record indicates that he is a man who has ideas of his own. It also indicates that he has a knack for getting along with people, and it isn't likely that he is going to change.

He has expressed his confidence in the integrity and ability of those who represent us in Congress. He has a great deal of respect for the legislative branch of our government, and our guess is that he will tell the members of Conress that he has confidence in their ability to pass laws and make appropriations and that he intends to settle down to the task of being a good administrator of what Congress decrees to the extent of his constitutional auhority and responsibility.

We think he will approach these problems diplomatically, and effectively.

Canadian Reaction

(Winnipeg Tribune)

For Canadians, and the members of the western alliance in general, there is a measure of reassurance in the known record of President Johnson. He comes to his high office with a thorough understanding of Congress where he exhibited, as Democratic Senate leader, a capacity for tact, compromise and capacity to get things done rarely equalled by holders of that office. He has the advantage of being a moderate from the southwest whose record on civil rights is impressive. As a member of the powerful Senate foreign relations committee he was at the centre of affairs during a time when the executive branch under President Eisenhower often appeared bereft of fresh ideas. In such circumstances the tragic loss of President Kennedy is at least to a degree mitigated by the considerable qualifications of his successor.

$10,000 Pay Boost?

The St. Paul Pioneer Press does not favor a $10,000 a year salary increase for those who represent us in Congress, but it does express the opinion that higher salaries probably would encourage more capable men and women to seek these responsible offices. It is an interesting question.

It may be true that there are good citizens, qualified to serve us in these legislative capacities, who do not seek office because of the insufficient renumeration. There no doubt are reasonable pros and cons to this question. Unfortunately there is no sure way of reaching a logical conclusion.

From our observation the most restraining factor in discouraging candidates to seek office is the high cost of conducting a campain for office. Considerin this factor, the rich man, of course, would be at a distinct advantage. But the wealthy who can afford the cost of a campaign, have little chance for success unless they have strong organization backing. Organization backing is much more important that a big bank balance, and organization backing generally includes necessary financial support.

We are satisfied that pay increases would not encourage a better qualified type of candidate to file for public office, and it would make these offices more attractive for those who are not qualified. In a Republic, the form of government which we have, which provides for legislative action by representatives of the people, and not by direct action by the people, more attention probably should be given at the grass roots level, in making it possible, financially, for competant candidates to conduct an effective campaign.

The "Why" is Important

Hank Keyborn, outdoor editor for the St. Paul Pioneer Press, tells us that the federal wetlands program has bogged down, and, what is more important, he also tells us why. For that reason his report should be given serious consideration by the various sportsmen's organizations that have championed the program under which the Bureau of Sports, Fisheries and Wildlife may spend $105 million in a seven-year move to purchase 3,720,000 acres of land. Much of this money has been earmarked for western Minnesota and the Dakotas, according to Keyborn. He states:

"The big block is the reluctance of taxpayers and public officials to have wetlands dropped from county tax rolls when these lands are purchased by the government. Another hurdle is the confusion and uncertainty which farmers feel in having their farms included in "wetland counties."

"It is no secret that many farmers resent being balked in their efforts to transform wetlands into croplands. They are not permited to do so because no farmer in an officially classified "wetlands county" may be given federal drainage aid on areas that the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife considers valuable to wildlife.

"Under this law if the bureau blocks a farmer's application for drainage aid it must offer to buy or lease his land within a year. However, if such an offer is made and refused, the farmer cannot again apply for drainage assistance of five years.

"Faced with this, a farmer may choose to sell his marsh. But he may not do so.

"And then there's the ruling that any federal purchase of wetlands must be approved by the governor of the state. This is a big hurdle in North Dakota where the governor has refused such permission unless it has been approved by county commissioners. The commissioners, however, have taken a solid stand against federal wetlands acquisition and that's where the matter stands today."

Unfortunately farmers have not been as well organized politically as have been the sportsmen, and Minnesota farming communities should demand at least as much protection as was provided for in North Dakota. The highhanded manner in which this program has been administered has created much bitterness, and this bitterness will increase unless proper recognition of the rights of farmers and taxpayers in agricutlrual communities are properly recognized.

Elmer Anderson, who lost by a narrow margin his effort to be reelected governor last year, may attribute his defeat to the bitterness of Marshall couny farmers and taxpayers because he, and two commissioners of the Department of Conservation, failed to keep their promises to curtail the expansion of their wildlife program in eastern Marshall County. Had the Governor kept his promise he probably would still be Minnesota's governor.

REDEEMER LUTHERAN CHURCH

THANKSGIVING

ALL FOR THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH FOR ALL

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Does the "horn of plenty" make us thankful?

We do not become thankful by our abundance. The spoiled child lavished with gifts is not thankful.

It is not the horn of plenty, but the bigness of our heart that makes us thankful. The blessings God gives are infinite, but we must have the capacity to receive. Like a child who carries a bucket of water from the sea, we can only carry as many blessings as our heart will hold.

The capacity to receive comes through worship and prayer. We go into the presence of God and think deeply about our life. Understanding is awakened. With new eyes, we see our blessings and are grateful. We kneel poor, and rise rich.

Thanksgiving Day brings us a special opportunity for worship and prayer. Isn't this why we want to be in Church with our family? Here we discover the secret of thanksgiving.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

Nitrogen applied with phosphorus as starter fertilizers on Nicollet soils at Lamberton and Waseca had a very significant effect on the phosphorus nutrition of corn. At both these locations, phosphorus was much greater than that from phosphorus without nitrogen. This effect resulted in about a 50 bushel per acre increase in corn yield at Lamberton, but no yield differences were found at Waseca. No nitrogen - phosphorus interactions were found on a Fayette soil at Red Wing, however this soil is an extremely fertile one as indicated by soil test and analysis of plant tissue.

Loss of topsoil by wind is a serious problem for many farmers in the Red River Valley. James Nichols, cooperator with the Marshall County Soil Conservation District, decided to do something about it and planted three miles of one-row field shelterbelts (40 rods between rows) to help control soil erosion on his farm. Nichols' planting of Dropmore elm and Siouxland cottonwood is part of 100 miles of field shelterbelts planted in Marshall County this year.

Fifteen Stevens Co. soil and water conservation district cooperators stocked their pits with rainbow trout from a private hatchery after hearing about a trout-stocked pond at the West Central Experiment Station at Morris. The farmers weren't sure the trout would survive—they could only start them out and see what would happen. Through September only two ponds lost trout—the others found the fish had gained better than a pound and a half through the summer.

NO DRIVERS' LICENSE NOTICES BEING MAILED

The birthdate on your drivers license card may be a reminder that you are one year older, but it also reminds you of the expiration date of your privilege to drive a motor vehicle. The Minnesota Highway Department advises you that it is not sending out reminder cards this year because the ones you filled out four years ago do not meet changed postal regulations.

We'll go to jail together, but don't worry, I'll teach you how to make lampstands."

Patrol Officer Candidates End 10 Weeks Training

Graduation exercises for 29 highway patrol officer candidates will be held Friday, Nov. 29, at 11 a. m. in the patrol training center at Arden Hills. The ceremony will culminate 10 weeks of intensive training in police traffic methods conducted by the Patrol to assure eligibility for appointment to the state traffic agency.

The 29 men remain from the class of 35 which began its training on Sept. 23. They were selected through civil service examination procedures from nearly 1,000 applicants. The 10-week training session is considered part of the examination schedule. Final grades in the school will be combined with previous examinations to determine standings on a roster of eligibles to be established for appointments.

This is the 16th class of officer candidates to be trained by the highway patrol. Each candidate received $200 per month and his subsistence while in the school, where he received 453 hours of instruction and practical work in traffic enforcement.

It is expected that 11 of the graduates, the top of the list, will be appointed immediately to fill existing vacancies in the highway patrol. None of the men is from of the Thief River Falls area.

One gallon of some weed killers will destroy more weeds in one aplication than seven men working with hoes for seven years, according to an estimate of the Manufacturing Chemists' Association.

When Buick builds a LeSabre--Buick builds a high-priced car, and puts a low price on it.

Lots of cars are in LeSabre's price class, but that's where the resemblance ends. For instance: Does anybody else in LeSabre's class treat you to that gentle Buick ride or impressive Buick performance and new gas economy? No. And who else gives you 15-inch wheels, finned aluminum front brakes, extra cushioning for middle-seat travelers, and separate heat ducts and controls for the rear seat? Right again: Nobody in LeSabre's field but LeSabre. If all this makes you think a LeSabre would look awfully nice in your garage, you should see how nicely it fits a budget. You know who to see about it, of course: your Buick dealer. Who else? Above all, it's a Buick

CARE Package Makes Good Christmas Gift

For the "Man Who Has Everything", CARE, the world-wide relief agency, sends a gift to "Those Who Have Nothing". It is a CARE Christmas idea with a local angle.

The Midwest regional office of CARE explains it this way. Care packages can be ordered for overseas delivery in the name of Johnnie's teacher, in the name of Aunt Susie, and in the name of neighbor Jones. Packages may be sent "In Memory of President Kennedy". "By giving aid to the world's hungry millions in the name of another person, as a gift or memorial, the local CARE donor is able to express the Christmas spirit in a 'non-commercial' and unusually significant manner", Harold Gauer, Midwest Regional CARE director said. "To notify the persons on the local donor's gift list in whose names the 25-lb. U. S. surplus food units are sent, CARE provides simple notification cards or 'in memory' cards without charge", he said.

Gauer said that CARE is using the overabundance of stored U. S. milk, butter and grain to help that half of the world whose people have next to nothing. "This is done", he observed, "largely through the generosity and concern of the average person at the local level."

Donors may send CARE a list of names and addresses and $1 for each CARE package to be dispatched with those names shown as senders. The CARE office provides notification cards which read "CARE has received a contribution in your name from —— to help the needy overseas". The in memory card reads: "A Contribution to CARE In Memory Of (John F. Kennedy) has been made by ——. This contribution will assist the needy abroad."

CARE's Midwest Regional Headquarters is at 125 E. Wells Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, 53202. Local public service outlets for CARE in many midwest communities will accept and forward inquiries and orders.

Employers Must Report Wages Paid Domestic Workers

Social Security Agent Explains Law on Subject; Will Visit TRF Tuesday

A representative of the Grand Forks District office of the Social Security Administration will be in Thief River Falls at the city auditorium Tuesday, December 3, from 9 a. m. to 12 noon. Individuals who have questions regarding social security or who wish to file claims may contact him on that date.

Are you getting the proper social security credits for your work? According to Walter D. Kistler, district manager in Grand Forks, you may not if you are a maid, baby sitter, or other household employee. Kistler went on to explain that some housewives do not know they must report wages paid to domestic employees.

"This report," he said, "is made to the district director of internal revenue for any household employee who makes $50 or more cash wages in a three month period. If your employer pays as little as $4 a week on a regular basis, the work is covered by social security, and the employer must make a report; and if more than one person pays a person more than $50 a quarter, each of them must report the wages paid."

Mr. Kistler said that household workers should get in touch with his office if their work is not being reported. They can get a copy of the booklet, "Social Security and Your Household Employee", which tells employers how to get the forms they need to make the report.

The social security office in Grand Forks, North Dakota, is in the Red River National Bank Building.

Sunflower, Millet Reviewed Here

A small group of farmers having experience in growing sunflowers and millet met with a few Thief River Falls businessmen at the Rex cafe Friday morning to discuss next year's sunflower and millet growing program as suggested by George Plitt, president of Valley Feed & Supply company of Spring Valley, N. Y.

The parent organization owns Farmers Grain & Milling company which operates a processing and packaging plant here. Plitt had written that a representative of his company will be here on Monday, December 16, to meet with farmers of this community who will be interested in growing these crops next year.

In his letter, Plitt states that a substantial increase in acreage in the community is essential to the successful operation of the plant. Farmers present indicated increased interest in the operation that provided a substantial cash crop last year.

Silas Hanson, president of the Pennington County Crop Improvement association, was asked to call a meeting of interested farmers to meet with the company representative at the court house Monday afternoon, Dec. 16, for a discussion of the company proposals. These proposals suggest a minimum acreage of 3,000 acres of millet and 1,500 acres of sunflowers. The acreage last year was about 1,400 acres of millet and 1,000 acres of sunflowers.

"This year, we feel, clearly demonstrated the fact that sunflower and millet could be successfully and profitably raised here," Plitt stated in his letter. "These are the first two of several specialty cash crops we hoped to encourage farmers to raise in this area.

"Contracts will be signed on the basis of first option to previous contract growers," he added. "All previous contract growers are urged to attend and new growers are also invited. Wives of farmers attending are also invited to participate in the meeting."

Substitute Crops On Diverted Acres Allowed by ASCS

Non-Surplus Crops To Be Permitted; Reduced Payments Will Result

Farmers who take part in the 1964 feed grain program will have an opportunity to plant substitute non-surplus crops on the acreage diverted from feed grain production, according to Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

Substitute crops eligible under the 1964 program are guar, sesame, safflower, sunflower, castor beans and mustard seed. These are annual non-price-support field crops which are not in surplus supply and will not be in surplus supply if produced on the diverted acreage.

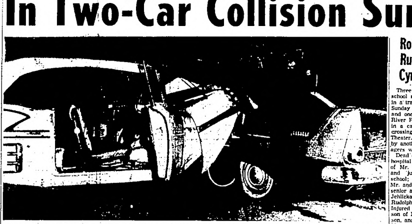
If safflower is planted on the diverted acreage, no diversion payment will be available for such acreage; where other substitute crops are planted on the diverted acreage, the diverted-acre payments will be reduced.

The chairman pointed out that all of the substitute crops for which diverted acre payments will be made will receive an increase in the partial payment as compared with the 1963 program. Safflower will continue to be eligible for planting under the program, but without a diversion payment, the same as in 1963. Because flaxseed supplies have increased during the past year, flaxseed planting is not included on the 1964 list of eligible substitute crops.

As in 1963, the minimum feed grain diversion payment rate will be 20 per cent of the normal per-acre yield of the feed grain crop multiplied by the local support rate. Partial payment for diverted cropland used to produce any of the specified substitute crops will be based on the following percentages of the minimum feed grain diversion payment rate: Guar, sesame and castor beans, 50 per cent; sunflower and mustard seed, 30 per cent.

Under the 1962 feed grain program, about 18,000 acres diverted from production were planted to substitute crops. Figures on substitute plantings under the 1963 program have not yet been compiled.

Three Local Teenagers Killed In Two-Car Collision Sunday



THREE DEATHS were added to the ever-mounting highway fatality toll as a result of this traffic accident early Sunday morning. Killed in the crash on highway 59 about one and one-half miles south of Thief River Falls were Cyril Fisher, 16; Roger Oftelie, 17; and Rudolph Jehlicka, 15, all of Thief River Falls. Oftelie was the driver and the other two passengers in the Plymouth shown at the right. Injured were Gerald Johnson, 19, driver, and David Belland, 19, passenger in the car at left. The Oftelie car was making a U turn when struck in the middle by the Johnson vehicle which was traveling south on highway 59.

Roger Oftelie, Rudy Jehlicka, Cyril Fisher Die

Three Thief River Falls high school students met violent death in a traffic accident at 2:50 a. m. Sunday on highway 59 about one and one-half miles south of Thief River Falls. All three were riding in a car making a U turn at a crossing to the 59-Hi Outdoor Theater. Their vehicle was struck by another car in which two teenagers were injured.

Dead on arrival at Northwestern hospital were Cyril Fisher, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fisher and junior at Lincoln high school; Roger Oftelie, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Oftelie and a senior at the school; and Rudolph Jehlicka Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Jehlicka and a freshman. Injured were Gerald Johnson, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Johnson, and David Belland, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Belland.

Johnson has been removed from the critical list at Northwestern hospital where he is being treated for head and internal injuries and a dislocated hip. His condition had been considered critical through Sunday afternoon. Belland sustained a fractured leg and is listed in good condition.

According to the Minnesota highway patrol which investigated the accident, the car driven by Oftelie had been traveling south on highway 59 and was making a U turn on the highway when the mishap happened. A south-bound car driven by Johnson struck the Oftelie car in the middle of the left side, carrying it broadside for 60 feet from the point of impact before the vehicles came to rest in the right lane of the highway.

Fisher and Jehlicka were thrown from the car while Oftelie remained in the car. Both Johnson and Belland remained in their car, the highway patrol said. Both cars were considered total losses and the case is still under investigation.

Patrolmen reported that an out-of-state woman witnessed the accident. She had parked her car near the accident scene to move items from the top of her car into the trunk and saw the collision. After rushing to the scene, which she found to be entirely quiet, she stopped an oncoming truck and then rushed to Kife's cafe to notify authorities.

Funeral services for Cyril Fisher will be held Wednesday at 10:00 a.m. at St. Bernard's Catholic
